Blizzard Strikes Harrison; Rain, Wind Elsewhere

. . . Colder Air Bores Into State, Spreads East

Nebraska's weather picture Wednesday night ranged from heavy snow with blowing and drifting snow in the northwest corner of the state at Harrison, to strong winds and blowing dust in the southern part of the state.

A special weather bulletin released from the Kansas City weather bureau said the intense storm which had developed over the Great Plains in the past 24 hours or so was centered in northwest Kansas and southwest Nebraska.

Winds were from the south early Wednesday afternoon and began shifting to the north later with wind velocities ranging from 20 to 50 miles an hour and gusts recorded up to 70 miles an hour at O'Neill.

Visibility ranged from one-eighth mile in south-central Nebraska to three to four miles in the eastern areas.

The Lincoln Air Force Base recorded steady winds of 30 to 32 miles an hour with gusts up to 62 miles. In downtown Lincoln the winds averaged 25 to 35 miles an hour.

Rain In Lincoln

The tempo of the wind in Lincoln picked up sharply again early Thursday from the north and brought rain showers with it.

Harrison, in the extreme northwest corner of the state, reported blizzard conditions with five to six inches of snow on the ground. The snow fell from about noon until 6 p.m. and was accompanied by thunder and lightning. Light rain preceded the snow. Visibility was listed as very poor and two highway injury accidents were attributed directly to the storm.

Chadron, which had winds up to 72 mph Tuesday, reported 28 mph winds out of the northwest Wednesday with velocity increasing late in the day. They also reported light rain and snow flurries.

Scottsbluff reported 20 to 25 mph winds a .10 of an inch rain mixed with snow flurries and temperatures in the mid-30's.

Sidney had high winds 40 to 55 mph with blowing dust and Imperial had westerly winds up to 30 mph.

Dust At McCook

McCook reported blowing dust and two-mile visibility earlier Wednesday afternoon with light rain developing later and winds from 35 to 48 mph. Temperatures there fell from 78 to 68 degrees in little more than an hour.

In the northern part of the state O'Neill had less than one-half mile visibility with strong winds of 50 to 60 mph and gusts up to 70. The sun was reported blanked out by heavy dust. Air traffic was stopped and highway traffic was slow.

Rains Reported

Heavy rains to intermittent showers were reported across the state in a line from Burwell to Kearney early Thursday. The weather front moved northeastward across the state, bringing diminished winds and dropping temperatures.

Heavy rains began at Lexington early Wednesday evening with an estimated half-inch falling in two hours. At Holdrege high winds diminished at nightfall when steady rains began, according to State Highway Patrol officials.

At Arcadia an early evening rain shower was reported. Bartlett also had a light shower with winds shifting to the north by early Thursday.

North Platte Weatherman Woodrow McKee reported light showers measuring .15 by 6 p.m. Wednesday and slacking off early Thursday morning as temperatures dropped into the 30's.

Hospital Roof Off

Wednesday afternoon winds at Atkinson estimated at 80 miles an hour blew a portion of the tarpaper roof off the Memorial Hospital. Observers said the windstorm was the worst since 1934. The Atkinson town marshal said that winds were down by early Thursday and light showers were falling.

Steady heavy rains starting at 6:30 p.m. and continuing through the night were reported at Ainsworth. Winds estimated Wednesday at up to 65 miles per hour had slacked to 25 to 30 by Thursday morning.

No rain but winds of 25 to 30 miles an hour were reported by CAA officials at Grand Island Thursday morning. Light rain and diminished winds were reported at Hastings. At Kearney a short shower fell Wednesday evening with winds remaining light and temperatures in the 50's.

GOP Waging 'Campaign Of Deceit,' Adlai Claims

Demo Says 270 A-Scientists Backed Stand Against Tests

By ED CREAGH

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said Wednesday night the Republicans were waging "a campaign of deceit unmatched in U. S. politics."

"I don't mind telling you that I am good and mad," the Democratic presidential nominee told a party rally at White Plains, in neighboring Westchester County.

"Plenty of Americans are. We ought to be. The Republicans have been treating the American people like so many children who can be put to sleep with a lullaby," he added.

The Democratic nominee drew a standing-room-only audience in the heart of wealthy, heavily Republican Westchester County. About 6,500 persons jammed the county center, which had seats for 5,500.

Stevenson said the Democrats have been partisan in the American political tradition "but we haven't tried to deceive the people on the issues — on matters of life and death and of war and peace. The Republicans have!"

Stevenson said the Democrats "told the people for the first time of the danger to us and to our children in continued H-bomb tests.

Backing

"Two hundred and seventy of the nation's leading nuclear scientists have backed up this warning," he said. "You know these men would not speak out as they have if they didn't feel deeply that mankind is taking a terrible chance with a terrible new force."

Stevenson said Republicans had "sneered" at this warning by calling it "nonse" and "folly."

"Don't listen to the Democrats, they say," Stevenson went on, "Just trust Ike."

Time and time again in his speech Stevenson ironically used the phrase "just trust Ike."

Stevenson said the Democrats "have told the people why (the vice president) Richard Nixon is not a man to be trusted with the most powerful office in the world."

"We have pointed out the blunt and inescapable fact that this hero of the Republican old guard is in line for the presidency of the United States — an office he could never attain on his own merit," Stevenson said, adding:

"You know his reactionary voting record and his shameful campaign tactics up to this election year. You know the man behind the newly scrubbed mask.

'A Smear'

"Yet the Republicans sneer at the perfectly legitimate suggestion that Nixon might become President by calling the truth a smear.

"In effect, they are telling the American people to stop worrying, to stop thinking, to shut up — and just trust Ike."

The speech here was Stevenson's third stop on a night tour of greater New York. He previously spoke in New York City and on Long Island.

At the Bronx rally, Police Inspector Thomas A. Nielson estimated the crowd at 15,000.

As he moved about the metropolitan area, Stevenson accused the GOP of "phony" world peace claims and questioned whether President Eisenhower can stop them.

Ike's Plans

In Queens, Stevenson told a howling capacity crowd of 4,000 in Sunnyside Gardens he had heard of Eisenhower's intensive campaign plans for next week.

Noting that the President had said he wouldn't "barnstorm" during the campaign, Stevenson said:

"I guess he has seen the rising power of Democratic enthusiasm and I suspect he is drawing the right conclusion."

The Democratic candidate later spoke to a wildly cheering capacity crowd of 7,000 at Levittown, in suburban, heavily Republican Nassau County.

Seaton Thinks State Will Get Ft. Randall Line

Fred Seaton, secretary of interior, said in Lincoln Wednesday he "thinks we'll get" the 230-KV power line from Ft. Randall Dam to Grand Island next year.

There have been certain developments in South Dakota which have lessened the pressure against the line from northern states, Seaton said.

The line was voted down during the past session of Congress in a public-versus-private power fight.

Advocates of the line say it is needed, especially during the summer, for expansion of irrigation projects in the central section of the state.

AF Mechanic Swipes Jet, Crashes, Dies

BIG SPRING, Tex. (INS)—An unidentified Air Force mechanic at Webb Air Force Base took off in a T-33 jet trainer in an unauthorized flight and was killed when the plane crashed three miles away near Big Spring, Tex.

The mechanic kept the jet in the air for about 35 minutes. He radioed his position at 5,000 feet to the control tower and spoke on the intercom to Air Force pilots in the air who tried unsuccessfully to "talk him down" safely.

Flight officials tried to head off the jet by flashing a red signal light as the plane raced down the runway. A truck driver sought to intercept the jet before it became airborne by driving on the runway.

But the mechanic, who taxied directly onto the runway and took off, defied the attempts to stop him.

Russ Might Is Winning

REBELLION FLARES IN PROVINCES

VIENNA (AP) — Hungary's bloody rebellion against Soviet domination and the Budapest Red leadership blazed through its second night and spread to the provinces.

But apparently it was being crushed systematically Wednesday night by overpowering Russian armed force.

Soviet tanks, planes and troops were thrown into the battle for the decisive blow against the uprising workers and students.

Late Wednesday night the Budapest regime claimed it had mastered the rebels, but admitted fighting went in.

Moscow and East Berlin broadcasts followed quickly with claims that the rebels were beaten.

Eyewitnesses returning to Austria from Hungary reported many hundreds have been killed in battle.

First Stories

The first stories were brought out of Hungary by Austrian businessmen Wednesday night.

They told reporters at the border that Hungarians told them fighting outside Budapest was going on in the cities of Debrecen, Szolnok and Szeged.

The Austrian travelers said the number of dead in Budapest alone amounted to many hundreds as Russian tanks, jet planes, machine-gun batteries and grenades were thrown against rebel bands composed of students and workers.

The Communist government had confidently believed the rebels would collapse by 2 p.m. That was the time of the first ultimatum promising amnesty. Then the amnesty was extended to 6 p.m. Still the rebels ignored it defiantly.

All-Out War

Then the government declared all-out war, saying it would execute every rebel who fought on.

But as midnight neared Radio Budapest still admitted there was heavy fighting in sections of the capital.

In the latest Budapest broadcasts the government claimed the Russian and Hungarian troops were winning the battle of Budapest and that "more and more youngsters" were surrendering and abandoning their arms.

There was still no explanation from either side of how the rebels had obtained guns enough to hold off the combined attack of Russian and Hungarian forces in a lightning revolt that began after an orderly street demonstration Tuesday.

Radio Budapest claimed that the rebels had machineguns and hand grenades when they attempted to smash into a Budapest military barracks.

Expect New Attack

"Using all the force at their command the garrison repulsed the attackers," the radio said. It added that the defenders were bracing for a new assault by the rebels.

As the fighting passed the 24-hour mark at 9 p.m. Wednesday the government-controlled Budapest Radio alternately sharpened and softened its tone.

When the rebels ignored two ultimatums to surrender under amnesty, the government decreed the death penalty for every man who fought on. Later this was softened to mercy under "extenuating circumstances" for rebels who surrendered after the deadline of 6 p.m.

Fighting Continues

But as outsiders wondered at the stunning defiance of Communist armed might in the satellite capital of Danube, fighting went on.

In its newscast before Wednesday midnight Radio Budapest said the capital's ambulance service had been working around the clock, bringing wounded to aid stations.

The radio gave no indication of the number of casualties.

In claiming it was master of the situation, the Hungarian government acknowledged by radio that "order has not been restored everywhere" and was indeed spreading outside Budapest.

Late Wednesday night the Moscow and East Berlin Red radios said the uprising was quelled and order had been restored in Budapest.

Ike Calls H-Bombs War Bar

President Replies On TV Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday called the hydrogen bomb a great deterrent to war—a weapon, he said, which tells any potential enemy it would be "suicidal" to attack America.

The President set forth his views in responding to questions put by seven women on a nationwide TV-radio program sponsored by the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee. The Committee said the women it chose to appear on the program were "representative of all walks of life and various sections of the country."

In discussing the H-bomb, Eisenhower did not touch on the proposal by Adlai Stevenson, that this country take the lead to end H-bomb tests.

However, on another proposal advanced by Stevenson — that thought be given to ending the military draft—Eisenhower stuck to his position that the draft must be continued at this time.

Worried

Mrs. Louis Martin, a Negro mother of 12, who lives on a farm near Salisbury, Md., told the President she is worried about the H-bomb, and asked:

"What is the future of our families in this atomic age?"

Solemnly Eisenhower replied: "The world must find a peaceful solution" to the great problem the superbomb presents.

"We can never have a hydrogen war and still have a civilization," he said.

The President went on to assert that "if we are going to remain secure" in this modern age when "aggression also is possible, we must urge agreement from a position of strength."

He apparently was referring to agreement on international armament control, with an inspection system to assure against violation.

Eisenhower has contended that national security might be jeopardized if H-bomb testing were ended without such an agreement. Stevenson has argued that testing could be banned without this country endangering its security, because it would know if Russia violated a ban. Eisenhower has replied that the system of detecting such blasts is not necessarily 100 per cent effective.

Teachers Gather Here, Hold Pre-Meeting Dinner

More than 100 District 1 teachers were entertained at a pre-convention dinner Wednesday for Nebraska State Education Association delegates.

The dinner, sponsored by the Nebraska Women's Education Club and Phi Delta Kappa, man's honorary educational fraternity, featured Dr. Carl Schneider, of the U of N political science department, speaking on Germany.

Dr. Schneider and his family spent a year in Germany while the professor studied on a Fulbright scholarship.

Telling of the family's experiences, he discussed the changes that have taken place in German family life since World War II, he said that "economically, the people have recovered, but politically they have not."

"Old slogans and martial bands no longer appeal to German youth," Dr. Schnieder said, "but if economic conditions become worse, the army will offer security."

More than 3,500 teachers are expected to register for the first formal session of the NSEA meetings at 9 a.m. Thursday.

The morning meeting will feature an address, "We Look At The World" by news analyst, H. V. Kaltenborn.

Thursday afternoon meetings will take place at Lincoln and Southeast high schools and the U of N Love Library. Primary, secondary and administrative divisions will meet separately for specialized subject discussions.

Sessions will end Friday after a general morning meeting and specialized afternoon discussions.

2,100-MAN SCIENTIST GROUP BACKS ADLAI

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Federation of American Scientists Wednesday night supported Adlai Stevenson's proposal to ban further H-bomb tests.

The federation said it was reiterating its position favoring "an international agreement" halting hydrogen bomb experiments because the subject is now a presidential campaign issue.

The 2,100 member group's executive committee said it is "appropriate and necessary for an objective, non-partisan organization of scientists to forward a clear statement of the essential facts and its position."

270 Endorsed

Meanwhile, the Stevenson - Kefauver campaign committee reported that 270 scientists have either endorsed the Stevenson proposal or have issued statements urging free and open discussion of H-bomb tests.

Two of the latest statements were from a group of 28 scientists and citizens at Yale University and from seven scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. All emphasized they were speaking for themselves and not for their institutions.

The FAS declared "universal adherence to the ban could be determined without resorting to complete international inspection" because "a large nuclear explosion can be detected by long-range monitoring methods."

'Impossible'

On the question of detecting super-bomb tests that violated a possible ban, President Eisenhower said Tuesday night it was impossible to have positive assurance of detection except in the case of "very large weapons."

The FAS gave these reasons for its support of a test ban:

1. Such an agreement "would be a break in the years of stalled negotiations."

2. The ban would "prevent or at least greatly retard the development of nuclear weapons by those countries not now possessing them."

3. The ban would lessen international tensions "which have been increased by each new series of nuclear test."

4. "World-wide concern over radioactive fall-out would be minimized by the knowledge that there would be no further increases in current levels of radioactivity from large nuclear weapons tests."

AF Mechanic Swipes Jet, Crashes, Dies

BIG SPRING, Tex. (INS)—An unidentified Air Force mechanic at Webb Air Force Base took off in a T-33 jet trainer in an unauthorized flight and was killed when the plane crashed three miles away near Big Spring, Tex.

The mechanic kept the jet in the air for about 35 minutes. He radioed his position at 5,000 feet to the control tower and spoke on the intercom to Air Force pilots in the air who tried unsuccessfully to "talk him down" safely.

Flight officials tried to head off the jet by flashing a red signal light as the plane raced down the runway. A truck driver sought to intercept the jet before it became airborne by driving on the runway.

But the mechanic, who taxied directly onto the runway and took off, defied the attempts to stop him.

Russ Might Is Winning

REBELLION FLARES IN PROVINCES

VIENNA (AP) — Hungary's bloody rebellion against Soviet domination and the Budapest Red leadership blazed through its second night and spread to the provinces.

But apparently it was being crushed systematically Wednesday night by overpowering Russian armed force.

Soviet tanks, planes and troops were thrown into the battle for the decisive blow against the uprising workers and students.

Late Wednesday night the Budapest regime claimed it had mastered the rebels, but admitted fighting went in.

Moscow and East Berlin broadcasts followed quickly with claims that the rebels were beaten.

Eyewitnesses returning to Austria from Hungary reported many hundreds have been killed in battle.

First Stories

The first stories were brought out of Hungary by Austrian businessmen Wednesday night.

They told reporters at the border that Hungarians told them fighting outside Budapest was going on in the cities of Debrecen, Szolnok and Szeged.

The Austrian travelers said the number of dead in Budapest alone amounted to many hundreds as Russian tanks, jet planes, machine-gun batteries and grenades were thrown against rebel bands composed of students and workers.

The Communist government had confidently believed the rebels would collapse by 2 p.m. That was the time of the first ultimatum promising amnesty. Then the amnesty was extended to 6 p.m. Still the rebels ignored it defiantly.

All-Out War

Then the government declared all-out war, saying it would execute every rebel who fought on.

But as midnight neared Radio Budapest still admitted there was heavy fighting in sections of the capital.

In the latest Budapest broadcasts the government claimed the Russian and Hungarian troops were winning the battle of Budapest and that "more and more youngsters" were surrendering and abandoning their arms.

There was still no explanation from either side of how the rebels had obtained guns enough to hold off the combined attack of Russian and Hungarian forces in a lightning revolt that began after an orderly street demonstration Tuesday.

Radio Budapest claimed that the rebels had machineguns and hand grenades when they attempted to smash into a Budapest military barracks.

Expect New Attack

"Using all the force at their command the garrison repulsed the attackers," the radio said. It added that the defenders were bracing for a new assault by the rebels.

As the fighting passed the 24-hour mark at 9 p.m. Wednesday the government-controlled Budapest Radio alternately sharpened and softened its tone.

When the rebels ignored two ultimatums to surrender under amnesty, the government decreed the death penalty for every man who fought on. Later this was softened to mercy under "extenuating circumstances" for rebels who surrendered after the deadline of 6 p.m.

Fighting Continues

But as outsiders wondered at the stunning defiance of Communist armed might in the satellite capital of Danube, fighting went on.

In its newscast before Wednesday midnight Radio Budapest said the capital's ambulance service had been working around the clock, bringing wounded to aid stations.

The radio gave no indication of the number of casualties.

In claiming it was master of the situation, the Hungarian government acknowledged by radio that "order has not been restored everywhere" and was indeed spreading outside Budapest.

Late Wednesday night the Moscow and East Berlin Red radios said the uprising was quelled and order had been restored in Budapest.

Ike Calls H-Bombs War Bar

President Replies On TV Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday called the hydrogen bomb a great deterrent to war—a weapon, he said, which tells any potential enemy it would be "suicidal" to attack America.

The President set forth his views in responding to questions put by seven women on a nationwide TV-radio program sponsored by the Republican Congressional Campiagn Committee. The Committee said the women it chose to appear on the program were "representative of all walks of life and various sections of the country."

In discussing the H-bomb, Eisenhower did not touch on the proposal by Adlai Stevenson, that this country take the lead to end H-bomb tests.

However, on another proposal advanced by Stevenson — that thought be given to ending the military draft—Eisenhower stuck to his position that the draft must be continued at this time.

Worried

Mrs. Louis Martin, a Negro mother of 12, who lives on a farm near Salisbury, Md., told the President she is worried about the H-bomb, and asked:

"What is the future of our families in this atomic age?"

Solemnly Eisenhower replied: "The world must find a peaceful solution" to the great problem the superbomb presents.

"We can never have a hydrogen war and still have a civilization," he said.

The President went on to assert that "if we are going to remain secure" in this modern age when "aggression also is possible, we must urge agreement from a position of strength."

He apparently was referring to agreement on international armament control, with an inspection system to assure against violation.

Eisenhower has contended that national security might be jeopardized if H-bomb testing were ended without such an agreement. Stevenson has argued that testing could be banned without this country endangering its security, because it would know if Russia violated a ban. Eisenhower has replied that the system of detecting such blasts is not necessarily 100 per cent effective.

Teachers Gather Here, Hold Pre-Meeting Dinner

More than 100 District 1 teachers were entertained at a pre-convention dinner Wednesday for Nebraska State Education Association delegates.

The dinner, sponsored by the Nebraska Women's Education Club and Phi Delta Kappa, man's honorary educational fraternity, featured Dr. Carl Schneider, of the U of N political science department, speaking on Germany.

Dr. Schneider and his family spent a year in Germany while the professor studied on a Fulbright scholarship.

Telling of the family's experiences, he discussed the changes that have taken place in German family life since World War II, he said that "economically, the people have recovered, but politically they have not."

"Old slogans and martial bands no longer appeal to German youth," Dr. Schnieder said, "but if economic conditions become worse, the army will offer security."

More than 3,500 teachers are expected to register for the first formal session of the NSEA meetings at 9 a.m. Thursday.

The morning meeting will feature an address, "We Look At The World" by news analyst, H. V. Kaltenborn.

Thursday afternoon meetings will take place at Lincoln and Southeast high schools and the U of N Love Library. Primary, secondary and administrative divisions will meet separately for specialized subject discussions.

Sessions will end Friday after a general morning meeting and specialized afternoon discussions.

2,100-MAN SCIENTIST GROUP BACKS ADLAI

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Federation of American Scientists Wednesday night supported Adlai Stevenson's proposal to ban further H-bomb tests.

The federation said it was reiterating its position favoring "an international agreement" halting hydrogen bomb experiments because the subject is now a presidential campaign issue.

The 2,100 member group's executive committee said it is "appropriate and necessary for an objective, non-partisan organization of scientists to forward a clear statement of the essential facts and its position."

270 Endorsed

Meanwhile, the Stevenson - Kefauver campaign committee reported that 270 scientists have either endorsed the Stevenson proposal or have issued statements urging free and open discussion of H-bomb tests.

Two of the latest statements were from a group of 28 scientists and citizens at Yale University and from seven scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. All emphasized they were speaking for themselves and not for their institutions.

The FAS declared "universal adherence to the ban could be determined without resorting to complete international inspection" because "a large nuclear explosion can be detected by long-range monitoring methods."

'Impossible'

On the question of detecting super-bomb tests that violated a possible ban, President Eisenhower said Tuesday night it was impossible to have positive assurance of detection except in the case of "very large weapons."

The FAS gave these reasons for its support of a test ban:

1. Such an agreement "would be a break in the years of stalled negotiations."

2. The ban would "prevent or at least greatly retard the development of nuclear weapons by those countries not now possessing them."

3. The ban would lessen international tensions "which have been increased by each new series of nuclear test."

4. "World-wide concern over radioactive fall-out would be minimized by the knowledge that there would be no further increases in current levels of radioactivity from large nuclear weapons tests."

60 Dead Counted In Morocco; Many Victims Mutilated

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Sixty dead were counted in Morocco Wednesday, victims of grim Arab retaliation for the arrest by the French of five leading Algerian rebels. Many were mutilated.

Angry anti-French demonstrations and protest strikes spread across seething North Africa as Arab governments demanded release of the Algerians. In Tripoli, Libya, demonstrators stoned the British Embassy and European cars.

Among the 60 dead, mostly Europeans, were seven French soldiers. They were killed and 24 comrades were wounded in two ambushes in eastern Morocco the previous night. This was the most serious French military loss reported on Moroccan territory since Morocco cast off its status as a protectorate.

Rampaging Mobs

Rampaging Moroccans struck hard in Meknes and the surrounding countryside Tuesday and Tuesday night, starting less than 24 hours afer the five Algerian rebels were seized by a French coup on a plane flight from Morocco to Tunisia.

The actual cause of the uprising in Meknes appeared to be an accidental shot fired by a Moroccan trooper who wounded himself.

The shot enraged demonstrators in the city of 150,000 and the bloodshed was on. Outside Meknes, French sources said 38 farms, mostly European, were burned.

Cries For Independence

In Fez and Oujda, Moroccan mobs stormed through the European quarters, smashing store windows and shouting anti-French slogans mixed with demands for Algeria's independence from France.

French troops in Morocco were placed on the alert. The French Embassy demanded that the Moroccan government act to safeguard the French population in Meknes. French and Moroccan troops mounted guard there in the European quarter, where 20,000 Europeans live.

The five Algerian leaders were flying from Rabat to Tunis in a French-operated plane, manned by a French crew, when the pilot set them down in Algiers where they were arrested.

Ellsworth Convicted

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A jury of six men and six women Wednesday night convicted Frank J. Ellsworth of murdering Mrs. Lulubel Rossman, 76-year-old wealthy widow, and fixed the penalty at life imprisonment.

The jury reached its verdict about 30 hours after the trial judge had sent it into deliberation with the statement that in his opinion the state had presented "overwhelming evidence of guilt."

Ellsworth, 36, of Tampa, Fla., and Omaha was accused of conspiring to kill and rob Mrs. Rossman, who was found strangled to death in her mid-town hotel apartment July 4, 1955.

The state charged that Ellsworth and Raymond P. Wilson of Tulsa, Okla., were the actual slayers. Wilson was the first brought to trial, getting a life term.

Ellsworth and a companion were first picked up when they were flashing numbers of hundred dollar bills in Nevada. Officers subsequently said the serial numbers on the bills were close to serial numbers of similar bills kept by Mrs. Rossman in a safety deposit box.

Gen. Nogues Said Not Informed In Invasion Incident

PARIS (AP) — Marshal Alphonse Juin testified Wednesday that Gen. Auguste Nogues was not informed of a cease-fire order when he opened fire on U.S. troops landing in Africa in 1942.

Nogues, 80, former resident general in Morocco, is on trial on charges of causing the death of 794 Allied soldiers in the North African invasion.

In his testimony, Juin said the order to Nogues not to fire on the landing Allies "was badly transmitted because of bad telephone connections between Algiers and Rabat."

At the time, Juin was commander of French troops in North Africa.

Nothing New In Hunt For Armed Bandit

"No new developments" were reported Wednesday in the search for an armed bandit who made off with upwards of $250 from a market and liquor store at opposite ends of Lincoln.

Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp said the Tuesday night holdups were "still under investigation" and declined comment as to any leads.

The victim described the blond man as wearing a green uniform—possibly military "fatigues" a brown cap, and white gloves and having a blue revolver.

Within an hour's time, the bandit took about $100 at the Farmers Market, 4300 So. 14th, and between $100 and $250 at Merle's Liquor Store in West Lincoln.

Description

Composite descriptions place the man between 22 and 30; about 5 feet 10 inches, and 160 to 185 pounds, blond and a ruddy complexion.

Entering the Farmer's Market about 10:45 p.m., the bandit demanded cash from owner Glenn Woolery of 3100 So. 16th and his son, Don, of 1711 Stockwell.

He made both lie on the floor and left with the money.

In the holdup of the liquor store at 11:40 p.m., the bandit demanded that Alvin Wilken, 32, of 822 Santa Monica, hand over between $100 and $150 and lie on the floor.

Gomulka Says:

Red Troops Will Remain In Poland

Russia Fears NATO Bases In Germany

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Wladyslaw Gomulka told the Poles Wednesday night Soviet troops will stay in Poland so long as there are North Atlantic Treaty Organization bases in West Germany.

The new party boss, who led Polish Communists in their political revolt for "freedom and sovereignty" last weekent, spoke before a throng of about 250,000 in Warsaw as news of fighting in Budapest between anti-Soviet Hungarians and Russian tanks excited intense interest here.

Hungarian flags were raised alongside the Polish flag outside the university in Warsaw. A banner proclaimed, "Long Live Freedom in Hungary."

Factory and farm workers, office clerks and villagers paraded afoot and in trucks to the square in front of the 35-story Palace of culture and Science, formerly known as Stalin Palace, to hear Gomulka. A great cheer went up when he declared, "It depends only upon us how long Soviet troops may remain here."

Greeted In Silence

But his further statement that they would stay as long as the West has military installations in West Germany was accepted in silence.

Gomulka bluntly attacked "anti-Soviet sentiment" manifested in demonstrations in several Polish cities Monday night when Russian flags were trampled. He said the authorities would tolerate no action against the Polish state.

But despite his earnest appeal for an end to mass meetings and demonstrations, a group of at least 1,500 students paraded from the University of Warsaw soon after, crying, "Rokossovsky go home."

Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, a Polish-born former Soviet marshal, remains defense minister. Sent here by Stalin in 1949, he has been a symbol of Moscow domination.

Carefully Planned Burglary Almost Foiled By Employe

Nearly $35 in bills and loose change was taken from Hutson's Grocery, 1172 Belmont, in a carefully executed but almost foiled, burglary late Wednesday night.

Delmer Hutson, 18, son of storeowner Forest Hutson, entered the store sometime between 11 and 11:30 p.m., hearing "several loud noises" coming from the rear of the establishment.

Investigating the disturbance, Hutson found it to be burglars and went immediately next door to notify his brother-in-law Norman Bockoven, also an employe of the grocery, and contact the police.

Though Hutson and Bockoven returned to the store, the burglars had already left.

According to police authorities, the burglars entered a second story window, gaining admittance to the grocery by knocking out a hole previously opened by a similar burglary the year before.

Nearly $20 in bills was taken from a pocketbook in a backroom, and the remainder of the stolen money was taken from a small cash-register in the front of the store. The two other cash registers, though obviously jimmied, were not opened.

Investigating officials thought the burglary had been perpetrated by someone who had a close knowledge of the grocery store.

Extension Eyed

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower discussed extension of the Refugee Relief Act with Edward Corsi, former State Department special adviser on immigration.

Corsi, who quit the post in 1955 in protest against administration of the program, said he got the impression that Mr. Eisenhower would urge extension of the law providing for admission of 209,000 refugees to the U.S.

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force jet and a civilian plane collided over Midland Wednesday, killing seven persons. The jet exploded and plunged flaming into one home while the engine of the civilian craft buried itself in the kitchen of another.

The bodies of the planes' occupants dropped from the skies with the debris. Miraculously, no one on the ground was hurt.

The dead:

Winfred R. Clement, 27, his wife, Elizabeth, 25, and their 13-month-old daughter, Cathy, of Bowie, Tex.

Mrs. Clement's parents, Roy F. Howard, 63, and Ethel Howard, 57, of Vashti, Tex.

Capt. Roy A. Roberts, 29, of Bellville, Ill., who is survived by his wife and a 6-months-old daughter of Big Spring.

First Lt. Lowell B. Hale, 25, Decautur, Ill., survived by his wife and a 1½-year-old daughter of Big Spring.

The jet wreckage plunged into the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Saunders, but they weren't there.

Execution Stay Requested For Grandsinger

An order for a stay of execution was requested from the State Supreme Court Wednesday by Eugene D. O'Sullivan Sr., attorney for Loyd Grandsinger.

The action followed a denial by the U.S. Supreme Court for a hearing before that court for Grandsinger.

The petition Wednesday requested a stay of execution for 20 days from the day the U.S. court handed down its refusal to hear the Grandsinger case. In effect, the stay of execution, to Nov. 14, would permit O'Sullivan time to file a request for a re-hearing with the U.S. court.

Grandsinger was granted a stay of execution pending action on the hearing request before the U.S. Supreme Court. The U.S. court turned this down Monday and is scheduled to send word of its official action to the Nebraska court. That notice had not yet been received Wednesday.

Pending receiving official notice of the U.S. court's action, the Nebraska Supreme Court had not yet issued a new mandate fixing the date of Grandsinger's execution.

Grandsinger was sentenced to death in Cherry County District Court following his conviction of the slaying of State Trooper Marvin Hansen on April 8, 1954.

The 23-year-old Grandsinger has spent the past two years in the State Penitentiary pending the outcome of attempts to keep him from the electric chair.

Retaliation Of Arabs Grim

60 Dead Counted In Morocco; Many Victims Mutilated

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Sixty dead were counted in Morocco Wednesday, victims of grim Arab retaliation for the arrest by the French of five leading Algerian rebels. Many were mutilated.

Angry anti-French demonstrations and protest strikes spread across seething North Africa as Arab governments demanded release of the Algerians. In Triploli, Libya, demonstrators stoned the British Embassy and European cars.

Among the 60 dead, mostly Europeans, were seven French soldiers. They were killed and 24 comrades were wounded in two ambushes in eastern Morocco the previous night. This was the most serious French military loss reported on Moroccan territory since Morocco cast off its status as a protectorate.

Rampaging Mobs

Rampaging Moroccans struck hard in Meknes and the surrounding countryside Tuesday and Tuesday night, starting less than 24 hours afer the five Algerian rebels were seized by a French coup on a plane flight from Morocco to Tunisia.

The actual cause of the uprising in Meknes appeared to be an accidental shot fired by a Moroccan trooper who wounded himself.

The shot enraged demonstrators in the city of 150,000 and the bloodshed was on. Outside Meknes, French sources said 38 farms, mostly European, were burned.

Cries For Independence

In Fez and Oujda, Moroccan mobs stormed through the European quarters, smashing store windows and shouting anti-French slogans mixed with demands for Algeria's independence from France.

French troops in Morocco were placed on the alert. The French Embassy demanded that the Moroccan government act to safeguard the French population in Meknes. French and Moroccan troops mounted guard there in the European quarter, where 20,000 Europeans live.

The five Algerian leaders were flying from Rabat to Tunis in a French-operated plane, manned by a French crew, when the pilot set them down in Algiers where they were arrested.

Ellsworth Convicted

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A jury of six men and six women Wednesday night convicted Frank J. Ellsworth of murdering Mrs. Lulubel Rossman, 76-year-old wealthy widow, and fixed the penalty at life imprisonment.

The jury reached its verdict about 30 hours after the trial judge had sent it into deliberation with the statement that in his opinion the state had presented "overwhelming evidence of guilt."

Ellsworth, 36, of Tampa, Fla., and Omaha was accused of conspiring to kill and rob Mrs. Rossman, who was found strangled to death in her mid-town hotel apartment July 4, 1955.

The state charged that Ellsworth and Raymond P. Wilson of Tulsa, Okla., were the actual slayers. Wilson was the first brought to trial, getting a life term.

Ellsworth and a companion were first picked up when they were flashing numbers of hundred dollar bills in Nevada. Officers subsequently said the serial numbers on the bills were close to serial numbers of similar bills kept by Mrs. Rossman in a safety deposit box.

Gen. Nogues Said Not Informed In Invasion Incident

PARIS (AP) — Marshal Alphonse Juin testified Wednesday that Gen. Auguste Nogues was not informed of a cease-fire order when he opened fire on U.S. troops landing in Africa in 1942.

Nogues, 80, former resident general in Morocco, is on trial on charges of causing the death of 794 Allied soldiers in the North African invasion.

In his testimony, Juin said the order to Nogues not to fire on the landing Allies "was badly transmitted because of bad telephone connections between Algiers and Rabat."

At the time, Juin was commander of French troops in North Africa.

Nothing New In Hunt For Armed Bandit

"No new developments" were reported Wednesday in the search for an armed bandit who made off with upwards of $250 from a market and liquor store at opposite ends of Lincoln.

Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp said the Tuesday night holdups were "still under investigation" and declined comment as to any leads.

The victim described the blond man as wearing a green uniform—possibly military "fatigues" a brown cap, and white gloves and having a blue revolver.

Within an hour's time, the bandit took about $100 at the Farmers Market, 4300 So. 14th, and between $100 and $250 at Merle's Liquor Store in West Lincoln.

Description

Composite descriptions place the man between 22 and 30; about 5 feet 10 inches, and 160 to 185 pounds, blond and a ruddy complexion.

Entering the Farmer's Market about 10:45 p.m., the bandit demanded cash from owner Glenn Woolery of 3100 So. 16th and his son, Don, of 1711 Stockwell.

He made both lie on the floor and left with the money.

In the holdup of the liquor store at 11:40 p.m., the bandit demanded that Alvin Wilken, 32, of 822 Santa Monica, hand over between $100 and $150 and lie on the floor.

Groesz Appeals

VIENNA (INS) — Archbishop Joszef Groesz, Hungary's senior Roman Catholic prelate, appealed to the country's Catholics not to join in murder and destruction in the anti-Communist uprising.

Gomulka Says:

Red Troops Will Remain In Poland

Russia Fears NATO Bases In Germany

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Wladyslaw Gomulka told the Poles Wednesday night Soviet troops will stay in Poland so long as there are North Atlantic Treaty Organization bases in West Germany.

The new party boss, who led Polish Communists in their political revolt for "freedom and sovereignty" last weekent, spoke before a throng of about 250,000 in Warsaw as news of fighting in Budapest between anti-Soviet Hungarians and Russian tanks excited intense interest here.

Hungarian flags were raised alongside the Polish flag outside the university in Warsaw. A banner proclaimed, "Long Live Freedom in Hungary."

Factory and farm workers, office clerks and villagers paraded afoot and in trucks to the square in front of the 35-story Palace of culture and Science, formerly known as Stalin Palace, to hear Gomulka. A great cheer went up when he declared, "It depends only upon us how long Soviet troops may remain here."

Greeted In Silence

But his further statement that they would stay as long as the West has military installations in West Germany was accepted in silence.

Gomulka bluntly attacked "anti-Soviet sentiment" manifested in demonstrations in several Polish cities Monday night when Russian flags were trampled. He said the authorities would tolerate no action against the Polish state.

But despite his earnest appeal for an end to mass meetings and demonstrations, a group of at least 1,500 students paraded from the University of Warsaw soon after, crying, "Rokossovsky go home."

Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, a Polish-born former Soviet marshal, remains defense minister. Sent here by Stalin in 1949, he has been a symbol of Moscow domination.

ZUD IS SOLD AT GROCERS, HARDWARE, DEPT. 10 CENT STORES

Carefully Planned Burglary Almost Foiled By Employe

Nearly $35 in bills and loose change was taken from Hutson's Grocery, 1172 Belmont, in a carefully executed but almost foiled, burglary late Wednesday night.

Delmer Hutson, 18, son of storeowner Forest Hutson, entered the store sometime between 11 and 11:30 p.m., hearing "several loud noises" coming from the rear of the establishment.

Investigating the disturbance, Hutson found it to be burglars and went immediately next door to notify his brother-in-law Norman Bockoven, also an employe of the grocery, and contact the police.

Though Hutson and Bockoven returned to the store, the burglars had already left.

According to police authorities, the burglars entered a second story window, gaining admittance to the grocery by knocking out a hole previously opened by a similar burglary the year before.

Nearly $20 in bills was taken from a pocketbook in a backroom, and the remainder of the stolen money was taken from a small cash-register in the front of the store. The two other cash registers, though obviously jimmied, were not opened.

Investigating officials thought the burglary had been perpetrated by someone who had a close knowledge of the grocery store.

Extension Eyed

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower discussed extension of the Refugee Relief Act with Edward Corsi, former State Department special adviser on immigration.

Corsi, who quit the post in 1955 in protest against administration of the program, said he got the impression that Mr. Eisenhower would urge extension of the law providing for admission of 209,000 refugees to the U.S.

Seven Die As Planes Hit, Drop

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force jet and a civilian plane collided over Midland Wednesday, killing seven persons. The jet exploded and plunged flaming into one home while the engine of the civilian craft buried itself in the kitchen of another.

The bodies of the planes' occupants dropped from the skies with the debris. Miraculously, no one on the ground was hurt.

The dead:

Winfred R. Clement, 27, his wife, Elizabeth, 25, and their 13-month-old daughter, Cathy, of Bowie, Tex.

Mrs. Clement's parents, Roy E. Howard, 63, and Ethel Howard, 57, of Vashti, Tex.

Capt. Roy A. Roberts, 29, of Bellville, Ill., who is survived by his wife and a 6-months-old daughter of Big Spring.

First Lt. Lowell B. Hale, 25, Decautur, Ill., survived by his wife and a 1½-year-old daughter of Big Spring.

The jet wreckage plunged into the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Saunders, but they weren't there.

The engine of the civilian plane, a Cessna 170, crashed into the home of Mrs. Billy Crowe only minutes after she had taken her children—Janice, 1, and Debora, 3—into their living room.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Masai tribal chiefs pledged their loyalty to Princess Margaret Wednesday in a colorful ceremony with jungle dancers.

The princess slept the previous night in a lodge surrounded by game scouts to scare off marauding animals.

Execution Stay Requested For Grandsinger

An order for a stay of execution was requested from the State Supreme Court Wednesday by Eugene D. O'Sullivan Sr., attorney for Loyd Grandsinger.

The action followed a denial by the U.S. Supreme Court for a hearing before that court for Grandsinger.

The petition Wednesday requested a stay of execution for 20 days from the day the U.S. court handed down its refusal to hear the Grandsinger case. In effect, the stay of execution, to Nov. 14, would permit O'Sullivan time to file a request for a re-hearing with the U.S. court.

Grandsinger was granted a stay of execution pending action on the hearing request before the U.S. Supreme Court. The U.S. court turned this down Monday and is scheduled to send word of its official action to the Nebraska court. That notice had not yet been received Wednesday.

Pending receiving official notice of the U.S. court's action, the Nebraska Supreme Court had not yet issued a new mandate fixing the date of Grandsinger's execution.

Grandsinger was sentenced to death in Cherry County District Court following his conviction of the slaying of State Trooper Marvin Hansen on April 8, 1954.

The 23-year-old Grandsinger has spent the past two years in the State Penitentiary pending the outcome of attempts to keep him from the electric chair.

Possibility Arises Of Labor Strike Shutdown Of All U.S. Ports

East Coast Pact By Nov. 1 Eyed

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of a labor strike shutdown of all the nation's seaports arose Wednesday unless there is an East Coast dock workers contract settlement by Nov. 1.

Government officials said they feared West Coast longshoremen would walk out if a separate East Coast contract settlement were clouded when the New York Shipping Assn. filed unfair labor practice charges against the International Longshoremen's Assn., representing dock workers on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The hitch in the New York bargaining is that the ILA, fresh from winning an election from a rival AFL-CIO union, the International Brotherhood of Longshoremen, wants contract talks this year to cover not only New York port workers but all others on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Twice Refused

This is the basis of the employers' charges filed with the National Labor Relations Board. They said that the NLRB twice has refused to broaden the present New York port area bargaining unit to include workers in other Atlantic and Gulf ports.

The West Coast dockers union is the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, headed by Harry Bridges, who has long been reported seeking a working alliance or possible eventual merger with the East Coast ILA.

Bridges' ILWU was ousted by the former CIO six years ago for alleged Communist domination. Bridges himself has been the target several times of unsuccessful government attempts to deport him to his native Australia, also on grounds of ties to communism. The ILA was expelled from the former AFL on charges it was dominated by racketeers.

In New York, ILA President William V. Bradley said the talk of a possible joint strike was a "complete surprise to us" and "no deal has been made between Bridges and us."

Fighters Halt Second O'Neill Grass Blaze

Lincoln Star Special

O'NEILL, Neb.—A second grass fire in the Atkinson-O'Neill area, which started Wednesday morning, has been brought to a halt.

Co-operating with the fire-fighters was a slow, steady rain which began in this dry area about 9 p.m. Wednesday night.

The high wind that had swept the area Tuesday night and Wednesday, driving flames before it, also died down and the temperature dropped quickly.

About 12 square miles were burned over by a series of grass fires, the first of which was started Tuesday night near O'Neill along a railroad right of way.

Many haystacks and fence posts were destroyed, but no farm homes were hit.

The blaze on the Joe Winkler farm about two miles north of a large area where fire destroyed hay and hay land Tuesday night, was reported at 10:20 a.m., but it was controlled by volunteer firemen before fire departments arrived.

The second outbreak apparently stemmed from sparks from the fire Tuesday night, in which buildings on the Winkler farm were threatened.

Another fire was reported Wednesday on the Arnold Zulke farm, 23 miles south and a half mile west of O'Neill. The blaze started in the wash house on the farm and spread to several stacks of hay nearby. The fire was brought under control almost immediately after other hay stacks were moved out of danger with tractors.

DETROIT (INS)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), said the Russians are in a dilemma that may cost them their entire eastern Europe satellite structure.

Commenting at a news conference on the Polish and Hungarian riots, the Democratic vice presidential candidate urged that "everything possible" be done to help the uprisers. But he cautioned that nothing should be done "that would imperil those who are leading the fight . . ."

Newscaster Kaltenborn Forecasts Win For Ike

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

In clipped, authoriative tones familiar to radio audiences since 1922, news analyst H. V. Kaltenborn predicted "a win for Eisenhower" but "a lot of split-ballot voting" in the coming election.

The noted commentator, visiting Lincoln as a featured speaker Thursday at the Nebraska State Education Association, pointed to national polls showing the Republican presidential candidate out in front for the past two or three weeks.

After a strong Democratic start, "the Republicans realized that they could not win in a walk, and persuaded the President to take an active part in the campaign."

"From the moment the President hit the trail, the political atmosphere changed," he said.

Won, Lost By Phrase

Kaltenborn qualified his prediction of Republican presidential victory by pointing out that "an election can be won or lost by a phrase."

"If the Republicans are so cocksure that they do not get out to vote, or if the President's health report turns out unexpectedly unfavorable," the election might easily go the other way, he commented.

Another variable in the political campaign is the recent Hungary-Poland revolt. "Although the personal visits by President Eisenhower are effective," he said, "I would rather see him in Washington and in close touch with the overseas situation. I wish he would say, 'My duty is in Washington.'"

Ike 'Most Popular'

Suggesting that the campaign was one between men rather than between issues, Kaltenborn called President Eisenhower "a man whose personal popularity exceeds any president in recent history, with the possible exception of Roosevelt toward the end of his first term."

"Split ballot voting" will be prevalent in this election, the commentator predicted, pointing out that Eisenhower popularity did not extend to many of the state congressional races.

After attending both national political conventions and making tours throughout the country Kaltenborn made the following predictions:

1. Republicans have a "good" chance of carrying Florida, especially if the President makes a personal tour in the state.

Farmers Not Changing

2. Midwestern farmers are not changing their political views because of the agricultural policy or the present drought.

3. Eisenhower has a "fair chance" of carrying the Texas vote and a possible chance of carrying Virginia. The Republicans have no chance in Tennessee, despite predictions.

The main, and possibly the only issue in the present campaign is the Eisenhower record in office, the analyst said. The lack of issues has the Democrats "scratching for points of contention," he said.

He predicted that Stevenson's raising of the H-bomb test abolition and changing of the draft program "will not go over" or win votes for the Democrats.

Discussing a visit to Columbus, Neb. a month ago, Kaltenborn pointed out that the present plight of the farmers in the state had been "mitigated by the era of Eisenhower prosperity."

"Farmers who have lost their crops have received payments from government and have been able to find jobs in neighboring small manufacturing companies because jobs are available," he said.

Possibility Arises Of Labor Strike Shutdown Of All U.S. Ports

East Coast Pact By Nov. 1 Eyed

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of a labor strike shutdown of all the nation's seaports arose Wednesday unless there is an East Coast dock workers contract settlement by Nov. 1.

Government officials said they feared West Coast longshoremen would walk out if a separate East Coast contract settlement were clouded when the New York Shipping Assn. filed unfair labor practice charges against the International Longshoremen's Assn., representing dock workers on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The hitch in the New York bargaining is that the ILA, fresh from winning an election from a rival AFL-CIO union, the International Brotherhood of Longshoremen, wants contract talks this year to cover not only New York port workers but all others on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Twice Refused

This is the basis of the employers' charges filed with the National Labor Relations Board. They said that the NLRB twice has refused to broaden the present New York port area bargaining unit to include workers in other Atlantic and Gulf ports.

The West Coast dockers union is the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, headed by Harry Bridges, who has long been reported seeking a working alliance or possible eventual merger with the East Coast ILA.

Bridges' ILWU was ousted by the former CIO six years ago for alleged Communist domination. Bridges himself has been the target several times of unsuccessful government attempts to deport him to his native Australia, also on grounds of ties to communism. The ILA was expelled from the former AFL on charges it was dominated by racketeers.

In New York, ILA President William V. Bradley said the talk of a possible joint strike was a "complete surprise to us" and "no deal has been made between Bridges and us."

Fighters Halt Second O'Neill Grass Blaze

Lincoln Star Special

O'NEILL, Neb.—A second grass fire in the Atkinson-O'Neill area, which started Wednesday morning, has been brought to a halt.

Co-operating with the fire-fighters was a slow, steady rain which began in this dry area about 9 p.m. Wednesday night.

The high wind that had swept the area Tuesday night and Wednesday, driving flames before it, also died down and the temperature dropped quickly.

About 12 square miles were burned over by a series of grass fires, the first of which was started Tuesday night near O'Neill along a railroad right of way.

Many haystacks and fence posts were destroyed, but no farm homes were hit.

The blaze on the Joe Winkler farm about two miles north of a large area where fire destroyed hay and hay land Tuesday night, was reported at 10:20 a.m., but it was controlled by volunteer firemen before fire departments arrived.

The second outbreak apparently stemmed from sparks from the fire Tuesday night, in which buildings on the Winkler farm were threatened.

Another fire was reported Wednesday on the Arnold Zulke farm, 23 miles south and a half mile west of O'Neill. The blaze started in the wash house on the farm and spread to several stacks of hay nearby. The fire was brought under control almost immediately after other hay stacks were moved out of danger with tractors.

Reds May Lose Satellites—Estes

DETROIT (INS)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), said the Russians are in a dilemma that may cost them their entire eastern Europe satellite structure.

Commenting at a news conference on the Polish and Hungarian riots, the Democratic vice presidential candidate urged that "everything possible" be done to help the uprisers. But he cautioned that nothing should be done "that would imperil those who are leading the fight . . ."

Kefauver, who visited Poland and Hungary last year, declared:

"No one who has ever been there could ever doubt that the spirit of freedom burns brightly in the souls of the people of Poland and Hungary."

Newscaster Kaltenborn Forecasts Win For Ike

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

In clipped, authoriative tones familiar to radio audiences since 1922, news analyst H. V. Kaltenborn predicted "a win for Eisenhower" but "a lot of split-ballot voting" in the coming election.

The noted commentator, visiting Lincoln as a featured speaker Thursday at the Nebraska State Education Association, pointed to national polls showing the Republican presidential candidate out in front for the past two or three weeks.

After a strong Democratic start, "the Republicans realized that they could not win in a walk, and persuaded the President to take an active part in the campaign."

"From the moment the President hit the trail, the political atmosphere changed," he said.

Won, Lost By Phrase

Kaltenborn qualified his prediction of Republican presidential victory by pointing out that "an election can be won or lost by a phrase."

"If the Republicans are so cocksure that they do not get out to vote, or if the President's health report turns out unexpectedly unfavorable," the election might easily go the other way, he commented.

Another variable in the political campaign is the recent Hungary-Poland revolt. "Although the personal visits by President Eisenhower are effective," he said, "I would rather see him in Washington and in close touch with the overseas situation. I wish he would say, 'My duty is in Washington.'"

Ike 'Most Popular'

Suggesting that the campaign was one between men rather than between issues, Kaltenborn called President Eisenhower "a man whose personal popularity exceeds any president in recent history, with the possible exception of Roosevelt toward the end of his first term."

"Split ballot voting" will be prevalent in this election, the commentator predicted, pointing out that Eisenhower popularity did not extend to many of the state congressional races.

After attending both national political conventions and making tours throughout the country Kaltenborn made the following predictions:

1. Republicans have a "good" chance of carrying Florida, especially if the President makes a personal tour in the state.

Farmers Not Changing

2. Midwestern farmers are not changing their political views because of the agricultural policy or the present drought.

3. Eisenhower has a "fair chance" of carrying the Texas vote and a possible chance of carrying Virginia. The Republicans have no chance in Tennessee, despite predictions.

The main, and possibly the only issue in the present campaign is the Eisenhower record in office, the analyst said. The lack of issues has the Democrats "scratching for points of contention," he said.

He predicted that Stevenson's raising of the H-bomb test abolition and changing of the draft program "will not go over" or win votes for the Democrats.

Discussing a visit to Columbus, Neb. a month ago, Kaltenborn pointed out that the present plight of the farmers in the state had been "mitigated by the era of Eisenhower prosperity."

"Farmers who have lost their crops have received payments from government and have been able to find jobs in neighboring small manufacturing companies because jobs are available," he said.

Blowing Dust

We have a very deep regard for Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton of Hastings. He was visiting his fellow Nebraskans Wednesday. The high winds and blowing dust could have been no novelty to him. Mr. Seaton could look back upon Nebraska during the years of drought and dust storms in the 'thirties.

The dust storms were bad enough then.

They are worse today. They are worse today because the average Nebraska farm family has a much greater investment in land and equipment now than the farm family back in the 'thirties had.

Both at Hastings and at the airport in Lincoln Secretary Seaton devoted time to directing attention to what he called small projects legislation adopted under Eisenhower leadership, and signed by the President. We have no quarrel with it but the small projects law to which Mr. Seaton directs attention is a poor substitute for the larger dam and the larger reservoir where the larger dam is feasible. A 5,000 acre-feet pool does not provide storage for a municipality in time of drought, does not furnish water for irrigation in time of drought, and in some of the southwestern plains area disappears as the result of the evaporation loss, due to the hot sun.

In Nebraska we needed stream storage wherever feasible and possible. The small projects law is no substitute for genuine storage on a large scale if this state is to stabilize its economy through a substantially expanded irrigation program.

No Sure Prosperity Index

Nebraska, together with Kentucky and Colorado, were the three exceptions cited by the Department of Agriculuture when it noted this week that the boom in farm land prices is continuing.

The department saw an overall rise of 3 per cent in land prices between July 1, 1955 and July 1, 1956. But Nebraska, meanwhile, experienced a 3 per cent drop.

A rise in farm land prices can induce a general feeling of agricultural prosperity and in the minds of the uninformed or the disinterested deflate the complaints of the farm areas of hard times. For that reason the subject requires more detailed inspection.

A protracted even though not radical period of inflation readjusts prices upward as dollar values shrink. In this sense a true picture of farm land prices is not complete without examination in the presence of inflation ratios and in comparison with price rises on other purchasable things. Likewise, the desire of operating farmers to remain in business even during periods of deficit limits the number of farms for sale in respect to the purchasing money that may be ready and willing to buy—generally surplus money gained from sources other than farming.

The true criterion of land values is based on the return of the farming operation and no inflationary quotation or momentary shortage of farms for sale provide a reliable measure of farm values. But one thing is certain. A protracted period of farm operation losses ultimately dumps farms on the market and then prices drop generally to some level equal to or below the property's true earning power. Any effort to read prosperity into transient land prices based on inflation and unsatisfied buying demand is an adventure no realistic farm operator dares engage in.

Their Election Day

Currently the international news is tense with reports of uprisings in Poland and Hungary, of falling Red regimes and rising leaders, proposing greater measures of freedom for their countries.

We can leave it to the pundits to discuss the geo-political significance of these upheavals and to the calendar to develop the impact they will have upon us, Russia, the world and peace—a formidable subject to say the least.

It is timely to point out at this juncture that Poland and Hungary have had an election day—the only kind people in totalitarian countries or in totalitarian satellites can have. Such, perforce, are held at the risk of life, without the guarantee that the decisions of the people will be honored and scheduled only by conditions reaching such a point that further living without change is unendurable

By contrast the United States is proceeding toward the day of its quadrennial presidential election in democratic style. The date is dependable; the people's decision will be carried out. Issues are being debated with spirit. The presence of real candidates and truly contrasting philosophies of government assure real popular choice. No one thinks of November 6 as the day when blood will run in the gutters and violence rule in the streets. And no one countenances the thought of reprisals by the rejected party.

We do not doubt but that the Poles and Hungarians attach more importance to these days they have used to effect a change of administration than do the free, sovereign and privileged American voters and it cannot be gainsaid that they are taking mortal risks by voicing their wishes. But we will still always take democracy's type of election day and will rejoice when such people as reside in Poland and Hungary and all of the other places where self-expression is a crime can go to their polls like we do and in peace, honor and respect participate in the running of their countries.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It would be a brash editor here in America who would venture out on the limb far enough to hail developments in Poland and Hungary as in the interest of the free nations of the world. We simply do not know. No matter how diligently an editor may have followed the news in recent months, he lacks the information so necessary to intelligent understanding in the rise of a new dictatorship in Poland and what understandable hope the free nations may attach to the break between satellite Poland and Moscow.

★

Very much in the news is Poland's Gomulka as the anti-Stalinist leader of Poland's Communist government. Before we of the West throw our hats too high in the air over his emergence, writes Bob Considine, let it be remembered that he is redder than a herring and a sworn enemy of freedom everywhere, especially in Poland. Gomulka, we are told, worked for the underground in World War II and ruthlessly helped purge all Polish leaders who represented freedom before the Russian Communists in turn purged him. Latest dispatches from Hungary indicated that the government of the restored Nagy had turned to Russian forces in order to put down an uprising by Hungarian underground forces in the border mountain areas of Hungary. What do we gain, the thoughtful American will ask himself. We trade one dictator for another. We swap one enemy of freedom for a second. We exchange one Communist for another Communist. In the dispatches from Warsaw, we are told not to interfere in Polish affairs, and in the next breath it is said that the new regime has enlisted the services of a third nation to determine whether the new Poland can procure economic aid from the United States without strings attached.

Good, Bad, Or Uncertain

Campaigning in Illinois Wednesday, Vice President Nixon was critical of Adlai Stevenson because he said the Democratic candidate instead of directing his fire at Russia had overlooked the fact that Russia had turned a deaf ear to 15 proposals, looking towards peace, made by the Eisenhower administration. It may be that secrecy is a requisite of diplomacy today but in recent months we have heard so much about the American people enjoying peace and prosperity that it is confusing to find the vice president telling an audience that 15 peace proposals by the President have been turned back by the Russians.

★

One of the bolder comments on Poland's new Reds suggests that if the satellite nations are to be run by Tito-type regimes, playing both the East and West sides of the international street, it is because they find it profitable, but "if a showdown should come, there is little doubt that the Communist regime will fight on the side of the Communist world," this commentary concludes. If such a conclusion is soundly rooted, then all there is to be said is that Uncle Sam is in a bad way. We can deal with a single dictator dedicated to a program of Communism more easily than we can with half a dozen. There would be a new danger arising in Poland, Hungary, and Yugoslavia, then, with a half a dozen little "strong" men. It is these smaller nations, actually, if past experience is worth anything, that turn out to be the spawning ground of global conflict. It was true in World War I—true in World War II—and if what starts out as a small war develops slowly into a major global conflict as World War III, then history will be only repeating itself. It was Austria-Hungary's attack on tiny Serbia which lighted the spark in 1914. It was Hitler's attack upon Poland that in time brought most of Europe and Asia to war. So for the time being, we hold our breath and hope for the best in this rapidly changing world that has been screened for us for years by the Iron Curtain.

Of Little Faith

Much as we want peace, we think the American people are becoming a bit weary of extending economic aid to nations which exchange one dictator for another—one Communist for a second—one totalitarian leader for another—and all of them basically dedicated to Communism.

New Tradition

Vice President Richard Nixon, who never misses a political bet, is frowning on appearing in luxury automobiles while he is out before the public campaigning. For the purpose of re-election he is willing to undergo hardships like any other citizen, such as being jounced around in some $4,500 automobile.

We presume that is setting a new political pattern. Men used to be considered especially deserving if they could say they grew up in a log cabin. Nebraska provided a deviation not of principle but of properties. Here it was a sod house and a daily fare of boiled potatoes. That elected a lot of fellows who otherwise had no claim on or qualification for public service.

Perhaps, henceforth, the office will go to the man who can prove he spent his boyhood in used cars. Most of us would go for that, but we are more interested in still seeing him cart around in them after his period of public service is over.

Be An Engineer

There have been a world of reasons advanced why engineering is the proper course to take in school nowadays. But there has been no better one advanced than the one recently exemplified at Louisville, Ky. A traffic officer hauled in an engineer and charged him with speeding at the rate of 80 miles an hour—an offense subject to an $85 fine. But the engineer whipped out his slide rule and with a few calculations informed the judge that with the facts as given the officer would have had to drive his car 140 miles per hour in order to make the catch which according to the engineer's handbook was much faster than the patrol car could travel. The judge dismissed the case.

Powell Deal Involved Favor

WASHINGTON — Part of the reported deal between the Eisenhower administration and Negro Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem, Democrat, who has just declared for Ike, is now leaking out.

Part of the deal was the release of Powell's secretary, Hattie Dodson, from a federal penitentiary. The records of Alderson, W.Va., women's federal reformatory show that she was released on October 17, one day before Congressman Powell gave his New York press conference detailing the reasons for his political switch.

Mrs. Dodson was convicted of income tax evasion after paying salary kickbacks to Powell. In the case of three other congressmen exposed by this column for taking salary kickbacks, it was they who were convicted, not their secretaries.

In this case, however, Mrs. Dodson refused to testify against Congressman Powell. Time after time she was asked about Powell's role in taking kickbacks. But over and over again she refused to implicate Powell. Over and over she claimed the kickbacks were her own fault.

Since a congressman's staff is paid out of federal funds, by all the taxpayers, he is not permitted to take any part of it back for himself.

Mrs. Dodson was sentenced to jail for seven months on July 16.

FOREIGN AID MAY BLOW UP

A very hush-hush, vitally important report on foreign aid is due to be submitted to the National Security Council. It is already the topic of unhappy backstage debate and will cause even more unhappiness if such Republican leaders as Senators Knowland of California and Bridges of New Hampshire demand its publication.

The secret report, prepared by Herbert Prochnow, deputy undersecretary of state for Economic Affairs, says more critical things about the Republican administration of foreign aid than the Democrats ever said about it.

Prochnow charges that money and materials have been "wasted, misdirected or misguided" in ten key countries. Some of these countries, including Turkey, are on the verge of bankruptcy, and our inefficient policies haven't helped matters. The report describes the situation as "extremely alarming."

Though many Republicans criticized foreign aid under the Democrats, President Eisenhower not only has continued it, but this year asked Congress to increase it. This caused vigorous debate in Congress, with the opposition coming from both political parties.

Prochnow, meanwhile, has tendered his resignation. The report is so hot and the pressure on him to suppress it so great that he decided to go back to Chicago. As a good Republican, however, he dated his resignation November 15 so no trouble would break before the election.

The report will be stamped "top secret."

BOB CONSIDINE

Fabulous Prize To Race Winner

NEW YORK — If 15 two-year-old animals show up at the starting line Saturday at Garden State horse yard, for a race ingeniously called "The Garden State," the ensuing contest at one mile and a sixteenth will be worth a numbing $311,210.

It is, of course, the richest race in the world. Sportswriters assembled by track agent Everett Clay at Leone's restaurant the other day, to hear from two people who had paid a $10,000 supplementary entry fee just to get their nags in the gallop, eyed the various pots at stake: the winner to get $176,665, the runner-up $62,242, the show horse $41,561 and the so-called "out of the money" or fourth horse $16,560.

"I think I'll enter it myself," a stout and venal writer said after three pre-luncheon martinis. Over the next two hours he ate whatever Gene Leone spread before him. It was one of Gene's lighter lunches: lobster, baked oysters, baloney, shrimp, melon and prosciutto, cheese and fruit, for appetizers, then, on option, minestrone, fettuccini, steak, whole pheasants, prescribed vegetables, salad, ice cream and expresso. The wine was a lustrous rubicon ruby from 1953.

"Maybe next year," the now stouter writer gasped as afternoon waned and eye glazed. He left, carrying more weight than Exterminator lifted and ran with in the Independence and the Saratoga handicaps in 1922.

All the good stables have sent their best youngsters to "the Garden State," an indication perhaps that these honored owners are not necessarily in the sport for sport alone. The silks of George Widener, Peter A. B. Widener, Mrs. Gene Markey of Calumet, Liz Whitney of Llangollen farm, Rex Ellsworth of Swaps, and the rich folk of the Wheatley barn have been attracted to this commerce. So have some of the poorer stables, if there is such a thing as a poor racing stable.

Trainer Milt Rieser, one of those whose people have gotten up a $10,000 grunt to become eligible for one of the big pots of gold at the end of Saturday's run, was at the luncheon at Leone's. He trains a "poor stable" colt named Federal Hill, named for the rise of ground which holds the pleasant house which in 1853 inspired a man named Stephen Collins Foster, who lived in such places at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and New York, to write a little number called "My Old Kentucky Home."

Mr. Rieser is no man to let the queen's tongue get in the way of his enthusiasm for his colt, who has come to fame after a lowly beginning which saw him run uncoveted in a $7,000 claiming race.

"That horse can't do nothing but run," ejaculated Mr. Rieser, grown old, plump and bald in The Game. "You ask me does he tend to stop? That horse don't show none no time he runs. Does he breathe hard? That horse won't blow a match out after a race. I tell you, you better get some tickets on him."

Interest Rising In H-Bomb Debate

NEW YORK—The issue of the menace to survival in unbridled testing of the H-bomb has been joined.

It will dominate the remaining two weeks of the campaign. Adlai Stevenson now has no choice but to ride it and, indeed, he wants no other.

He believes wholly in what he says; he has been saying it since last spring in a speech here to the nation's editors before the primaries had made his nomination for President probable.

In contrast to the timidity of his immediate staff, he is getting encouragement from elected officials who have proved their ability in hardfought campaigns to reach the voter.

His vice presidential candidate, Senator Estes Kefauver, backed him immediately and strongly. So have Senators Albert Gore and Hubert H. Humphrey, who are spending all their days on the stump in various parts of the country.

They report that they receive ovations when they describe the questions raised by H-bomb tests and attack President Eisenhower for being indifferent or attempting to stifle discussion.

The New York Times mentioned one such ovation received by Gore at a campaign luncheon for the Democratic chairmen of faction-ridden Kentucky, attended by 600 persons. Gore is a member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

☆ ☆ ☆

Over the telephone Gore described what he has been saying in Kentucky, Minnesota, California, Tennessee and elsewhere. The reaction, he said, has convinced him that the issue was touching people more nearly than politicians had dreamed of.

Gore said he begins by explaining that he is not a scientist, that he talks from no special knowledge, that he does not pretend to know "at what level of poisonous radio strontium cancer of the bone and blood are apt to set in. Neither do I propose to know what degree of contamination and exposure people can stand without endangering their capacity to have normal, healthy children."

Then he reads the tenetics section of a report from "Our Top Scientists" (The National Science Foundation) which he says is concurred in by Great Britain's top scientists (The United Medical Council).

Their language is unemotional, but the content is fearsome. Gore finds that his listeners, especially women, follow them closely. A sample:

"The inheritance mechanism is by far the most sensitive to radiation of any biological system. Any radiation which reaches the reproductive cells causes mutations (changes in the materials governing heredity) that are passed on to succeeding generations. Human gene mutations which produce observable effects are believed to be universally harmful . . . the more radiation, the more mutations . . . the harm is cumulative."

Translated, this is an elemental threat. If the men who make it did not believe it, they would be monsters themselves.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK

Nebraskans View The Campaign

Time For Good Will

Pasadena, Calif.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Gov. Adlai Stevenson's proposal to discontinue H-bomb tests has found a strong echo among scientists in this country, and no doubt all over the world. They are of the opinion that the issue of nuclear bomb tests is not simply a technical one, to be decided by military weapons experts. Our bomb test performances have as a prime effect the spread of fear and hatred among other nations who feel threatened by those tests. They are therefore of no help in achieving trust and peace.

Now is the time to build international good will and understanding and to make some real effort to make peace possible, instead of taking calculated risks of war which only provoke the rise of nationalistic dictators. The issue before this generation is not one of short-range expediency in power politics — it is rather the challenge of conscience in regard to whether or not we prepare to lend our hands to the universal holocaust which another world war would bring.

That, at least, is the conclusion which I reached when the Nazis put me in prison camp for my refusal to design weapons for them.

Fine Phrases

Deshler, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Eisenhower's speech in Portland was the best he has ever delivered, but did it really tell the "truth" as promised, or did those fine phrases gloss over the facts? He takes credit to himself for all beneficial legislation passed by Congress after much hard work by the Democrats, such as the lowering of the retirement age for women and providing for disability pensions, but he blames the Democratic Congress (so called) for all bills that failed to pass. As it works out in Congress, however, the Democrats need eight Republican senatorial votes at all times to offset the loss of the votes of eight southern Democratic senators who always vote with the Republican anti-liberal group, except on states rights or segregation bills. Eisenhower's school bill was turned down both by Congress and the educators national meeting as nothing more than a bill to lend money to school districts through the banks. Will his new bill be the same?

Aren't there still American boys in Korea? Did the fighting in Korea end with Ike's entry into the White House or with the start of peace negotiations by Truman? Did Ike's "peace" prevent the loss of part of Indo-China? Has his attitude kept India's friendship? If Nixon should succeed him, will he be as effective in working for the China lobby which desires us to start war on the China mainland as he tried to be when he was a senator? Has the Ike and Dulles team kept the peace in the Middle East and held the Communists back as well as Truman's actions in Greece and Turkey stopped the Communist advance without bloodshed?

On the home front, does the laboring man have anyone to speak for him in this administration, since Ike packed the labor board with known anti-labor appointees and cut funds to such departments? Is the family protected when funds to administer the food and drugs act were severely cut?

Who in this administration speaks for the small farmer? Do continued payments of millions to corporation farmers and acreage cuts to small farmers constitute any real remedy for the farm problem? Can a farmer get back on his feet after loss of crops by drought on all his acres, with a further cut each year on his acreage allotment? After the Democratic help for the farmer in the past, would a Democratic administration now do that to the farmer?

Which shall it be November 6—a vote for fine phrases or turning to the Democratic party for constructive action?

Passing Thought

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: As a native Nebraskan and ex-farm product from Valley County, I have the field experience necessary to appreciate fully the predicaments set forth by an Odell farmer's wife in a letter written to this column.

That which she relates without fear of honest contradiction by any party in or out of power is absolutely and positively the truth. There are two sentences in her letter which I believe merit restatement. I quote them:

"There is something wrong everywhere. We sell eggs at such a low price, and have friends in big cities who tell us they must pay three times what we get."

The economic injustice of such a situation is too utter for any explanation by either Republican or Democratic wheel horses.

Under these circumstances, if I were a farmer's wife in Nebraska I would vote to replace the responsible public payrollees. For too many months they have seemed solely and only concerned over ways and means of raising their own salaries. Certainly any thought or concern for the average taxpayer has been purely incidental.

Against Them All

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The November election isn't far off, and the voters of this state should vote only for candidates running for office. It would be a good thing if they voted against all of the special things. We don't need any of them, especially the tax on the farmer's grain that he has on March 1. If carried, it would mean setting up a special commission to tell the farmers what to do. The egg law is a flop, according to the last reports.

The Promises

Stanton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: President Eisenhower is making many promises of what his second administration will accomplish in case he is re-elected and is given a Republican Congress. Vice President Dick is going so far as to tell us the word "poverty" will be eliminated from the dictionary. In his first campaign speech, Candidate Eisenhower stated he would cut federal taxes by $40 billion. In his second speech he said he would reduce it $20 billion. In his third speech, he would reduce it $10 billion, standing pat on this. We all know how the budget is now.

He promised the farmers 90 and 100 per cent parity, and agriculture finished up getting the soil bank. Then there was the give-away of Tidelands oil to private interests after the Supreme Court rendered a decision that the mineral rights belong to the people. Next, Dixon-Yates was told to go ahead with their power deal, but this looked too raw and he reversed himself. And Hells Canyon was turned over to the Idaho Power Company.

Stevenson turned down the support of Texas, when he said he would not turn lands over to private interests in the Tidelands oil matter. Ike was approached and replied the other way. Now our schools are short a large amount of funds.

The Last Straw

Upland, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have been wondering how soon the GOP would give boot service to Phil Weaver for daring to vote his own convictions for Nebraska interests and thereby condemning the Ike-Benson-Seaton party line.

After 70 years experience—20 years as a Republican — I have become convinced that no Republican's word is worth a snowball in August. And after watching Phil Weaver on TV Monday evening, I give up. You would think that Curtis, Miller, Marvel, Anderson and some others would have become so calloused by this time that they could look at you when they mention integrity and how bright the farmer's outlook is. No wonder Curtis and Phil Weaver talked out of their ears. They must have been wondering if some oil man's ghost was lurking somewhere in the room. It was old stuff for Curtis and Miller, but Weaver was very much ill at ease.

Ike almost blew his top that Stevenson would try to deal with Russia. Who was it that turned 150,000 soldiers loose to fight us again in Indochina and said it was the best deal he could get and that he made the deal in good faith? And the war was to stop aggression and free East Germany, Poland, etc.

Straw Vote

Ord, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: One thing that people who say Ike won't be re-elected ignore is the fact that the women will vote for Ike. They like Ike because he got us out of the Korean war and kept us out of any wars. They also ignore the fact that he is President now and that he has appointed some good men to office, many of them Nebraskans. Among these is Justice Brennan, the newly appointed judge of the Supreme Court who is the able Catholic lawyer and jurist direct from the supreme court of New Jersey.

I believe Ike will win. I recently attended a sale where a straw vote or poll was taken in a normally Democratic county. It resulted in a vote of five for Stevenson and 16 for Eisenhower.

Foreign Policy

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Both the editor of The Star and Marquis Childs seem to me remarkably restrained in their criticism of the administration's foreign policy. We well remember the brave words of the Republican campaign four years ago: "We shall not be satisfied with the status quo. We shall proceed to roll back the iron curtain." Now, when the iron curtain threatens to roll back of its own accord and with no effort on our part, we find the administration handling the whole business in a timorous, uncertain way aimed to attract the largest blocks of votes in the election rather than establishing the vigorous foreign policy we were promised.

This Polish business is the biggest thing since Tito broke with Moscow. The Kremlin can't afford to allow them to get away with it and we can't expect them to do so peaceably. If Polish independence were firmly established, East Germany would follow inevitably. All the satellites would soon come unstuck. It would be the greatest victory for the free world and the greatest defeat for Moscow since the success of the Marshall Plan.

Who is encouraging it? China's Mao Tze-Tung and Tito have spoken up loud and clear. Where, oh where is Roderick Dhu Dulles? Where is the imaginative new foreign policy? Dulles speaks out for the administration in a TV broadcast and the best he can do is to say in soothing terms that we will not send troops to Poland. Who asked us to? But can't we speak an encouraging word for the freedom and independence of the great Polish people? We have not done so. We have left that to the Communist powers. Can't we offer economic help? Why deny Tito more liberal aid instead of cutting it down?

The Republican theme song, "Peace, Peace," must not be disturbed. The voters might wake up.

Blowing Dust

We have a very deep regard for Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton of Hastings. He was visiting his fellow Nebraskans Wednesday. The high winds and blowing dust could have been no novelty to him. Mr. Seaton could look back upon Nebraska during the years of drought and dust storms in the 'thirties.

The dust storms were bad enough then.

They are worse today. They are worse today because the average Nebraska farm family has a much greater investment in land and equipment now than the farm family back in the 'thirties had.

Both at Hastings and at the airport in Lincoln Secretary Seaton devoted time to directing attention to what he called small projects legislation adopted under Eisenhower leadership, and signed by the President. We have no quarrel with it but the small projects law to which Mr. Seaton directs attention is a poor substitute for the larger dam and the larger reservoir where the larger dam is feasible. A 5,000 acre-feet pool does not provide storage for a municipality in time of drought, does not furnish water for irrigation in time of drought, and in some of the southwestern plains area disappears as the result of the evaporation loss, due to the hot sun.

In Nebraska we needed stream storage wherever feasible and possible. The small projects law is no substitute for genuine storage on a large scale if this state is to stabilize its economy through a substantially expanded irrigation program.

No Sure Prosperity Index

Nebraska, together with Kentucky and Colorado, were the three exceptions cited by the Department of Agriculuture when it noted this week that the boom in farm land prices is continuing.

The department saw an overall rise of 3 per cent in land prices between July 1, 1955 and July 1, 1956. But Nebraska, meanwhile, experienced a 3 per cent drop.

A rise in farm land prices can induce a general feeling of agricultural prosperity and in the minds of the uninformed or the disinterested deflate the complaints of the farm areas of hard times. For that reason the subject requires more detailed inspection.

A protracted even though not radical period of inflation readjusts prices upward as dollar values shrink. In this sense a true picture of farm land prices is not complete without examination in the presence of inflation ratios and in comparison with price rises on other purchasable things. Likewise, the desire of operating farmers to remain in business even during periods of deficit limits the number of farms for sale in respect to the purchasing money that may be ready and willing to buy—generally surplus money gained from sources other than farming.

The true criterion of land values is based on the return of the farming operation and no inflationary quotation or momentary shortage of farms for sale provide a reliable measure of farm values. But one thing is certain. A protracted period of farm operation losses ultimately dumps farms on the market and then prices drop generally to some level equal to or below the property's true earning power. Any effort to read prosperity into transient land prices based on inflation and unsatisfied buying demand is an adventure no realistic farm operator dares engage in.

Their Election Day

Currently the international news is tense with reports of uprisings in Poland and Hungary, of falling Red regimes and rising leaders, proposing greater measures of freedom for their countries.

We can leave it to the pundits to discuss the geo-political significance of these upheavals and to the calendar to develop the impact they will have upon us, Russia, the world and peace—a formidable subject to say the least.

It is timely to point out at this juncture that Poland and Hungary have had an election day—the only kind people in totalitarian countries or in totalitarian satellites can have. Such, perforce, are held at the risk of life, without the guarantee that the decisions of the people will be honored and scheduled only by conditions reaching such a point that further living without change is unendurable

By contrast the United States is proceeding toward the day of its quadrennial presidential election in democratic style. The date is dependable; the people's decision will be carried out. Issues are being debated with spirit. The presence of real candidates and truly contrasting philosophies of government assure real popular choice. No one thinks of November 6 as the day when blood will run in the gutters and violence rule in the streets. And no one countenances the thought of reprisals by the rejected party.

We do not doubt but that the Poles and Hungarians attach more importance to these days they have used to effect a change of administration than do the free, sovereign and privileged American voters and it cannot be gainsaid that they are taking mortal risks by voicing their wishes. But we will still always take democracy's type of election day and will rejoice when such people as reside in Poland and Hungary and all of the other places where self-expression is a crime can go to their polls like we do and in peace, honor and respect participate in the running of their countries.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It would be a brash editor here in America who would venture out on the limb far enough to hail developments in Poland and Hungary as in the interest of the free nations of the world. We simply do not know. No matter how diligently an editor may have followed the news in recent months, he lacks the information so necessary to intelligent understanding in the rise of a new dictatorship in Poland and what understandable hope the free nations may attach to the break between satellite Poland and Moscow.

★

Very much in the news is Poland's Gomulka as the anti-Stalinist leader of Poland's Communist government. Before we of the West throw our hats too high in the air over his emergence, writes Bob Considine, let it be remembered that he is redder than a herring and a sworn enemy of freedom everywhere, especially in Poland. Gomulka, we are told, worked for the underground in World War II and ruthlessly helped purge all Polish leaders who represented freedom before the Russian Communists in turn purged him. Latest dispatches from Hungary indicated that the government of the restored Nagy had turned to Russian forces in order to put down an uprising by Hungarian underground forces in the border mountain areas of Hungary. What do we gain, the thoughtful American will ask himself. We trade one dictator for another. We swap one enemy of freedom for a second. We exchange one Communist for another Communist. In the dispatches from Warsaw, we are told not to interfere in Polish affairs, and in the next breath it is said that the new regime has enlisted the services of a third nation to determine whether the new Poland can procure economic aid from the United States without strings attached.

Campaigning in Illinois Wednesday, Vice President Nixon was critical of Adlai Stevenson because he said the Democratic candidate instead of directing his fire at Russia had overlooked the fact that Russia had turned a deaf ear to 15 proposals, looking towards peace, made by the Eisenhower administration. It may be that secrecy is a requisite of diplomacy today but in recent months we have heard so much about the American people enjoying peace and prosperity that it is confusing to find the vice president telling an audience that 15 peace proposals by the President have been turned back by the Russians.

★

One of the bolder comments on Poland's new Reds suggests that if the satellite nations are to be run by Tito-type regimes, playing both the East and West sides of the international street, it is because they find it profitable, but "if a showdown should come, there is little doubt that the Communist regime will fight on the side of the Communist world," this commentary concludes. If such a conclusion is soundly rooted, then all there is to be said is that Uncle Sam is in a bad way. We can deal with a single dictator dedicated to a program of Communism more easily than we can with half a dozen. There would be a new danger arising in Poland, Hungary, and Yugoslavia, then, with a half a dozen little "strong" men. It is these smaller nations, actually, if past experience is worth anything, that turn out to be the spawning ground of global conflict. It was true in World War I—true in World War II—and if what starts out as a small war develops slowly into a major global conflict as World War III, then history will be only repeating itself. It was Austria-Hungary's attack on tiny Serbia which lighted the spark in 1914. It was Hitler's attack upon Poland that in time brought most of Europe and Asia to war. So for the time being, we hold our breath and hope for the best in this rapidly changing world that has been screened for us for years by the Iron Curtain.

Much as we want peace, we think the American people are becoming a bit weary of extending economic aid to nations which exchange one dictator for another—one Communist for a second—one totalitarian leader for another—and all of them basically dedicated to Communism.

New Tradition

Vice President Richard Nixon, who never misses a political bet, is frowning on appearing in luxury automobiles while he is out before the public campaigning. For the purpose of re-election he is willing to undergo hardships like any other citizen, such as being jounced around in some $4,500 automobile.

We presume that is setting a new political pattern. Men used to be considered especially deserving if they could say they grew up in a log cabin. Nebraska provided a deviation not of principle but of properties. Here it was a sod house and a daily fare of boiled potatoes. That elected a lot of fellows who otherwise had no claim on or qualification for public service.

Perhaps, henceforth, the office will go to the man who can prove he spent his boyhood in used cars. Most of us would go for that, but we are more interested in still seeing him cart around in them after his period of public service is over.

Be An Engineer

There have been a world of reasons advanced why engineering is the proper course to take in school nowadays. But there has been no better one advanced than the one recently exemplified at Louisville, Ky. A traffic officer hauled in an engineer and charged him with speeding at the rate of 80 miles an hour—an offense subject to an $85 fine. But the engineer whipped out his slide rule and with a few calculations informed the judge that with the facts as given the officer would have had to drive his car 140 miles per hour in order to make the catch which according to the engineer's handbook was much faster than the patrol car could travel. The judge dismissed the case.

Powell Deal Involved Favor

WASHINGTON — Part of the reported deal between the Eisenhower administration and Negro Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem, Democrat, who has just declared for Ike, is now leaking out.

Part of the deal was the release of Powell's secretary, Hattie Dodson, from a federal penitentiary. The records of Alderson, W.Va., women's federal reformatory show that she was released on October 17, one day before Congressman Powell gave his New York press conference detailing the reasons for his political switch.

Mrs. Dodson was convicted of income tax evasion after paying salary kickbacks to Powell. In the case of three other congressmen exposed by this column for taking salary kickbacks, it was they who were convicted, not their secretaries.

In this case, however, Mrs. Dodson refused to testify against Congressman Powell. Time after time she was asked about Powell's role in taking kickbacks. But over and over again she refused to implicate Powell. Over and over she claimed the kickbacks were her own fault.

Since a congressman's staff is paid out of federal funds, by all the taxpayers, he is not permitted to take any part of it back for himself.

Mrs. Dodson was sentenced to jail for seven months on July 16.

FOREIGN AID MAY BLOW UP

A very hush-hush, vitally important report on foreign aid is due to be submitted to the National Security Council. It is already the topic of unhappy backstage debate and will cause even more unhappiness if such Republican leaders as Senators Knowland of California and Bridges of New Hampshire demand its publication.

The secret report, prepared by Herbert Prochnow, deputy undersecretary of state for Economic Affairs, says more critical things about the Republican administration of foreign aid than the Democrats ever said about it.

Prochnow charges that money and materials have been "wasted, misdirected or misguided" in ten key countries. Some of these countries, including Turkey, are on the verge of bankruptcy, and our inefficient policies haven't helped matters. The report describes the situation as "extremely alarming."

Though many Republicans criticized foreign aid under the Democrats, President Eisenhower not only has continued it, but this year asked Congress to increase it. This caused vigorous debate in Congress, with the opposition coming from both political parties.

Prochnow, meanwhile, has tendered his resignation. The report is so hot and the pressure on him to suppress it so great that he decided to go back to Chicago. As a good Republican, however, he dated his resignation November 15 so no trouble would break before the election.

The report will be stamped "top secret."

Fabulous Prize To Race Winner

NEW YORK — If 15 two-year-old animals show up at the starting line Saturday at Garden State horse yard, for a race ingeniously called "The Garden State," the ensuing contest at one mile and a sixteenth will be worth a numbing $311,210.

It is, of course, the richest race in the world. Sportswriters assembled by track agent Everett Clay at Leone's restaurant the other day, to hear from two people who had paid a $10,000 supplementary entry fee just to get their nags in the gallop, eyed the various pots at stake: the winner to get $176,665, the runner-up $62,242, the show horse $41,561 and the so-called "out of the money" or fourth horse $16,560.

"I think I'll enter it myself," a stout and venal writer said after three pre-luncheon martinis. Over the next two hours he ate whatever Gene Leone spread before him. It was one of Gene's lighter lunches: lobster, baked oysters, baloney, shrimp, melon and prosciutto, cheese and fruit, for appetizers, then, on option, minestrone, fettuccini, steak, whole pheasants, prescribed vegetables, salad, ice cream and expresso. The wine was a lustrous rubicon ruby from 1953.

"Maybe next year," the now stouter writer gasped as afternoon waned and eye glazed. He left, carrying more weight than Exterminator lifted and ran with in the Independence and the Saratoga handicaps in 1922.

All the good stables have sent their best youngsters to "the Garden State," an indication perhaps that these honored owners are not necessarily in the sport for sport alone. The silks of George Widener, Peter A. B. Widener, Mrs. Gene Markey of Calumet, Liz Whitney of Llangollen farm, Rex Ellsworth of Swaps, and the rich folk of the Wheatley barn have been attracted to this commerce. So have some of the poorer stables, if there is such a thing as a poor racing stable.

Trainer Milt Rieser, one of those whose people have gotten up a $10,000 grunt to become eligible for one of the big pots of gold at the end of Saturday's run, was at the luncheon at Leone's. He trains a "poor stable" colt named Federal Hill, named for the rise of ground which holds the pleasant house which in 1853 inspired a man named Stephen Collins Foster, who lived in such places at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and New York, to write a little number called "My Old Kentucky Home."

Mr. Rieser is no man to let the queen's tongue get in the way of his enthusiasm for his colt, who has come to fame after a lowly beginning which saw him run uncoveted in a $7,000 claiming race.

"That horse can't do nothing but run," ejaculated Mr. Rieser, grown old, plump and bald in The Game. "You ask me does he tend to stop? That horse don't show none no time he runs. Does he breathe hard? That horse won't blow a match out after a race. I tell you, you better get some tickets on him."

Interest Rising In H-Bomb Debate

NEW YORK—The issue of the menace to survival in unbridled testing of the H-bomb has been joined.

It will dominate the remaining two weeks of the campaign. Adlai Stevenson now has no choice but to ride it and, indeed, he wants no other.

He believes wholly in what he says; he has been saying it since last spring in a speech here to the nation's editors before the primaries had made his nomination for President probable.

In contrast to the timidity of his immediate staff, he is getting encouragement from elected officials who have proved their ability in hardfought campaigns to reach the voter.

His vice presidential candidate, Senator Estes Kefauver, backed him immediately and strongly. So have Senators Albert Gore and Hubert H. Humphrey, who are spending all their days on the stump in various parts of the country.

They report that they receive ovations when they describe the questions raised by H-bomb tests and attack President Eisenhower for being indifferent or attempting to stifle discussion.

The New York Times mentioned one such ovation received by Gore at a campaign luncheon for the Democratic chairmen of faction-ridden Kentucky, attended by 600 persons. Gore is a member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

☆ ☆ ☆

Over the telephone Gore described what he has been saying in Kentucky, Minnesota, California, Tennessee and elsewhere. The reaction, he said, has convinced him that the issue was touching people more nearly than politicians had dreamed of.

Gore said he begins by explaining that he is not a scientist, that he talks from no special knowledge, that he does not pretend to know "at what level of poisonous radio strontium cancer of the bone and blood are apt to set in. Neither do I propose to know what degree of contamination and exposure people can stand without endangering their capacity to have normal, healthy children."

Then he reads the tenetics section of a report from "Our Top Scientists" (The National Science Foundation) which he says is concurred in by Great Britain's top scientists (The United Medical Council).

Their language is unemotional, but the content is fearsome. Gore finds that his listeners, especially women, follow them closely. A sample:

"The inheritance mechanism is by far the most sensitive to radiation of any biological system. Any radiation which reaches the reproductive cells causes mutations (changes in the materials governing heredity) that are passed on to succeeding generations. Human gene mutations which produce observable effects are believed to be universally harmful . . . the more radiation, the more mutations . . . the harm is cumulative."

Translated, this is an elemental threat. If the men who make it did not believe it, they would be monsters themselves.

Time For Good Will

Pasadena, Calif.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Gov. Adlai Stevenson's proposal to discontinue H-bomb tests has found a strong echo among scientists in this country, and no doubt all over the world. They are of the opinion that the issue of nuclear bomb tests is not simply a technical one, to be decided by military weapons experts. Our bomb test performances have as a prime effect the spread of fear and hatred among other nations who feel threatened by those tests. They are therefore of no help in achieving trust and peace.

Now is the time to build international good will and understanding and to make some real effort to make peace possible, instead of taking calculated risks of war which only provoke the rise of nationalistic dictators. The issue before this generation is not one of short-range expediency in power politics — it is rather the challenge of conscience in regard to whether or not we prepare to lend our hands to the universal holocaust which another world war would bring.

That, at least, is the conclusion which I reached when the Nazis put me in prison camp for my refusal to design weapons for them.

Fine Phrases

The economic injustice of such a situation is too utter for any explanation by either Republican or Democratic wheel horses.

Under these circumstances, if I were a farmer's wife in Nebraska I would vote to replace the responsible public payrollees. For too many months they have seemed solely and only concerned over ways and means of raising their own salaries. Certainly any thought or concern for the average taxpayer has been purely incidental.

Against Them All

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The November election isn't far off, and the voters of this state should vote only for candidates running for office. It would be a good thing if they voted against all of the special things. We don't need any of them, especially the tax on the farmer's grain that he has on March 1. If carried, it would mean setting up a special commission to tell the farmers what to do. The egg law is a flop, according to the last reports.

The Promises

Stanton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: President Eisenhower is making many promises of what his second administration will accomplish in case he is re-elected and is given a Republican Congress. Vice President Dick is going so far as to tell us the word "poverty" will be eliminated from the dictionary. In his first campaign speech, Candidate Eisenhower stated he would cut federal taxes by $40 billion. In his second speech he said he would reduce it $20 billion. In his third speech, he would reduce it $10 billion, standing pat on this. We all know how the budget is now.

He promised the farmers 90 and 100 per cent parity, and agriculture finished up getting the soil bank. Then there was the give-away of Tidelands oil to private interests after the Supreme Court rendered a decision that the mineral rights belong to the people. Next, Dixon-Yates was told to go ahead with their power deal, but this looked too raw and he reversed himself. And Hells Canyon was turned over to the Idaho Power Company.

Stevenson turned down the support of Texas, when he said he would not turn lands over to private interests in the Tidelands oil matter. Ike was approached and replied the other way. Now our schools are short a large amount of funds.

Same Position

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The letter from "Oldster In Years Only" (October 22 Star) made a great impression on me. I appreciated her letter for I am practically in the same position.

If she reads this, I wish she would call me at 4-2526. I would like to talk to her and we might be able to help each other.

The Last Straw

Upland, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have been wondering how soon the GOP would give boot service to Phil Weaver for daring to vote his own convictions for Nebraska interests and thereby condemning the Ike-Benson-Seaton party line.

After 70 years experience—20 years as a Republican — I have become convinced that no Republican's word is worth a snowball in August. And after watching Phil Weaver on TV Monday evening, I give up. You would think that Curtis, Miller, Marvel, Anderson and some others would have become so calloused by this time that they could look at you when they mention integrity and how bright the farmer's outlook is. No wonder Curtis and Phil Weaver talked out of their ears. They must have been wondering if some oil man's ghost was lurking somewhere in the room. It was old stuff for Curtis and Miller, but Weaver was very much ill at ease.

Ike almost blew his top that Stevenson would try to deal with Russia. Who was it that turned 150,000 soldiers loose to fight us again in Indochina and said it was the best deal he could get and that he made the deal in good faith? And the war was to stop aggression and free East Germany, Poland, etc.

FAY L. DANKER

Ord, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: One thing that people who say Ike won't be re-elected ignore is the fact that the women will vote for Ike. They like Ike because he got us out of the Korean war and kept us out of any wars. They also ignore the fact that he is President now and that he has appointed some good men to office, many of them Nebraskans. Among these is Justice Brennan, the newly appointed judge of the Supreme Court who is the able Catholic lawyer and jurist direct from the supreme court of New Jersey.

I believe Ike will win. I recently attended a sale where a straw vote or poll was taken in a normally Democratic county. It resulted in a vote of five for Stevenson and 16 for Eisenhower.

CLARENCE M. DAVIS

Foreign Policy

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Both the editor of The Star and Marquis Childs seem to me remarkably restrained in their criticism of the administration's foreign policy. We well remember the brave words of the Republican campaign four years ago: "We shall not be satisfied with the status quo. We shall proceed to roll back the iron curtain." Now, when the iron curtain threatens to roll back of its own accord and with no effort on our part, we find the administration handling the whole business in a timorous, uncertain way aimed to attract the largest blocks of votes in the election rather than establishing the vigorous foreign policy we were promised.

This Polish business is the biggest thing since Tito broke with Moscow. The Kremlin can't afford to allow them to get away with it and we can't expect them to do so peaceably. If Polish independence were firmly established, East Germany would follow inevitably. All the satellites would soon come unstuck. It would be the greatest victory for the free world and the greatest defeat for Moscow since the success of the Marshall Plan.

Who is encouraging it? China's Mao Tze-Tung and Tito have spoken up loud and clear. Where, oh where is Roderick Dhu Dulles? Where is the imaginative new foreign policy? Dulles speaks out for the administration in a TV broadcast and the best he can do is to say in soothing terms that we will not send troops to Poland. Who asked us to? But can't we speak an encouraging word for the freedom and independence of the great Polish people? We have not done so. We have left that to the Communist powers. Can't we offer economic help? Why deny Tito more liberal aid instead of cutting it down?

The Republican theme song, "Peace, Peace," must not be disturbed. The voters might wake up.

'TON-MILE TAX WOULD LIGHTEN PROPERTY TAX BURDEN'—CROSBY

Former Gov. Robert B. Crosby predicted Wednesday adoption of the ton-mile tax amendment would result in a lightening of the property tax burden.

Crosby is attorney for the Committee for Better Roads Through Fair Taxation, sponsoring group of the ton-mile proposal.

He said that 42 per cent of the revenue from the ton-mile tax will go to counties and towns. Many counties, he said, still levy property taxes for county road purposes.

The former governor spoke before the Lincoln Board of Realtors.

"Inevitably farm and town real estate owners will enjoy some relief in taxes if the huge commercial trucks can be made to pay their share of highway costs," Crosby said.

He said the truckers have made the "preposterous charge" that the next Legislature mighty possibly appropriate from property taxes for the administration of the weight-distance law.

"This suggestion is ridiculous," Crosby said. He noted that Section 12 of the proposed law specifically says that its revenue shall be distributed in the same manner as the gas tax fund.

The gas tax fund is administered entirely from its own proceeds, Crosby said, without any property tax appropriation whatsoever. As a matter of fact, Crosby concluded, the first requirement on the state treasurer is that he pay all administration costs from the proceeds of the gas tax fund.

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

Well, the new SS Mariposa sails tomorrow. And so I shouldn't appear ignorant if I ever got to Tahiti, I have been reading the old-time travlel writers.

They put out some torrid prose. And most of the time I was reading it, I was thinking "What a way to earn a living!"

I hope things have settled down a bit. I do not think I could get such material in the papers today.

☆ ☆ ☆

The main writers were Melville and Captain Cook and a French cat who called himself Loti. (This was not his square name but he became an Admiral. And an Admiral cannot be too careful what he writes.)

As I get it, every time a ship would pull into a South Sea island, the native chicks swam out to the ship like a batch of Marilyn Monroe calendars.

For some reason they were daffy over fishhooks. If you had tried to run them over to a little specialty shop for mink, they would have died laughing.

But if you had run them into a sporting goods store — Wow!

Captain Cook made three voyages to Tahiti.

Whenever he was around the South Seas, the Captain would look over the charts and call in the navigator.

"Was that six or seven fathoms?" he would say. "Since we are opening up this country for the tourist trade, we must be accurate. Or every squarehead skipper will be aground and blaming it on the charts.

"Let us run back and heave the lead again to be sure. And while you are on your feet, run down to the ship's store and draw me a case of fishhooks."

☆ ☆ ☆

When the crew made a liberty all the native ladies would stand on the beach and throw fruit at them. Throwing fruit indicated interest. It was sticky but interesting.

Not too long ago, Frederick O'Brien was in Tahiti to check this action. He was there when an Argentine training ship arrived and was truly amazed at the enthusiasm.

"A madness then possessed the girls of Tahiti. Forsaking their old loves or those at the moment, they threw themselves into the arms of the visitors, determined on conquests. They poured in from the country to share in the love-making."

That was Boat Day!

I have made a number of arrivals in tropical ports. But nothing like this ever happened to me.

Once in Amapala in Honduras, a fish-seller threw a dead fish at me while we were arguing over the price. And once in a Mexican port, a pig swam out to the ship. Though I never knew why for he was snacked off by a fat shark before he could get aboard and make an explanation.

The ladies I have met in tropical ports have been largely disappointing.

When I was shining brass and in other ways aiding America's overseas commerce, I met a number of tropical belles. Most of them acted so sleepy they could hardly get out on the dance floor.

We owe our teachers a debt of gratitude . . .

Our country's real wealth is neither in Washington nor in Fort Knox. It is in our youth!

In this great nation, where education is the right of all rather than the privilege for the few, our teachers share in influence with home and church. With patient devotion, they develop our most precious national resources . . . our young people . . . guiding them to knowledge and skills that promise us a brighter future.

So let us pledge ourselves to repay . . . with constant interest . . . that debt we owe our teachers. Let us all join in a salute to them, and to all the member's of our state's school system.

The future rests securely in their capable hands.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

Well, the new SS Mariposa sails tomorrow. And so I shouldn't appear ignorant if I ever got to Tahiti, I have been reading the old-time travlel writers.

They put out some torrid prose. And most of the time I was reading it, I was thinking "What a way to earn a living!"

I hope things have settled down a bit. I do not think I could get such material in the papers today.

☆ ☆ ☆

The main writers were Melville and Captain Cook and a French cat who called himself Loti. (This was not his square name but he became an Admiral. And an Admiral cannot be too careful what he writes.)

As I get it, every time a ship would pull into a South Sea island, the native chicks swam out to the ship like a batch of Marilyn Monroe calendars.

For some reason they were daffy over fishhooks. If you had tried to run them over to a little specialty shop for mink, they would have died laughing.

But if you had run them into a sporting goods store — Wow!

Captain Cook made three voyages to Tahiti.

Whenever he was around the South Seas, the Captain would look over the charts and call in the navigator.

"Was that six or seven fathoms?" he would say. "Since we are opening up this country for the tourist trade, we must be accurate. Or every squarehead skipper will be aground and blaming it on the charts.

"Let us run back and heave the lead again to be sure. And while you are on your feet, run down to the ship's store and draw me a case of fishhooks."

☆ ☆ ☆

When the crew made a liberty all the native ladies would stand on the beach and throw fruit at them. Throwing fruit indicated interest. It was sticky but interesting.

Not too long ago, Frederick O'Brien was in Tahiti to check this action. He was there when an Argentine training ship arrived and was truly amazed at the enthusiasm.

"A madness then possessed the girls of Tahiti. Forsaking their old loves or those at the moment, they threw themselves into the arms of the visitors, determined on conquests. They poured in from the country to share in the love-making."

That was Boat Day!

I have made a number of arrivals in tropical ports. But nothing like this ever happened to me.

Once in Amapala in Honduras, a fish-seller threw a dead fish at me while we were arguing over the price. And once in a Mexican port, a pig swam out to the ship. Though I never knew why for he was snacked off by a fat shark before he could get aboard and make an explanation.

The ladies I have met in tropical ports have been largely disappointing.

When I was shining brass and in other ways aiding America's overseas commerce, I met a number of tropical belles. Most of them acted so sleepy they could hardly get out on the dance floor.

DEDICATION SUNDAY OF SCOUT RESERVATION NEAR HUMBOLDT

The new Cornhusker Council Boy Scout Reservation will be formally dedicated Sunday at 2:30 p.m. The camp is located 10 miles south of Humboldt.

Several hundred Scouters and their friends are expected to attend the dedication ceremonies and view the camp.

Five hundred Boy Scouts and Explorers from the 16-county area of the Council will hold a "jamboree-camporee" at the camp starting Friday afternoon and running through Sunday.

The public is invited to the Saturday night campfire program and to Sunday church services which will precede the afternoon program.

Scout troops will demonstrate Scouting skills in the early afternoon. Leo Hitt, president of the Cornhusker Council, and Ralph Slocum, chairman of the camping and activities committee, will make the formal dedicatory addresses beginning at 2:30 p.m.

The camp area covers 320 acres of land, most of which is heavily wooded. More than 800 Scouts camped there this summer and hundreds of others have camped during the week and on weekends.

Plans for next summer indicate that more than 1,200 campers will make use of the camp during the eight weeks of regular summer camping activities.

Nebraskans Urged To Have Diabetes Tests Made Soon

The Nebraska State Medical Association is urging every citizen to go to his family physician and have a diabetes test made during Diabetes Detection Week Nov. 11-17.

The medical association said there are more than one million diabetic persons living normal lives today because they are being helped by their doctor to manage their own illness.

Until recent years, the association said, diabetes was almost always a fatal illness. Today it need not be if the person is found and his illness treated early, it said.

Danger Signals

Diabetes is a disease which affects a person's ability to utilize certain kinds of food in a normal way. Some of the danger signals which point to the existence of a diabetic individual are excessive thirst, excessive urination, loss of weight, intense itching, slow healing of cuts and bruises, excessive hunger, changing in vision, easy tiring and pain in the extremities.

It was pointed out, however, there are times when in a mild case of diabetes the symptoms are not so prominent. Only a few of the usual symptoms may be present, the association said. If such a person is found in these early stages, he can be restored to a useful life in his community in a short time.

CINCINNATI (AP) — An expert says the odds are 783,358 to 1 against it but the names of a man and his wife were drawn consecutively here for jury duty.

The names drawn from among 391,604 electors were those of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Lewis.

An assistant professor of mathematics at the University of Cincinnati said the odds were 783,358 against such a thing happening.

"The Nebraska Legislative Council Highway Study Committee Has Made It Easy For You to Make A Choice . . ." — Omaha World-Herald, September 15, 1956

EITHER VOTE FOR THE TON-MILE TAX OR LET THE 1956 LEGISLATURE INCREASE THE GAS TAX AND MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSE FEES.

Said One Committee Member: "We've got to raise more money to match the greatly increased amounts of Federal Aid Highway Funds. It's up to the voters to decide how they want this money to be raised."

BUT REGARDLESS OF THIS YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR THE TON-MILE TAX BECAUSE:

- . . . It is a fair and just tax. Highways SHOULD BE paid for by those who use them—and the amount should be in proportion to their use.
- . . . The Ton-Mile Tax is the BEST way to make thousands of foreign trucks pay a fair share for the roads which they pound to pieces.
- . . . Nebraska Needs Roads and We must Match Federal Funds to Get Our Share.
- . . . An increase in small truck licenses would severely damage all small truckers who carry a large percentage of the state's trucking.
- . . . Now—Automobiles, farm and local trucks pay over 90% of the gas tax, and 80% of the registration fees, the big trucks pay about 10% of the gas tax and 20% of the license fees and get nearly 50% of the use of the highways on a weight-distance basis.
- . . . The Ton-Mile Tax is Producing Much Needed Highway Revenue in Colorado, Oregon, Idaho, Ohio and New York. Almost half of the states have a weight-distance Tax. WHY NOT NEBRASKA?

HST Sees 'Grave Danger' With GOP

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (INS) — Former President Harry S. Truman declared at a political rally in Salt Lake City Wednesday night that four more years of Republican policy would put the nation in grave danger.

Truman carried his private campaign in behalf of the Democratic presidential ticket into Salt Lake City where he arrived earlier during a snowstorm.

While passing through Denver, Truman denied he had predicted that Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson could not win in the November election. He said:

"I never said he couldn't win. I said he couldn't win without my help and I am giving it to him."

'Strenuous'

The "help" Truman said he was giving the Democratic ticket was illustrated in his Salt Lake City speech in which he termed Stevenson and his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), best able to meet the "strenuous demands of our time." Truman added:

"It is clear that we cannot continue under the policies of the Republican administration for the next four years without getting into grave danger.

"Four more years of part-time responsibility in the White House —four more years of Republican indifference to the needs of the people — four more years of turning our public affairs over to the management of big business — and we would be in danger."

Small Business

Truman listed seven points for which he said the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket is fighting. They are, he said:

1. To save the small businessman.
2. To save the farmers and the farm homes of America.
3. To save the rights of labor.
4. To prevent the fiscal and monetary policies of the U. S. from being dictated by the big bankers for their own use and benefit.
5. To save the national resources of the country.
6. To save our national defense.
7. To save our alliances with other free nations.

No Comment

DENVER (AP) — Former President Harry Truman declined to comment on the controversy surrounding hydrogen bomb tests.

"I've made no comment," he said in response to a news conference question during a seven-hour stop in Denver. "I'm supporting the Democratic nominee for President. That's all I'll say on that subject."

Truman said President Eisenhower recently claimed his administration has brought 50 anti-trust suits. Truman said not a single one has come to trial and added:

"Small business is still in the bankruptcy courts."

The outlook for Democrats at the November election, Truman said, is encouraging. He predicted election of Adlai Stevenson as president and said Democrats would have greater congressional majorities than they do now.

HST Sees 'Grave Danger' With GOP

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (INS) — Former President Harry S. Truman declared at a political rally in Salt Lake City Wednesday night that four more years of Republican policy would put the nation in grave danger.

Truman carried his private campaign in behalf of the Democratic presidential ticket into Salt Lake City where he arrived earlier during a snowstorm.

While passing through Denver, Truman denied he had predicted that Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson could hot win in the November election. He said:

"I never said he couldn't win. I said he couldn't win without my help and I am giving it to him."

Additional Irrigation Sought For Nebraska

Miller Will Request Funds For Ainsworth, Farwell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will be asked next session to provide initial construction funds for the Ainsworth and Farwell Irrigations Projects in Nebraska, Rep. A. L. Miller (R Neb) said Wednesday.

Miller, who is in Nebraska campaigning for re - election, passed this word along to his aides here.

He said he has been assured by the Interior Department that the budget for the year beginning next July 1 will include allocations for these projects.

The Ainsworth Unit would irrigate 24,000 acres in Brown County at a construction cost of about 26 million dollars. Farwell would irrigate 52,000 acres in Sherman and Howard Counties and would cost about 31 million dollars.

Miller said he also plans to reintroduce bills to authorize a flood control plan for the Gering Valley and construction of the Mid State Reclamation District.

Gering Plan Vetoed

Gering Valley was authorized by Congress last year. However, it was included in the omnibus flood control authorization bill which President Eisenhower vetoed. The President said he vetoed the bill because it included many projects which had not been approved by the Budget Bureau.

Miller has offered several bills in recent years for the Mid State Project but the House Interior Committee never acted on them because Mid - State could not obtain a favorable report from the Department of the Interior.

Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred Aandahl visited the area last summer however, and expressed approval of the general plan. Engineers for Mid - State Interior and a private firm are now trying to work out plans that would suit both Mid - State and the government.

Paul Small Enters Innocent Plea To Theft Of Jewelry

OMAHA (AP)—Paul R. Small of Omaha has pleaded innocent to the Mrs. Margaret Kellogg jewel robbery here.

Small entered his plea at an arraignment before District Judge L. Ross Newkirk. Small has been in county jail since July 5 when Bondsman L. S. (Bob) Cornett decided he didn't want to continue a $15,000 bond for Small.

Judge Newkirk refused Small's application to have his bond cut from $15,000 to $10,000.

Two Sentenced To Pen On Forgery Charges

Two men were sentenced to 18 months in the Penitentiary on forgery charges in Lancaster District Court.

Judd Stennett, 52, of Shenandoah, Ia., and Harold Lee Lewis, 48, of Omaha, had both pleaded guilty when arraigned as co-defendants in a Sept. 20 forgery of a $12.50 check on a Lincoln bank.

Judge John L. Folk pronounced sentence.

"Feeling Fit as a Fiddle? Dr. Walter C. Alvarez' column, 'Medical Round up', appearing in the 'Sunday Journal and Star' gives sound advice on how to keep healthy.

Hall To Speak At Annual AP Papers Meet

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Editors and publishers will convene in North Platte Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 for the Nebraska AP Newspapers Members annual meeting.

Sterling McCaw, managing editor of the Norfolk Daily News and chairman of the state organization Wednesday announced program details for the meeting, previously planned for October but postponed to the later date.

William Hall, director of the School of Journalism, University of Nebraska, will address a dinner for the news executives Nov. 30. Also on the evening's program is the showing of a film taken by Saul Pett, one of AP's outstanding reporters. The film "Assignment—Bottom of the World," was made by Pett when he accompanied the Byrd expedition to the South Pole last year. He was the only newsman to fly approximately over the South Pole.

Business sessions are scheduled for the next morning. Various phases of the AP news operation will be discussed.

Iron Pipe Kills Two-Year-Old

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Ronald Paul Seeley, 2½-year-old son of Mrs. Charlotte Seeley was fatally injured while playing in a swing.

An iron pipe suspended between two trees to support the swing gave way and struck him on the head. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Additional Irrigation Sought For Nebraska

Miller Will Request Funds For Ainsworth, Farwell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will be asked next session to provide initial construction funds for the Ainsworth and Farwell Irrigation Projects in Nebraska, Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) said Wednesday.

Miller, who is in Nebraska campaigning for re - election, passed this word along to his aides here.

He said he has been assured by the Interior Department that the budget for the year beginning next July 1 will include allocations for these projects.

The Ainsworth Unit would irrigate 34,000 acres in Brown County at a construction cost of about 26 million dollars. Farwell would irrigate 52,000 acres in Sherman and Howard Counties and would cost about 31 million dollars.

Miller said he also plans to reintroduce bills to authorize a flood control plan for the Gering Valley and construction of the Mid-State Reclamation District.

Gering Plan Vetoed

Gering Valley was authorized by Congress last year. However, it was included in the omnibus flood control authorization bill which President Eisenhower vetoed. The President said he vetoed the bill because it included many projects which had not been approved by the Budget Bureau.

Miller has offered several bills in recent years for the Mid-State Project but the House Interior Committee never acted on them because Mid - State could not obtain a favorable report from the Department of the Interior.

Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred Aandahl visited the area last summer, however, and expressed approval of the general plan. Engineers for Mid - State, Interior and a private firm are now trying to work out plans that would suit both Mid - State and the government.

Paul Small Enters Innocent Plea To Theft Of Jewelry

OMAHA (AP)—Paul R. Small of Omaha has pleaded innocent to the Mrs. Margaret Kellogg jewel robbery here.

Small entered his plea at an arraignment before District Judge L. Ross Newkirk. Small has been in county jail since July 5 when Bondsman L. S. (Bob) Cornett decided he didn't want to continue a $15,000 bond for Small.

Judge Newkirk refused Small's application to have his bond cut from $15,000 to $10,000.

Two Sentenced To Pen On Forgery Charges

Two men were sentenced to 18 months in the Penitentiary on forgery charges in Lancaster District Court.

Judd Stennett, 52, of Shenandoah, Ia., and Harold Lee Lewis, 46, of Omaha, had both pleaded guilty when arraigned as co-defendants in a Sept. 30 forgery of a $12.50 check on a Lincoln bank.

Judge John L. Folk pronounced sentence.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Editors and publishers will convene in North Platte Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 for the Nebraska AP Newspaper Members annual meeting.

William Hall, director of the School of Journalism, University of Nebraska, will address a dinner for the news executives Nov. 30. Also on the evening's program is the showing of a film taken by Saul Pett, one of AP's outstanding reporters. Nebraska Wheat Impresses Italian Group

Both the quality and quantity of Nebraska wheat greatly impressed the seven Italian wheat import delegates who toured the state during the past 10 days.

Before they left for Kansas Wednesday afternoon, they expressed the hope that Nebraska's dark red winter wheat will prove good enough to supplement durum in manufacture of high quality macaroni products.

Characteristics observed as they visited Nebraska farms, flour mills, the State Wheat show, grain companies and the University test plots lead them to hope Nebraska wheat will suit their needs.

Wheat samples will be sent back to Italy for further testing before a definite decision is made.

Market Deficiency

Italian macaroni product industries need 14 7 million bushels of durum or other wheat during the coming year A deficiency of durum on the world market means they must find another top quality wheat as a substitute to improve the quality of their macaroni products.

Before the team leaves the United States they will visit Kansas and Oklahoma to observe wheat quality in those states.

Chief of the delegation, Sabato Visco, who is director of the National nIstitute of Nutrition in Rome said the deficiency of good wheat is beginning to be felt just now when the consumption of macaroni products is increasing considerably all over the world.

The Italians explained that they are not interested in growing Nebraska varieties of wheat in Italy because of soil and climatic conditions. They are merely interested in buying top quality wheat for macaroni products.

Nebraska Wheat Impresses Italian Group

Both the quality and quantity of Nebraska wheat greatly impressed the seven Italian wheat import delegates who toured the state during the past 10 days.

Before they left for Kansas Wednesday afternoon, they expressed the hope that Nebraska's dark red winter wheat will prove good enough to supplement durum in manufacture of high quality macaroni products.

Characteristics observed as they visited Nebraska farms, flour mills, the State Wheat show, grain companies and the University test plots lead them to hope Nebraska wheat will suit their needs.

Wheat samples will be sent back to Italy for further testing before a definite decision is made.

Market Deficiency

Italian macaroni product industries need 14.7 million bushels of durum or other wheat during the coming year. A deficiency of durum on the world market means they must find another top quality wheat as a substitute to improve the quality of their macaroni products.

Before the team leaves the United States they will visit Kansas and Oklahoma to observe wheat quality in those states.

Chief of the delegation, Sabato Visco, who is director of the National nIstitute of Nutrition in Rome said the deficiency of good wheat is beginning to be felt just now when the consumption of macaroni products is increasing considerably all over the world.

The Italians explained that they are not interested in growing Nebraska varieties of wheat in Italy because of soil and climatic conditions. They are merely interested in buying top quality wheat for macaroni products.

STROMSBURG, Neb. (AP)—Kenny Toline had some right neighborly intentions toward his 6-year-old playmate Bobby Hollister, but like it so often happens, the grownups wouldn't co-operate.

North Platte Store Robbed; Three Held

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—The H. and H. Liquor store here was held up by two armed robbers and less than two hours later three men were picked up for investigation.

The description of the apparent getaway car furnished by a passer-by was responsible for the arrests, Lincoln County Sheriff George Howard said.

The two armed men entered the liquor store, locked the owners, Mary and Elmer Huffman, in the rest room and took $157.10 from the cash register.

They broke out and notified police and as the police car arrived a passer-by inquired about the reason and furnished a description of a car he had seen leave the scene and head south.

On the basis of his description McCook police picked up three men an hour and a half later. Howard identified the three as Russell Elmo Delaney, 32, Repressa, Calif; Robert S. Pierce, 25, and Robert Lee Young, 21, both of Sacramento, Calif. The men were returned to North Platte and held in the Lincoln County Jail. No charges have been filed.

Curtis Claims Demo Bosses Violating Law

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP) — Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) charged Wednesday that "Democratic bosses are spending union funds to elect Democratic candidates."

"This is not only in violation of law but is often done without the full knowledge of the members of the union, 40 per cent of whom are Republicans," Curtis said at a meeting of the Republican campaign caravan.

The Republicans visited Elwood, Curtis, McCook, Palisade, Imperial, Benkelman and Trenton on their itinerary Wednesday.

"I recently investigated a situation in Michigan while I was in that state," Sen. Curtis continued. "That particular union took money from their general fund amounting to 47½ cents for each of their 60,000 members, and transferred it for campaign purposes for local, state and national candidates. The executive board of the local took this action at the request of the Greater CIO Council. It was voted at a small membership meeting, the notice of which did not advise the members of the proposed action."

Seaton Predicts Growth For State, Aid To Poland

Seaton Greeted At Airport

Star Staff Writer

Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton of Nebraska predicted great things for the state Wednesday as he met with party faithful and the press at the Municipal Airport.

The secretary, who has risen fast in the Eisenhower Cabinet, also laid verbal scorn on the Democrats during his 6,000-mile tour of the Midwest and east coast.

Seaton, publisher of the Hastings Tribune and former state senator, also forecast United States help economically to Poland and Hungary, now torn with strife in a break-away from Moscow Control. The remark was during a press conference.

Party members from Lincoln met the secretary at the Municipal Airport in Lincoln after he planed in from Omaha. He took off immediately afterward for South Dakota. From there he goes to West Virginia and on to New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

Seaton told a press conference at the airport that Nebraska's underground water potential meant a bright future for the state. He said that the "Small Projects Act," conceived and "put into effect" by Eisenhower "marks the greatest step forward in Reclamation since 1902."

Projects approved under the act would involve 50-50 federal - local matching funds with the federal limit set at $5 million. The only approval needed is by the interior secretary, Seaton, said, which is himself.

The small projects act, Seaton said, will be especially helpful in developing small watershed projects. These previously have been by-passed by the Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation, he said, primarily because they are concerned with larger works.

1,000 Cases on File

Presently, there are close to 1,000 preliminary cases on file for projects planned under the new act, he said. The act also operates without federal control except for primary approval of the engineering aspects of the plans, Seaton added.

The secretary spoke out directly to statements in Salt Lake City this week by Sen. Estes Kefauver who said the administration had lowered reclamation to its lowest level in 25 years. Kefauver, according to Seaton, also said that only one reclamation start had been made under Eisenhower.

Seaton replied that the Reclamation Bureau is involved this year in 34 new reclamation starts and that the President has asked for and received $170 million dollars a year for reclamation projects.

The secretary hit out at Adlai Stevenson for advocating banning of H-bomb tests and for backing the idea of "banning the draft" which he said was improbably and unwise.

Seaton called for the election of Eisenhower and Nixon, noting he could see a "rising tide of strength for Dwight Eisenhower all over America." He could see progress in America, Seaton said, which was a "record of achievement" of the present administration.

He noted that former President Harry S. Truman had been more critical of Stevenson than the Republicans.

The secretary said "We have a record of advancement, no scandals, no war in Korea and Indo-China." He credited Eisenhower with stopping the Korean fighting and predicted a future peace with Eisenhower.

On possible aid to Poland and Hungary, Seaton said there are three factors evident. The United States, he said, is committed to do everything "proper we can" to help such countries as Yugoslavia which have broken away from direct control of Moscow.

He denied the U.S. was in direct intervention but was applying economic pressures to the Soviet Union which had telling effects. These included the membership in NATO and SEATO.

Russia Adds More Bloodshed To Its Historic Record Of Cruelty In Hungary

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Russia repeated history by throwing its soldiers into the struggle to suppress a Budapest revolt — and added one more bloody count to the reasons Hungarians as a whole hate Russia.

These reasons go back more than a century. The intensely nationalistic Magyars, as the Hungarians call themselves, never forget the record of Russian intervention and cruelty in Hungary:

In 1849 a revolution brought the establishment of an independent Hungarian republic led by national hero Louis Kossuth. Russia in league with Austria sent armies to overthrow and destroy the republic. Russian troops during the Hungarian campaign established a reputation as barbarians and plunderers.

Bela Kun

In 1919 Hungarian Communists carried out a revolution in Hungary and established a bloody reign of terror. They were inspired by Russia's example, given Lenin's moral assistance, and led by Bela Kun and others who had returned from Russia where as war prisoners they had learned Bolshevism. The revolution was quelled only with great difficulty and loss of life.

In 1944 and 1945 during World War II the Red Army occupied Hungary. The Russian soldiers established a reign of terror, pillage and rape which lasted many months and aroused revulsion against them. The Soviet army besieged beautiful Budapest and destroyed much of the city before capturing it in early 1945—a fact Hungarians hold against the Russians even though it was a war operation.

Using their position as conquerors and the leverage it gave them, the Russians then proceeded to fasten on Hungary a Communist dictatorship led by the Kremlin's representative, Matyas Rakosi. The Hungarian Communist regime kowtowed to the Russians on every matter and exploited the Hungarian economy to ship exports to the Soviet Union. This Russian rule has continued up to the present, although with some recent relaxation.

Hate Breaks Out

Now a long-suppressed hate for Russia and Russians has broken out in dramatic fashion in the new Hungarian revolt.

The Magyars are a non-Slavic people partly surrounded by Slavs. They cherish no particular love for Slavs of any kind—and Russia is the largest Slavic nation.

By throwing Russian armed forces into the battle in Budapest the Russians will only increase Hungarian hate. Soviet leaders seem to have worked themselves into an impossible situation in this eastern European country.

Morris Says Budget-Cutting Order 'Showmanship' By Gov. Anderson

George Morris, independent candidate for governor, Wednesday described as "another piece of showmanship" the action of Gov. Victor Anderson in returning the budgets of state agencies and departments for review and reduction.

"With an election facing him, he (Anderson) has suddenly developed a sense of responsibility which is the evident product of political necessity," the former Nebraska Reformatory superintendent declared in a statement. "He has ignored such responsibility prior to this time."

Morris said Anderson has accepted no responsibility "for his actions which resulted in the riots and fires of last year at a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars of tax money."

Morris charged the governor similarly will accept no responsibility "for the unnecessary increased cost of institutional operations," or for "the appointment of political followers to highly paid positions for which they are not qualified."

The statement referred also to the use of a state airplane for private purposes and said Anderson should have taken action as a result of a state game commission law violation matter.

"Gov. Anderson is responsible for the most expensive administration in the history of our state," Morris's statement said. "He is responsible for an administration which has disregarded the law and the moral obligations of government. The initiation of a spoils system method of extracting money from state employes for campaign purposes is a recent example.

"Gov. Anderson cannot evade his responsibility for these matters. His refusal to discuss them is political wisdom. He has no explanation that will convince the voter. He must ignore them in the hope that the voters will forget them and remember only that he is a Republican.

"That is his only hope for re-election."

Our Paramount Interest---News

THINK we might as well write finis to October's bright blue weather — but on second thought we won't — There's a whole week of October left. Anything can happen--and no doubt will.

But since our mission in life is not to forecast the weather we'll get on with our paramount interest — news.

* * *

WE HAVE just learned that Collin Jackson of London, England, will be arriving in Lincoln next Tuesday evening. For those who have no knowledge of Mr. Jackson we'll explain that he spent one semester as a visiting professor in International Relations at the University of Nebraska —He returned to England and now is on the staff of BBC, and is quite a lecturer of note — especially on the subject of world politics.

During his brief visit in Lincoln Mr. Jackson will speak before numerous classes, and at 11 o'clock on Thursday morning, Nov. 1, he will give the convocation address in the Love Memorial auditorium. On Thursday afternoon Mr. Jackson will speak before an assembly of Air Cadets.

* * *

MR. JACKSON, however will not find Lincoln all work and no play—On Wednesday afternoon he will be the honored guest when Dr. and Mrs. Lane Lancaster entertain at a 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock party at their home, complimenting the visitor.

* * *

A VISITOR from abroad brings to mind Miss Ann Abel who has been spending the past several months on a world cruise — Miss Abel was due to leave Africa several days ago, but wrote that her departure had been delayed six days because of the congestion of the Suez Canal.

* * *

HAD a glimpse of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis during their brief stay in town — Mr. and Mrs. Davis left last Monday evening for Denver where they will spend a few days before plane-ing back to Washington, D. C.

* * *

AND of course mention of Mr. Davis somehow turns our thoughts towards the coming election — We hear that a variety of election night parties are in the making, but we also learned that one group has definite plans —

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 6, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Cromwell, Mr. and Mrs. George Day and Mr. and Mrs. George Holyoke will be election party guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith.

* * *

THE Junior League, it would seem, has something on its mind besides it's Follies of 1956 — On Sunday the organization will begin its series of 'teen-age panels on KOLNTV when five students from Lincoln High School, Mike Watkins, Janice Breen, Ned Prucha, Jane Rogers and Diane Geier, will discuss "Is Going Steady Desirable for High School Students." The moderator will be Mrs. Sidney Bradley.

Future panels will be composed of 'teen-agers from all Lincoln High Schools.

* * *

FROM Chagrin Falls, O., comes news of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Willis K. Polite on Sunday, Oct. 21. Mrs. Polite is the former Mary Bauman, niece of Mrs. C. W. Hyland of Lincoln.

Were Honored At Luncheon

The executive board members of the University of Nebraska Faculty Women's Club went to Omaha on Wednesday to be the luncheon guests of the University's College of Medicine Faculty Women's group.

Attending the luncheon from Lincoln were Mrs. George C. Ernst, president, Mrs. F. R. Woodring, Mrs. Warren Engelhard, Mrs. David Foltz, Mrs. Walter K. Beggs, Mrs. Donald Pace, Mrs. Clifford Hardin, Mrs. Donald Keyes, Mrs. Alvin Hoerlein, Mrs. Lyle Young, Mrs. Royce Jones and Mrs. Walter Wright.

To Be Hostess On Thursday

The meeting of the Cambridge-Lincoln Club will be held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James S. Wallace, 2855 Garfield. Mrs. William L. Walker will assist Mrs. Wallace as hostess for the 1 o'clock luncheon.

Plan Home Ec Meeting

Hard at work planning a city-wide home economists meeting are co-chairmen Mrs. Kenneth B. Smith and Mrs. Glenn Gingles.

The city-wide meeting is to be held on Friday, Nov. 2.

Mrs. Gingles is president of Omicron Nu alumnae, and Mrs. Smith is the program chairman for Phi Epsilon Omicron alumnae.

Attended Convention

Attending the national convention of the American Business Women's Association, held Friday and Saturday at the Commodore Hotel in Denver, was Mrs. Edith Holman, president of the Lincoln Chapter of the organization.

Also representing the Lincoln group at the convention were Miss Helen West, Miss May Marriner, Miss Maria Scheidt, Mrs. Avis White, Mrs. Peggy Butler, Mrs. Ann Payn, Mrs. Gertrude Stout and Mrs. Florence Gibbons.

BSP Chapter Has Program

A program of films, "Office Courtesy", "Making Friends", and "Developing Your Character", was featured at the Monday evening meeting of Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at which Miss Thelma Ormesher, president, presided.

Announcement was made of a chapter party to be held next Monday honoring new pledges and members at the Hotel Cornhusker, and reports were given by Mrs. Don Dickinson and Mrs. Roger Sharp. The group named Miss Ruth Goodman as the chapter's candidate for the Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Girl.

To Be Autumn Bride

MISS RITA MARIE WEFER

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Wefer of Utica, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rita Marie, to Gene Richters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Richters of Tamora.

The wedding will be an event of Nov. 4, and the ceremony will be solemnized at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Utica.

The bride-elect resides in Lincoln where she is employed.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Along with yesterday's wind, we blew into Eastborough and gathered a goodly assortment of recent social events for our calender this morning. From the Eastborough residents we have gleaned news of a new addition to the family, a long awaited return, new neighbors, a coffee, and some newly organized bluebird groups.

To start the morning right we would like to welcome our newcomers in the Eastborough suburb. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Galbraith and their children, Corrine Gay, Harry Jay, and Paul Ray, moved into their home at 7135 So. Eldora Lane earlier this month.

The brand new addition to the Stuart Mount family arrived Tuesday, however it is neither small, nor pink. Rather it weighs around 3500 lbs., and arrived in a two-tone combination of white and avocado green. I guess we need say no more, except that, "it's a F-O-R-D".

Now we'd like to extend a welcome home to Capt. Earlan Seawards, who returned from overseas Tuesday, Oct. 16.

Entertaining eight friends at an evening coffee last Monday was Mrs. Dale Dreeszen.

The bulk of our news this morning seems to center around the younger generation, and their activities as Campfire Girls and Bluebirds. On Wednesday evening, Oct. 17, Mrs. Kenneth James held a meeting of her fifth grade Campfire Girls, who spent the evening learning the art of package wrapping.

For news on her newly organized Bluebird Troop for second grade girls of Meadow Lane School, we learned from Mrs. Jesse Haith that the first meeting was held last Friday afternoon when the making of workboxes was the project of the day. Young ladies who have joined the group include Kathy Davies, Barbara Haith, Paula Hassett, Mary Ellen Ore, Marilyn Welch, Wilda Jene Stitler, Patricia Winter, Kathleen Stokes, Teena Kudlacek, Sally Ann Schultz, and Janet Regler.

On Thursday preceding this meeting, Mrs. Haith had a get-acquainted coffee for the mothers of the girls in her Troop.

Mrs. W. L. Crouse is troop leader for the new third grade Bluebirds, who met for the first time last Monday afternoon. Young members of this group are Kathy Bell, Melanie Collins, Prudy Connin, Bonne Crouse, Kathleen Donahue, Christine Elliott, Diane Fatermeier, Linda French, Linda Meng, Corrine Merrill, Barbara Ritter, Cheryl Schrepf, Patricia Stokes, and Mary Sweeney. Assisting Mrs. Crouse with the group is Mrs. John Fatermeier.

Had Evening Ceremony

MRS. DALE MATHIS

For the wedding of Miss Birdella Daehling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Daehling of Utica, and Dale Mathis, son of Mrs. Elsa J. Mathis of Lincoln, and of Elmer Mathis of Greenwood, which took place Wednesday evening, Oct. 24, clusters of lighted white candles and arrangements of white gladioli and pompons decorated the Zion Lutheran Church of Marysville at Staplehurst. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. F. W. Bangert, and Mrs. George Bossung of Lincoln, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs. Bossung also accompanied Robert Wittstruck, vocal soloist.

Wearing identically-styled frocks of turquoise velveteen were Mrs. John Wood of Seward, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Darrell Daehling of Seward, Mrs. Verdell Daehling, Fremont, Mrs. Earl Fuss, York, and Mrs. Dean Nelson, Lincoln. Squared yokes accented their elongated bodices, which extended into deep points at the hipline, and their circular skirts flared into daytime length. They carried bouquets of white pompons. Frocked in white velveteen were the flower girls, Miss Glenda Sue Luebbe of Staplehurst, and Miss Donna Zwick of Seward. Mrs. Raymond Mathis and Mrs. Marvin Hessheimer, both of Lincoln, lighted the candles.

Raymond Mathis served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Darrell Daehling, Seward, Verdell Daehling, Fremont, Al Kennedy and Dallas Cotton, Lincoln.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white imported lace over tulle and satin. Opalescent sequins patterned the lace to frame the bateau neckline, ..and the sculptured bodice of lace was completed by long, tapered sleeves. Alternate tiers of lace and tulle formed the wide skirt, and her illusion veil was held by a half-hat of lace. She carried a bridal bouquet of white glamelias centered with a white orchid.

A reception for 275 guests was held at the Staplehurst Community Hall. For their wedding trip to southern states, after which the couple will reside at El Paso, Tex., Mrs. Mathis wore a knitted ensemble in the eggshell tone with brown accessories.

The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska and has been employed in Lincoln.

Tea Honors Housemother

Honoring their housemother, Mrs. Joy Marie Armstrong, the members of the new Beta Eta Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority on the University of Nebraska campus entertained at tea Sunday afternoon at the chapter house.

Greeting the guests were Mrs. Weslie Antes, alumnae advisor; Miss Elizabeth Grone, Alumnae Club president; and Miss Pat Coover, chapter president.

Our Paramount Interest---News

THINK we might as well write finis to October's bright blue weather — but on second thought we won't — There's a whole week of October left. Anything can happen—and no doubt will.

But since our mission in life is not to forecast the weather we'll get on with our paramount interest — news.

WE HAVE just learned that Collin Jackson of London, England, will be arriving in Lincoln next Tuesday evening. For those who have no knowledge of Mr. Jackson we'll explain that he spent one semester as a visiting professor in International Relations at the University of Nebraska —He returned to England and now is on the staff of BBC, and is quite a lecturer of note — especially on the subject of world politics.

During his brief visit in Lincoln Mr. Jackson will speak before numerous classes, and at 11 o'clock on Thursday morning, Nov. 1, he will give the convocation address in the Love Memorial auditorium. On Thursday afternoon Mr. Jackson will speak before an assembly of Air Cadets.

* * *

MR. JACKSON, however will not find Lincoln all work and no play—On Wednesday afternoon he will be the honored guest when Dr. and Mrs. Lane Lancaster entertain at a 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock party at their home, complimenting the visitor.

* * *

A VISITOR from abroad brings to mind Miss Ann Abel who has been spending the past several months on a world cruise — Miss Abel was due to leave Africa several days ago, but wrote that her departure had been delayed six days because of the congestion of the Suez Canal.

* * *

HAD a glimpse of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis during their brief stay in town — Mr. and Mrs. Davis left last Monday evening for Denver where they will spend a few days before plane-ing back to Washington, D. C.

* * *

AND of course mention of Mr. Davis somehow turns our thoughts towards the coming election — We hear that a variety of election night parties are in the making, but we also learned that one group has definite plans —

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 6, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Cromwell, Mr. and Mrs. George Day and Mr. and Mrs. George Holyoke will be election party guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith.

THE Junior League, it would seem, has something on its mind besides it's Follies of 1956 — On Sunday the organization will begin its series of 'teen-age panels on KOLNTV when five students from Lincoln High School, Mike Watkins, Janice Breen, Ned Prucha, Jane Rogers and Diane Geier, will discuss "Is Going Steady Desirable for High School Students." The moderator will be Mrs. Sidney Bradley.

Future panels will be composed of 'teen-agers from all Lincoln High Schools.

Ike Adds 5 States To New Tours

. . . Home Each Night

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower will make three separate campaign trips next week, traveling into five states including three in the South which supported him in 1952.

Press Secretary James Hagerty announced the schedule Wednesday, emphasizing that Eisenhower will return to Washington at the end of each day, primarily to keep tab on developments in the Soviet satellite states.

Eisenhower will fly to Florida and Virginia on Monday; Texas and Oklahoma on Wednesday; and Pennsylvania on Thursday. He will make six speeches, five of them at airports. The only major address will be at Philadelphia.

More Likely

These activities will carry the President's campaign through Nov. 1 — just five days shy of the Nov. 6 election. But Hagerty made it clear Eisenhower will be delivering more speeches before the campaign windup.

The White House hasn't detailed any plans beyond Nov. 1. There have been reports, however, that Eisenhower will wrap up his campaign with a major address in Boston on election eve.

Three of the six speeches the President has scheduled for next week will be made Monday.

Miami First

Eisenhower will leave Washington at 8:40 a.m., and fly to Miami for a noon appearance at International Airport there. He then will fly to Jacksonville, Fla., arriving for a talk at Imeson Airfield early Monday afternoon.

Winging back to the capital, Eisenhower will stop at Byrd Field, Richmond, Va., for an airport address about 4:40 p.m.

Went For Ike

Florida and Virginia were among the four Southern states which Eisenhower won in 1952. On Wednesday he will visit a third —Texas. The fourth was Tennessee..

On Wednesday, Eisenhower will leave Washington by plane at 8:30 a.m., and arrive at Love Field in Dallas, Tex., at 12:30 p.m. for an airport talk Wednesday noon.

Oklahoma City

Then, before returning to Washington, he will fly to Oklahoma City for a speech at Will Rogers Field there early in the afternoon.

Eisenhower will switch to a train on Thursday to travel to Philadelphia for a national radio-television address —NBC— from Convention Hall at 9:30 p.m., EST.

26½-Cent Wage Boost Offer By Rails Reported

CHICAGO (INS) — Management and union representatives declined comment Wednesday on reports that railroads have offered unions a three-year contract under which workers would receive a 26-½ cent hourly wage increase by the third year.

Leverett Edwards, a member of the National Mediation Board, was in Chicago meeting with both sides but could not be reached for comment. The reports said that:

The first year of the proposed agreement would boost wages by 12-½ cents an hour. Another raise would be granted in the second year with the increase reaching a total of 26-½ cents the next year.

Eleven non-operating unions were given the offer, according to the reports. They involve more than 900,000 workers and include the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Eninginemen, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Stevenson's Thinking Is Said Confused

ORD, Neb. (AP)—"Candidate Stevenson's proposal to stop the testing of H-bombs revealed his present thinking and confusion," Sen. Carl T. Curtis declared at Ord during a Republican campaign caravan stop.

Curtis said that Adlai Stevenson's program "if carried out would be an open invitation to the communists to carry on armed aggression. Stevenson might as well propose that we stop testing rifles, submarines and medicine. It is unfair to our country and to the boys who must defend it for us to in any way let up in our development of the most scientific weapons.

'Loyalty Not Questioned'

"I consider Mr. Stevenson an American whose loyalty is not questioned," Curtis said. "But his judgment is wrong.

"Russia first proposed that the United States stop testing H-bombs in May, 1955. A few weeks after Stevenson made his proposal The Daily Worker endorsed it editorially."

Ike Adds 5 States To New Tours

. . . Home Each Night

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will make three separate campaign trips next week, traveling into five states including three in the South which supported him in 1952.

Press Secretary James Hagerty announced the schedule Wednesday, emphasizing that Eisenhower will return to Washington at the end of each day, primarily to keep tab on developments in the Soviet satellite states.

Eisenhower will fly to Florida and Virginia on Monday; Texas and Oklahoma on Wednesday; and Pennsylvania on Thursday. He will make six speeches, five of them at airports. The only major address will be at Philadelphia.

More Likely

These activities will carry the President's campaign through Nov. 1 — just five days shy of the Nov. 6 election. But Hagerty made it clear Eisenhower will be delivering more speeches before the campaign windup.

The White House hasn't detailed any plans beyond Nov. 1. There have been reports, however, that Eisenhower will wrap up his campaign with a major address in Boston on election eve.

Three of the six speeches the President has scheduled for next week will be made Monday.

Miami First

Eisenhower will leave Washington at 8:40 a.m., and fly to Miami for a noon appearance at International Airport there. He then will fly to Jacksonville, Fla., arriving for a talk at Imeson Airfield early Monday afternoon.

Winging back to the capital, Eisenhower will stop at Byrd Field, Richmond, Va., for an airport address about 4:40 p.m.

Went For Ike

Florida and Virginia were among the four Southern states which Eisenhower won in 1952. On Wednesday he will visit a third —Texas. The fourth was Tennessee..

On Wednesday, Eisenhower will leave Washington by plane at 8:30 a.m., and arrive at Love Field in Dallas, Tex., at 12:30 p.m. for an airport talk Wednesday noon.

Oklahoma City

Then, before returning to Washington, he will fly to Oklahoma City for a speech at Will Rogers Field there early in the afternoon.

Eisenhower will switch to a train on Thursday to travel to Philadelphia for a national radio-television address —NBC— from Convention Hall at 9:30 p.m., EST.

2 Crashes Injure 3 During Snow At Crawford, Neb.

Lincoln Star Special

CRAWFORD, Neb. — Three persons were hospitalized here after two separate one-car crashes east of Harrison during a snowstorm early Wednesday afternoon.

Both cars apparently went out of control and slid off U. S. 20 at points just one-half mile apart during a storm which whipped blinding snow across the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ernie of Leal, N. D., were both injured when the car which Mrs. Ernie was driving went off the road seven miles east of Harrison and rolled over, according to Sioux County Sheriff Lou Sherill.

Mrs. Ernie suffered a dislocated elbow, and Ernie a dislocated neck. Both were hospitalized here at Crawford Community Memorial Hospital and reported in fair condition.

Lester Hendricks of Rosemead, Calif., suffered a kidney contusion and fractured vertebrae when the car he was driving slid off the highway 7½ miles east of Harrison, later Wednesday afternoon.

Hendricks who was alone was reported in fair condition at the Crawford hospital.

Hoskins Rural School Damaged By Vandals

HOSKINS, Neb. — County Sheriff Hans Tietgen reported vandalism in rural school District No. 60 where three windows were badly damaged.

The school is one mile north and two east of Hoskins. Norma Pospishil serves as teacher of the school.

Mock Election Events Begin

Registration for the mock presidential election at Nebraska Wesleyan University was the first step to voting in the balloting scheduled for Thursday. Here Shirley Rexroth, left, Humboldt senior, registers James McGee, Oxford freshman, and Christie Lou Nelson, Geneva sophomore. Two Lancaster County political chairmen will address the students Thursday morning and try to furnish NWU students with reasons for backing their party. They are John Binning Republican, and A. Clifford Anderson, Democrat. Students have been asked to cast a reason for their choice as they vote. The "Wesleyan," campus newspaper co-sponsoring the election, will print a special edition next Tuesday to announce election results.

Mrs. Dowe Will Address Home Ec Club Gathering

The University of Nebraska Home Economics club's annual Ellen H. Richards dinner will be Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom.

More than 150 home economics students and teachers are expected to attend the dinner held in honor of an early leader in the home economics movement and a founder of the American Home Economics Associatio.

This year's theme for the dinner is "Our Platform for the Future — Home Economics." Principal speaker will be Mrs. T. W. Dowe of the National Dairy Council in Lincoln.

The University Home Economics club will initiate new members in conjunction with the program, and outstanding seniors in the club will be honored.

Committee chairmen for the dinner include: Rose Tondl, Mary Stafford, Delores Kieckhafer, and Carolyn Edwards, all of Lincoln; Beverly Shepardson, Ansley; Judy Otradovsky, Schuyler; Norma Wolf, Kearney; Nadine Calvin, Ravenna; Evonne Einspahr and Carol Smith, Imperial; Phyllis Nelson, Craig; Deanna Brier, DeWitt; Carol Ann Meyers, Wilcox; Marilyn Jensen, Minden; Janice Reeder, Cambridge; and Pat Stalder, Falls City.

26½-Cent Wage Boost Offer By Rails Reported

CHICAGO (INS) — Management and union representatives declined comment Wednesday on reports that railroads have offered unions a three-year contract under which workers would receive a 26-½ cent hourly wage increase by the third year.

Leverett Edwards, a member of the National Mediation Board, was in Chicago meeting with both sides but could not be reached for comment. The reports said that:

The first year of the proposed agreement would boost wages by 12-½ cents an hour. Another raise would be granted in the second year with the increase reaching a total of 26-½ cents the next year.

Eleven non-operating unions were given the offer, according to the reports. They involve more than 900,000 workers and include the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Einginemen, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Stevenson's Thinking Is Said Confused

ORD, Neb. (AP)—"Candidate Stevenson's proposal to stop the testing of H-bombs revealed his present thinking and confusion," Sen. Carl T. Curtis declared at Ord during a Republican campaign caravan stop.

Curtis said that Adlai Stevenson's program "if carried out would be an open invitation to the communists to carry on armed aggression. Stevenson might as well propose that we stop testing rifles, submarines and medicine. It is unfair to our country and to the boys who must defend it for us to in any way let up in our development of the most scientific weapons.

'Loyalty Not Questioned'

"I consider Mr. Stevenson an American whose loyalty is not questioned," Curtis said. "But his judgment is wrong.

"Russia first proposed that the United States stop testing H-bombs in May, 1955. A few weeks after Stevenson made his proposal The Daily Worker endorsed it editorially."

Estes Says Wilson Policy 'Lessened Defense Against Attack'

By R. L. LIVINGSTONE

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said Wednesday that Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson's defense procurement policy "has lessened our defense against attack" by concentrating defense contracts in a few large corporations.

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate also accused Wilson former head of General Motors, of "driving to the wall" Studebaker-Packard oMtor Co. after its merger "to survive General Motors competition."

Kefauver singled out Wilson for his sharpest attack as he campaigned through this Motor City Wednesday assailing what he called Republican "stopgap election eve prosperity."

Wednesday night, in a speech prepared for delivery at Carpenter's Hall in the Michigan congressional district represented by Democratic Rep. Martha Griffiths, he ticked off what he said was the Republican record on national issues.

'Stunts'

He attributed to the Eisenhower administration "daredevil stunts on the brink of war," and pictured Vice President Nixon as the "dominant force" of the Republican party if Eisenhower is returned to the White House as a "lame duck president."

But it was against Wilson and what he described as the GOP "illusion of prosperity" that Kefauver struck hardest.

He called the presently idle Studebaker-Packard plant a daily reminder to Detroit of "this illusion." He added:

"On the verge of collapse with 23,000 workers, 4,000 dealers and 100,000 shareholders just before Election Day, Wilson has now cooked up a deal with Curtiss Wright to tide it over until after election."

'Other Way'

Kefauver said the Studebaker and Packard Motor companies merged in "the hope of having larger defense orders. But it went just the other way."

Kefauver said Wilson "cooked up a deal with Charlie Curtiss" — of Curtiss-Wright—to "bail out" Studebaker-Packard with government defense contracts.

"These contracts were not granted until Studebaker-Packard agreed to Curtiss-Wright terms," he contended. "Their — the Studebaker-Packard workers — reward was unemployment because the defense contracts go to Curtiss-Wright."

To questions about Wilson's role, Kefauver said, "We know Charlie Wilson knew what was going on."

Kefauver conceded to newsmen that stopping hydrogen bomb tests, as he proposes, would constitute a setback for development of nuclear weapons.

But he contended that if all nations would agree to ban nuclear testing, it would not hurt the United States but would leave everyone in the same relative military position as before the ban.

Kefauver, however, said he favored continued research and experimentation so long as it stopped "just short" of pressing the button to detonate test bombs.

Dr. David L. Hill, nuclear physicist from the atomic laboratories at Los Alamos, N. M., said he favored stopping "all research" on nuclear weapons as an ultimate goal.

Hill, traveling with Kefauver as a consultant, said: "The immediate goal is stopping tests. It is the first small step in stopping this insane cycle. It doesn't add to our security — just the contrary."

6 To 1 Favorite

NEW YORK (INS) — The "official" bookie odds on the presidential election being offered in New York made President Eisenhower a 6 to 1 favorite for re-election.

One reason for the one-sided odds, according to the bet-takers, was that little "Democratic" money was being wagered.

Celebration Planned

WEST POINT, Neb.—A Halloween celebration here, under sponsorship of the Junior Woman's Club, will include a parade and teenage dance, with prizes for the best costumes.

Estes Says Wilson Policy 'Lessened Defense Against Attack'

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said Wednesday that Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson's defense procurement policy "has lessened our defense against attack" by concentrating defense contracts in a few large corporations.

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate also accused Wilson former head of General Motors, of "driving to the wall" Studebaker-Packard oMtor Co. after its merger "to survive General Motors competition."

Kefauver singled out Wilson for his sharpest attack as he campaigned through this Motor City Wednesday assailing what he called Republican "stopgap election eve prosperity."

Wednesday night, in a speech prepared for delivery at Carpenter's Hall in the Michigan congressional district represented by Democratic Rep. Martha Griffiths, he ticked off what he said was the Republican record on national issues.

'Stunts'

He attributed to the Eisenhower administration "daredevil stunts on the brink of war," and pictured Vice President Nixon as the "dominant force" of the Republican party if Eisenhower is returned to the White House as a "lame duck president."

But it was against Wilson and what he described as the GOP "illusion of prosperity" that Kefauver struck hardest.

He called the presently idle Studebaker-Packard plant a daily reminder to Detroit of "this illusion." He added:

"On the verge of collapse with 23,000 workers, 4,000 dealers and 100,000 shareholders just before Election Day, Wilson has now cooked up a deal with Curtiss Wright to tide it over until after election."

'Other Way'

Kefauver said the Studebaker and Packard Motor companies merged in "the hope of having larger defense orders. But it went just the other way."

Kefauver said Wilson "cooked up a deal with Charlie Curtiss" — of Curtiss-Wright—to "bail out" Studebaker-Packard with government defense contracts.

"These contracts were not granted until Studebaker-Packard agreed to Curtiss-Wright terms," he contended. "Their — the Studebaker-Packard workers — reward was unemployment because the defense contracts go to Curtiss-Wright."

To questions about Wilson's role, Kefauver said, "We know Charlie Wilson knew what was going on."

Kefauver conceded to newsmen that stopping hydrogen bomb tests, as he proposes, would constitute a setback for development of nuclear weapons.

But he contended that if all nations would agree to ban nuclear testing, it would not hurt the United States but would leave everyone in the same relative military position as before the ban.

Kefauver, however, said he favored continued research and experimentation so long as it stopped "just short" of pressing the button to detonate test bombs.

Dr. David L. Hill, nuclear physicist from the atomic laboratories at Los Alamos, N. M., said he favored stopping "all research" on nuclear weapons as an ultimate goal.

Hill, traveling with Kefauver as a consultant, said: "The immediate goal is stopping tests. It is the first small step in stopping this insane cycle. It doesn't add to our security — just the contrary."

6 To 1 Favorite

NEW YORK (INS) — The "official" bookie odds on the presidential election being offered in New York made President Eisenhower a 6 to 1 favorite for re-election.

One reason for the one-sided odds, according to the bet-takers, was that little "Democratic" money was being wagered.

Celebration Planned

WEST POINT, Neb.—A Halloween celebration here, under sponsorship of the Junior Woman's Club, will include a parade and teenage dance, with prizes for the best costumes.

It's Bayuk Vs. Greenlaw

Buff 'Beast' Bares Fangs

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

The Golden Herd from Boulder —Colorado's Buffaloes, to be exact —is cheering the return to top form of The Beast this fall.

The Beast is a 6-1, 223-pound native of Salida, Colo., John Bayuk by name.

Bayuk caused a sensation in 1954 as a sophomore when he led the Big Seven in rushing with 824 yards. But last year The Beast was de-fanged, much to the displeasure of Buff players, coaches and fans.

Prior to the opening of the 1956 season, Colorado optimism was guarded. In fact at the conference press conference in Kansas City, Asst. Coach Ray Jenkins told sports writers:

We've got to rely on sophomores this year and it looks like a long road."

Jenkins added, however: "But if The Beast happens to have a year like he had as a sophomore, we'll be quite a bit tougher."

As a matter of fact, Bayuk is once again living up to his nickname and Colorado is "quite a bit tougher" than pre-season examination showed.

The Buffs lost to Oregon, 35-0, in their opener and have since rampaged over Kansas State, Colorado A&M, Kansas and Iowa State.

And once again Mr. Bayuk is leading the Big Seven in rushing. Carrying the ball 60 times, The eBast has gained 346 net yards for a 5.8 average.

His size and speed make him almost a sure bet to gain some ground. In five games he's lost only three yards.

Other Colorado leaders are Soph Howard Cook who has gained 215 yards and Junior Bob Stransky who has netted 182 yards.

Here is a comparison between the Nebraska Huskers and the Buffs, using the Big Seven statistics as a guide:

Rushing — Bayuk is first with 346 yards; NU's Jerry Brown is fourth (312); Larry Naviaux of Nebraska is sixth (266); Bill Hawkins of Nebraska is seventh (229); Cook is ninth (215); Stransky is 13th (182).

Passing — Nebraska's Ray Stinnett is third (10 for 16 and 120 yards); Stransky is sixth (3 for 4 and 97 yards); Cook is 11th (5 for 11 and 83 yards); Dowler of Colorado is 13th (5 for 8 and 60 yards) and Dowler of Colorado is 14th (2 for 12 and 57 yards.)

Pass receiving — Colorado's Frank Clarke and Gene Worden are fifth and sixth. Clark has caught four passes for 85 yards and Worden has nabbed three for 74 yards. Nebraska's Marlin Hilding is ninth (five catches, 71 yards) and Dowler is 10th (three catches, 66 yards.)

Team rushing — Colorado has out-gained its opposition, 1,526 yards to 1,319 on the ground. Nebraska has been out-rushed, 1,420 to 1,391. Thus, the Buffs have a 145-yard edge on the Huskers.

Team passing — Nebraska has completed 17 of 40 aerials for 218 yards and a .425 percentage. Colorado has completed 16 of 39 for 321 yards and a percentage of .410. Nebraska has the edge in completions, but the Buffs have gotten more mileage from their aerial game.

Team pass defense — Nebraska has limited the opposition to 18 completions in 42 tries for 244 yards and a .428 percentage. Colorado has allowed only 20 completions in 63 tosses for 425 yards and a .317 percentage. The Buffs have the percentage edge but have given up 81 more yards through the air than the Huskers.

Summation—In Colorado they're saying: "If the Beast has a good day we'll win in a breeze." In Nebraska they're saying: "If Willie Greenlaw has a good day — as he has in the past two years — we'll kill 'em."

And that's probably where the issue will be decided.

Harshman's Back

Husker Quarterback George Harshman re-joined the squad Wednesday after a stay in the Student Health, but he wasn't able to do much running.

He's expected to be able for some duty at Colorado.

English Shifted

Soph Ernie English was moved from right tackle to left guard on the alternate unit, replacing the injured Don Rhoda.

Kitzelman Reinjured

Alternate Center Max Kitzelman got banged up in scrimmage, re-injuring his shoulder and a leg. But his injuries weren't serious and he should be able for at least part-time duty against Colorado.

Defense, Passes

Wednesday afternoon the Huskers worked again on the defenses for Colorado's single wing attack and spent quite a bit of time on their aerial game.

Thursday they'll taper off with a light drill. The squad will fly to Denver Friday morning.

MYERS . . . Sparkles.

Northeast Hit By Fairbury Jeffs, 27-0

FAIRBURY—Fairbury's Jeffs exploded in the second quarter for three touchdowns and went on to a 27-0 win over Lincoln Northeast here Wednesday night.

Playing before a Parent's Night audience of some 1,500 persons, the Jeffs used two great defensive stands to hold the visitors scoreless.

In the early minutes of the first period Northeast grabbed a fumble on the Fairbury 14-yard line but could get only to the five-yard line in four plays. In the third period Northeast grabbed another fumble on the Fairbury 30 and fought to the 11-yard line before losing the ball on downs.

Halfback Larry Doggett's 76-yard scoring jaunt on the fourth play of the second quarter was enough to win for the Jeffs. Doggett broke through the middle and then eluded the secondary to go all the way. Sig Regnier's successful plunge made the tally, 7-0.

The Jeffs then recovered a fumble on the Northeast 36 yard stripe. Six plays later Halfback Scott Tippin plunged over from the four yard line. When the conversion was missed, Fairbury led, 13-0.

With eight seconds remaining in the first half, the Jeffs managed their third rouchdown as Tippin crossed the goal line just as the gun sounded. Doggett's end run for the conversion ran the total to 20-0.

Coach Gerald Ferguson used second and third string crews in the late stages of the game. With only two minutes and 30 seconds to go in the game, Soph Halfback Alvin Mapel scored for the Jeffs on a 12 yard spurt. The tally came after Fairbury had taken the ball on their own 44 following a Northeast kick into the wind. Doggett skirted end for the conversion and the 27 points total.

Fairbury completely dominated statistics with a net 236 yards rushing compared to Northeast's 53. High and gusty winds, ranging 35-40 miles per hour, made kicking and passing difficult.

Northeast staged a bold effort to break the scoring ice late in the game as Bob Els tossed a 19 yard pass to Dick Smith. With the ball on Fairbury's 49-yard line, Northeast gambled on four passes —all going incomplete. Seconds later the game ended.

The Jeffs' stellar quarterback, Ray Graves, drew praise for keeping the Fairbury offensive attack varied. The win gives Fairbury a 4-2-1 record while Northeast is 0-7.

Defensively Eldon Rossmiller and Denny Doyle led the way for Fairbury with Jack Giebelhaus, line backer for Northeast, also a standout.

Exeter Wins 17th In Row

29-12 Over Concordia

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

EXETER — A hard-hitting Exeter team rolled to its 17th consecutive victory, 29-12, over Seward Concordia here Wednesday night in an eight-man contest.

Concordia was undefeated prior to the game.

Led by End Vernon Thomsen, the swift Exeter forwards bottled up the Concordia offense and made the way easy for Exeter backs Melvin Motis and Jerry Bristol.

Coach Ken Kasparek's Exeter team jumped to a 15-0 lead, then saw Concordia rally with two touchdowns in four minutes, and finally pulled away to win easily in the second half.

Bristol scored the first Exeter touchdown on a three-yard plunge. Motis' 35-yard run after a pass interception set up the tally.

Exeter yielded the ball on the Concordia one-foot line, but shortly thereafter registered a safety when Art Otto of Concordia was tackled in the end zone.

Exeter went ahead 15-0 when a 51-yard drive paid off. Thomsen scored on an end-around play from five yards out.

Concordia rallied to make it 12-15 at the half. Roger Schmidt passed to Dave Kroger for 21 yards and the first touchdown; Schmidt ran three yards for the second one after Exeter had lost the ball on a fumble.

Bristol added two touchdowns in the third quater to put the game on ice for Exeter. One came on a short plunge after his own recovery of a Concordia fumble. The other was on a 24-yard scamper around right end on a reverse.

The win may have been costly for Exeter. Starting Quarterback Dick Harrison suffered a broken hand and will be out for the remainder of the season.

Concordia	0	12	0	0	12
Exeter	6	9	14	0	29

Concordia scoring: Touchdowns—Kroger (21, pass from Schmidt); Schmidt (3, run).

Womochil Tackles Jarosch Tonight

OMAHA (INS) — The turning point in the fistic career of Omaha Heavyweight Wayne Womochil could come Thursday night when he takes on rugged George Jarosch, of Milwaukee, at the Omaha City Auditorium.

Womochil has gone undefeated in eight straight professional bouts, winning by five knockouts, but Jarosch is also unbeaten in eight fights and poses the toughest test to date for the former Omaha packinghouse worker.

Stromsburg Laces St. Edward, 32-0

STROMSBURG — Lee James scored 13 points to help Stromsburg lace St. Edward, 32-0, in a Goldenrod Loop win here Wednesday night.

Spain Defies Rule Against Javelin Toss

MADRID (AP) — Spanish athletic authorities and newspapers protested vigorously Wednesday against the international ban on the whirling style of javelin throwing invented by Felix Erauzquin and said that Erauzquin will continue to use that style in the Melbourne Olympic Games, Nov. 22-Dec. 8.

The so-called Spanish style calls for the thrower to whirl like a discus thrower as many as three times before letting the spear fly. It was killed for international competition Tuesday when the International Amateur Athletic Federation altered its rules after a cable vote.

Using this method, Erauzquin has come close to the world record of 274 feet, 5¾ inches and Norway's Egil Danielsen achieved an amazing 307-4⅞. It was found to be dangerous to spectators and officials, however, since the throwers had little or no control of the direction the javelin would take when they let it go.

Jose Antonio Elola-Olason, Spain's national delegate of physical education and sports, said the IAAF had not followed its own regulations in amending the rule and that the 49-year-old Erauzquin would continue using the whirling style even if his tosses in the Olympics are not recognized.

Elola said the "law of the strongest" had imposed the federation's ban and asked why the federation had violated the statutes of the organization by approving the amendment without consulting the federation's own rules committee and without consulting Spain.

He declared, however, that Spain will not withdraw from the Olympics because of the furore over this decision.

Eugenio M. Pasaldos, president of the Spanish track and field federation, said his organization was not consulted by the international federation.

Knights Tip Tecumseh

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

A fighting, outmanned Tecumseh Indian crew found the Southeast Knights' armor too tough for their tomahawks at O. N. Magee Stadium Wednesday night and the Knights took a 20-14 Homecoming victory.

The victory was the second in a row for the Knights after five straight defeats and the first loss for Tecumseh after five victories and a tie.

The Knights took to the airlanes on two occasions and each time it cost the Tecumseh forces dearly.

After Indian John Elenga's short kick into a strong wind had gone put of bounds on the 50 yard line following a series of downs after the opening kickoff the Knights moved in for their first touchdown.

After six plays had planted the ball on the Tecumseh 38, Knight quarterback Dave Myers dropped back and hit Wayne Michaelis with a perfect strike on the ten and the speedy halfback went in to score.

Virgil Kubert's conversion attempt was perfect and the Knights led, 7-0 with only four and one-half minutes gone in the contest.

The two teams seesawed up and down the field waiting for an opportunity to score.

Tecumseh got that opportunity following a 50-yard quick-kick by Elenga which was downed on the Knight nine yard line.

After three plays failed to gain a first down, Kubert came in to kick and was snowed under on the five and the Tecumseh crew took over with 2:13 remaining in the half.

Halfback Martin Kroll got the Indians' first touchdown on a pitch-out from quarterback Bob Stangel.

Don Hagelbach's conversion was no good but the Knights were off side and he hit on the second try to tie the count at 7-7.

After the Knights had taken the second half kickoff and advanced to the Indian 22 with ease, the Tecumseh crew stiffened and forced a third down and 18 situation on the 28.

Myers elected to pass again and hit Michaelis once more and the ball rested on the Indian one-yard line.

Myers sneaked in for the go-ahead tally on the next play and Kubert's conversion attempt was wide leaving the score, 13-7.

Coach Tom Gillaspie's crew tallied again going 80 yards on just six plays midway in the final period after they had halted a Tecumseh drive on their own 20.

Myers again got the touchdown, executing the option play to perfection and rolling 34 yards to score. Kubert's conversion was good and the Knights had a safe 20-7 lead with only 5:17 remaining.

But the Indians had one more trick in their medicine bag and added another tally.

Elenga dashed 50 yards, the longest individual effort of the game, three plays after the kickoff and the Indians had a first down on the Southeast 12.

Hagelbach carried to the one and Stangel sneaked in on third down for the touchdown.

Hagelbach's conversion attempt was good and the Knights ran out the clock to win, 20-14.

Bill VanCleave and Gary Gibson again led the Knight defensive charges while Myers and Neil Higgens led the offensive attack.

Southeast halfback Roger Brandt was crowned Homecoming King and Sue Turner Homecoming Queen in halftime ceremonies.

NEW YORK (AP) — Joey Giardello, Philadelphia middleweight, is rated 'Fighter of the Month" by Ring Magazine for his upset knockout of high - ranked Bobby Boyd of Chicago.

Giardello's victory and the retirement of Eduardo Lausse of Argentina after his knockout by Andrea Selpa, a fellow-countryman, scrambled the ratings in the 160-pound class.

Boyd, who had been No. 2, dropped to seventh place and Giardello, unranked since he served a jail term for assault, moved into the No. 6 spot. France's Charles Humez moved into the No. 2 position, Spider Webb of Chicago to fourth and Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y. to fifth.

The heavyweight division still has no champion until the Nov. 30 Chicago meeting of Archie Moore (No. 1) and Floyd Patterson (No. 2). Ingemar Johansson of Sweden now is No. 10 in the class after winning the European title by knocking out Italy's Franco Cavicchi.

Among the welterweights, Isaac Logart of Cuba dropped from third to fourth after his defeat by Mexico's Gaspar Ortega. Art Aragon of Los Angeles replaced Logart.

Buff 'Beast' Bares Fangs

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

The Golden Herd from Boulder—Colorado's Buffaloes, to be exact—is cheering the retirn to top form of The Beast this fall.

The Beast is a 6-1, 223-pound native of Salida, Colo., John Bayuk by name.

Bayuk caused a sensation in 1954 as a sophomore when he led the Big Seven in rushing with 824 yards. But last year The Beast was de-fanged, much to the displeasure of Buff players, coaches and fans.

Prior to the opening of the 1956 season, Colorado optimism was guarded. In fact at the conference press conference in Kansas City, Asst. Coach Ray Jenkins told sports writers:

We've got to rely on sophomores this year and it looks like a long road."

Jenkins added, however: "But if The Beast happens to have a year like he had as a sophomore, we'll be quite a bit tougher."

As a matter of fact, Bayuk is once again living up to his nickname and Colorado is "quite a bit tougher" than pre-season examination showed.

The Buffs lost to Oregon, 35-0, in their opener and have since rampaged over Kansas State, Colorado A&M, Kansas and Iowa State.

And once again Mr. Bayuk is leading the Big Seven in rushing. Carrying the ball 60 times, The eBast has gained 346 net yards for a 5.8 average.

His size and speed make him almost a sure bet to gain some ground. In five games he's lost only three yards.

Other Colorado leaders are Soph Howard Cook who has gained 215 yards and Junior Bob Stransky who has netted 182 yards.

Here is a comparison between the Nebraska Huskers and the Buffs, using the Big Seven statistics as a guide:

Rushing — Bayuk is first with 346 yards; NU's Jerry Brown is fourth (312); Larry Naviaux of Nebraska is sixth (266); Bill Hawkins of Nebraska is seventh (229); Cook is ninth (215); Stransky is 13th (182).

Passing — Nebraska's Ray Stinnett is third (10 for 16 and 120 yards); Stransky is sixth (3 for 4 and 97 yards); Cook is 11th (5 for 11 and 83 yards); Dowler of Colorado is 13th (5 for 8 and 60 yards) and Dowler of Colorado is 14th (2 for 12 and 57 yards.)

Pass receiving — Colorado's Frank Clarke and Gene Worden are fifth and sixth. Clark has caught four passes for 85 yards and Worden has nabbed three for 74 yards. Nebraska's Marlin Hilding is ninth (five catches, 71 yards) and Dowler is 10th (three catches, 66 yards.)

Team rushing — Colorado has out-gained its opposition, 1,526 yards to 1,319 on the ground. Nebraska has been out-rushed, 1,420 to 1,391. Thus, the Buffs have a 145-yard edge on the Huskers.

Team passing — Nebraska has completed 17 of 40 aerials for 218 yards and a .425 percentage. Colorado has completed 16 of 39 for 321 yards and a percentage of .410. Nebraska has the edge in completions, but the Buffs have gotten more mileage from their aerial game.

Team pass defense — Nebraska has limited the opposition to 18 completions in 42 tries for 244 yards and a .428 percentage. Colorado has allowed only 20 completions in 63 tosses for 425 yards and a .317 percentage. The Buffs have the percentage edge but have given up 81 more yards through the air than the Huskers.

Summation—In Colorado they're saying: "If the Beast has a good day we'll win in a breeze." In Nebraska they're saying: "If Willie Greenlaw has a good day — as he has in the past two years — we'll kill 'em."

And that's probably where the issue will be decided.

Harshman's Back

Husker Quarterback George Harshman re-joined the squad Wednesday after a stay in the Student Health, but he wasn't able to do much running.

He's expected to be able for some duty at Colorado.

English Shifted

Soph Ernie English was moved from right tackle to left guard on the alternate unit, replacing the injured Don Rhoda.

Kitzelman Reinjured

Alternate Center Max Kitzelman got banged up in scrimmage, reinjuring his shoulder and a leg. But his injuries weren't serious and he should be able for at least part-time duty against Colorado.

Defense, Passes

Wednesday afternoon the Huskers worked again on the defenses for Colorado's single wing attack and spent quite a bit of time on their aerial game.

Thursday they'll taper off with a light drill. The squad will fly to Denver Friday morning.

Northeast Hit By Fairbury Jeffs, 27-0

FAIRBURY—Fairbury's Jeffs exploded in the second quarter for three touchdowns and went on to a 27-0 win over Lincoln Northeast here Wednesday night.

Playing before a Parent's Night audience of some 1,500 persons, the Jeffs used two great defensive stands to hold the visitors scoreless.

In the early minutes of the first period Northeast grabbed a fumble on the Fairbury 14-yard line but could get only to the five-yard line in four plays. In the third period Northeast grabbed another fumble on the Fairbury 30 and fought to the 11-yard line before losing the ball on downs.

Halfback Larry Doggett's 76-yard scoring jaunt on the fourth play of the second quarter was enough to win for the Jeffs. Doggett broke through the middle and then eluded the secondary to go all the way. Sig Regnier's successful plunge made the tally, 7-0.

The Jeffs then recovered a fumble on the Northeast 36 yard stripe. Six plays later Halfback Scott Tippin plunged over from the four yard line. When the conversion was missed, Fairbury led, 13-0.

With eight seconds remaining in the first half, the Jeffs managed their third touchdown as Tippin crossed the goal line just as the gun sounded. Doggett's end run for the conversion ran the total to 20-0.

Coach Gerald Ferguson used second and third string crews in the late stages of the game. With only two minutes and 30 seconds to go in the game, Soph Halfback Alvin Mapel scored for the Jeffs on a 12 yard spurt. The tally came after Fairbury had taken the ball on their own 44 following a Northeast kick into the wind. Doggett skirted end for the conversion and the 27 points total.

Fairbury completely dominated statistics with a net 236 yards rushing compared to Northeast's 53. High and gusty winds, ranging 35-40 miles per hour, made kicking and passing difficult.

Northeast staged a bold effort to break the scoring ice late in the game as Bob Els tossed a 19 yard pass to Dick Smith. With the ball on Fairbury's 49-yard line, Northeast gambled on four passes—all going incomplete. Seconds later the game ended.

The Jeffs' stellar quarterback, Ray Graves, drew praise for keeping the Fairbury offensive attack varied. The win gives Fairbury a 4-2-1 record while Northeast is 0-7.

Defensively Eldon Rossmiller and Denny Doyle led the way for Fairbury with Jack Giebelhaus, line backer for Northeast, also a standout.

29-12 Over Concordia

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

EXETER — A hard-hitting Exeter team rolled to its 17th consecutive victory, 29-12, over Seward Concordia here Wednesday night in an eight-man contest.

Concordia was undefeated prior to the game.

Led by End Vernon Thomsen, the swift Exeter forwards bottled up the Concordia offense and made the way easy for Exeter backs Melvin Motis and Jerry Bristol.

Coach Ken Kasparek's Exeter team jumped to a 15-0 lead, then saw Concordia rally with two touchdowns in four minutes, and finally pulled away to win easily in the second half.

Bristol scored the first Exeter touchdown on a three-yard plunge. Motis' 35-yard run after a pass interception set up the tally.

Exeter yielded the ball on the Concordia one-foot line, but shortly thereafter registered a safety when Art Otto of Concordia was tackled in the end zone.

Exeter went ahead 15-0 when a 51-yard drive paid off. Thomsen scored on an end-around play from five yards out.

Concordia rallied to make it 12-15 at the half. Roger Schmidt passed to Dave Kroger for 21 yards and the first touchdown; Schmidt ran three yards for the second one after Exeter had lost the ball on a fumble.

Bristol added two touchdowns in the third quater to put the game on ice for Exeter. One came on a short plunge after his own recovery of a Concordia fumble. The other was on a 24-yard scamper around right end on a reverse.

Spain Defies Rule Against Javelin Toss

MADRID (AP) — Spanish athletic authorities and newspapers protested vigorously Wednesday against the international ban on the whirling style of javelin throwing invented by Felix Erauzquin and said that Erauzquin will continue to use that style in the Melbourne Olympic Games, Nov. 22-Dec. 8.

The so-called Spanish style calls for the thrower to whirl like a discus thrower as many as three times before letting the spear fly. It was killed for international competition Tuesday when the International Amateur Athletic Federation altered its rules after a cable vote.

Using this method, Erauzquin has come close to the world record of 274 feet, 5¾ inches and Norway's Egil Danielsen achieved an amazing 307-4⅞. It was found to be dangerous to spectators and officials, however, since the throwers had little or no control of the direction the javelin would take when they let it go.

Jose Antonio Elola-Olason, Spain's national delegate of physical education and sports, said the IAAF had not followed its own regulations in amending the rule and that the 49-year-old Erauzquin would continue using the whirling style even if his tosses in the Olympics are not recognized.

Elola said the "law of the strongest" had imposed the federation's ban and asked why the federation had violated the statutes of the organization by approving the amendment without consulting the federation's own rules committee and without consulting Spain.

He declared, however, that Spain will not withdraw from the Olympics because of the furore over this decision.

Eugenio M. Pasaldos, president of the Spanish track and field federation, said his organization was not consulted by the international federation.

Knights Tip Tecumseh

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

A fighting, outmanned Tecumseh Indian crew found the Southeast Knights' armor too tough for their tomahawks at O. N. Magee Stadium Wednesday night and the Knights took a 20-14 Homecoming victory.

The victory was the second in a row for the Knights after five straight defeats and the first loss for Tecumseh after five victories and a tie.

The Knights took to the airlanes on two occasions and each time it cost the Tecumseh forces dearly.

After Indian John Elenga's short kick into a strong wind had gone put of bounds on the 50 yard line following a series of downs after the opening kickoff the Knights moved in for their first touchdown.

After six plays had planted the ball on the Tecumseh 38, Knight quarterback Dave Myers dropped back and hit Wayne Michaelis with a perfect strike on the ten and the speedy halfback went in to score.

Virgil Kubert's conversion attempt was perfect and the Knights led, 7-0 with only four and one-half minutes gone in the contest.

The two teams seesawed up and down the field waiting for an opportunity to score.

Tecumseh got that opportunity following a 50-yard quick-kick by Elenga which was downed on the Knight nine yard line.

After three plays failed to gain a first down, Kubert came in to kick and was snowed under on the five and the Tecumseh crew took over with 2:13 remaining in the half.

Halfback Martin Kroll got the Indians' first touchdown on a pitchout from quarterback Bob Stangel.

Don Hagelbach's conversion was no good but the Knights were off side and he hit on the second try to tie the count at 7-7.

After the Knights had taken the second half kickoff and advanced to the Indian 22 with ease, the Tecumseh crew stiffened and forced a third down and 18 situation on the 28.

Myers elected to pass again and hit Michaelis once more and the ball rested on the Indian one-yard line.

Myers sneaked in for the go-ahead tally on the next play and Kubert's conversion attempt was wide leaving the score, 13-7.

Coach Tom Gillaspie's crew tallied again going 80 yards on just six plays midway in the final period after they had halted a Tecumseh drive on their own 20.

Myers again got the touchdown, executing the option play to perfection and rolling 34 yards to score. Kubert's conversion was good and the Knights had a safe 20-7 lead with only 5:17 remaining.

But the Indians had one more trick in their medicine bag and added another tally.

Elenga dashed 50 yards, the longest individual effort of the game, three plays after the kickoff and the Indians had a first down on the Southeast 12.

Hagelbach carried to the one and Stangel sneaked in on third down for the touchdown.

Hagelbach's conversion attempt was good and the Knights ran out the clock to win, 20-14.

Bill VanCleave and Gary Gibson again led the Knight defensive charges while Myers and Neil Higgens led the offensive attack.

Southeast halfback Roger Brandt was crowned Homecoming King and Sue Turner Homecoming Queen in halftime ceremonies.

Notre Dame Spirit Liked To End Oklahoma String

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Emotionalism, a throwback to the Thirties when locker-room oratory and the Die-For-Dear-Old-Whatchamacallit spirit flowered, has replaced the cold slide rule as the measuring stick in college football games.

Form is disgraced. Upsets are rampant. Don't sell any team short — including three - times-beaten Notre Dame against Oklahoma, winner of 34 straight. Our upsetter of the week: Notre Dame.

Last week we rode with Texas A&M, Columbia and Penn in their upsets, picked 37 of 45 for an .822 average. Season's record: 169-46 for .781.

Here goes:

Notre Dame 20, Oklahoma 7: The Fighting Irish will have the spirit of Knute Rockne riding with them in this over-the-head effort. Paul Hornung, one of the nation's finest backs, has a day of glory.

Michigan State 26, Illinois 6: Ordinarily this might be a good spot for a surprise, but the Spartans' over-all strength is too overwhelming.

Georgia Tech 20, Tulane 7: The Greenies are the season's surprise but they left something on the field in the Ole Miss upset.

Baylor 13, Texas A&M 0: Baylor, idle last week, had extra time to prepare, should win defensive battle from Aggies who went all out against TCU.

Stanford 27, Southern Cal 14: The Indians' air attack counterbalances Jon Arnett, playing his last game.

Tennessee 35, Maryland 0: A romp for the Volunteers, who look like one of Gen. Neyland's old powerhouses.

West Virginia 13, Penn State 7: The Mountaineers bring the P-Staters rudely to earth after the big upset over Ohio State.

Michigan 14, Minnesota 7: The Wolverines keep the Little Brown Jug.

Arkansas 14, Mississippi 6: Ole Miss still groggy from the loss to Tulane.

UCLA 20, Oregon State 12: Red Sanders spoils Oregon State's bid for the Rose Bowl.

Colgate 14, Yale 7: The Red Raiders live up to their reputation as Ivy League spoilers.

Machen KOs Holman In 7th

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Young Eddie Machen knocked out Johnny Holman of Chicago after 38 seconds of the seventh round in a heavyweight boxing match Wednesday night. The knockout came suddenly after a dull six rounds of jabbing and dancing.

The speedy Machen, seventh-ranked heavyweight before tonight, had the 29-year-old Holman puzzled from the start. Machen repeatedly scored with left jabs and easily dodged Holman's lunging rights. Holman is ranked No. 8.

The referee and the two judges all had Machen in front at the time of the knockout. Referee Volk did not give Holman a round and his card read 36-30.

Judge Ralph Gruman awarded Holman the fifth and sixth rounds, apparently on the strength of his aggressiveness, but had Machen ahead 35-31.

Olympic Cagers Tip All-Stars

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Jim Walsh popped in 12 field goals and two free throws to seal the play from other highly publicized U.S. basketball standouts and lead this country's Olympic basketball team to an 82-62 victory Wednesday night over the Eastern College All Stars.

The All Stars kept the pressure on the traveling Olympic cagers for almost three-quarters of the contest before an announced crowd of 10,000 in the University of Maryland field house.

Deshler Wallops Wymore, 20-0

DESHLER — Deshler scored three times in the last half to whip Wymore, 20-0, here Wednesday night.

Columbia's Benham Named Top 'Back Of The Week'

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

In football even a one-man team can't gain much recognition while he's playing for a loser. But when he engineers a major upset—WOW!

That's what Columbia's Claude Benham did last Saturday and as a result he was selected Wednesday as The Associated Press Back of the Week.

Benham, a little passing wizard from Portsmouth, Va., has been recognized for three seasons as the major part of Columbia's usually-futile offense. Two days before last Saturday's Harvard game, he wasn't even expected to play because of a leg injury and Columbia's rating dipped accordingly.

But Benham not only played, he stayed in there the full 60 minutes and personally led Columbia to a 26-20 upset victory. Statistics can't measure his performance but he completed 11 of 21 passes for 171 yards, scored one touchdown, passed for two and handed off for the other, harrassed the Crimsons with his running on roll-out plays and was superb on defense.

The final score came on a 69-yard pass play to Ed Spraker which someone called Benham's worst pass and his best. It almost fell short of the receiver, but defender Matt Botsford reached for it, touched the ball with his fingers and deflected it into Spraker's hands.

Rochester To End Cardinal Hookup?

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals are expected to terminate their baseball operations here within the next few weeks, the Times-Union Wednesday said in a by-lined story by sports writer Al Weber.

The Cardinals have operated the Rochester Red Wings as a farm club in the International League since 1928.

The Times-Union said two separate local groups have put out purchase feelers to August Busch, owner of the Cardinals and his baseball administrator, Frank Lane.

Ceresco Romps

CERESCO—John Swanson reeled off touchdown runs of 66 and 54 yards here Wednesday night to pace Ceresco to a 12-6 triumph over Beaver Crossing.

Beaver Crossing	6	0	0	0	—6

Notre Dame Spirit Liked To End Oklahoma String

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Emotionalism, a throwback to the Thirties when locker-room oratory and the Die-For-Dear-Old-Whatchamacallit spirit flowered, has replaced the cold slide rule as the measuring stick in college football games.

Form is disgraced. Upsets are rampant. Don't sell any team short — including three - times-beaten Notre Dame against Oklahoma, winner of 34 straight. Our upsetter of the week: Notre Dame.

Last week we rode with Texas A&M, Columbia and Penn in their upsets, picked 37 of 45 for an .822 average. Season's record: 169-46 for .781.

Here goes:

Notre Dame 20, Oklahoma 7: The Fighting Irish will have the spirit of Knute Rockne riding with them in this over-the-head effort. Paul Hornung, one of the nation's finest backs, has a day of glory.

Michigan State 26, Illinois 6: Ordinarily this might be a good spot for a surprise, but the Spartans' over-all strength is too overwhelming.

Georgia Tech 20, Tulane 7: The Greenies are the season's surprise but they left something on the field in the Ole Miss upset.

Baylor 13, Texas A&M 0: Baylor, idle last week, had extra time to prepare, should win defensive battle from Aggies who went all out against TCU.

Stanford 27, Southern Cal 14: The Indians' air attack counterbalances Jon Arnett, playing his last game.

Tennessee 35, Maryland 0: A romp for the Volunteers, who look like one of Gen. Neyland's old powerhouses.

West Virginia 13, Penn State 7: The Mountaineers bring the P-Staters rudely to earth after the big upset over Ohio State.

Michigan 14, Minnesota 7: The Wolverines keep the Little Brown Jug.

Arkansas 14, Mississippi 6: Ole Miss still groggy from the loss to Tulane.

UCLA 20, Oregon State 12: Red Sanders spoils Oregon State's bid for the Rose Bowl.

Colgate 14, Yale 7: The Red Raiders live up to their reputation as Ivy League spoilers.

Machen KOs Holman In 7th

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Young Eddie Machen knocked out Johnny Holman of Chicago after 38 seconds of the seventh round in a heavyweight boxing match Wednesday night. The knockout came suddenly after a dull six rounds of jabbing and dancing.

The speedy Machen, seventh-ranked heavyweight before tonight, had the 29-year-old Holman puzzled from the start. Machen repeatedly scored with left jabs and easily dodged Holman's lunging rights. Holman is ranked No. 8.

The referee and the two judges all had Machen in front at the time of the knockout. Referee Volk did not give Holman a round and his card read 36-30.

Judge Ralph Gruman awarded Holman the fifth and sixth rounds, apparently on the strength of his aggressiveness, but had Machen ahead 35-31.

Olympic Cagers Tip All-Stars

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Jim Walsh popped in 12 field goals and two free throws to seal the play from other highly publicized U.S. basketball standouts and lead this country's Olympic basketball team to an 82-62 victory Wednesday night over the Eastern College All Stars.

The All Stars kept the pressure on the traveling Olympic cagers for almost three-quarters of the contest before an announced crowd of 10,000 in the University of Maryland field house.

Deshler Wallops Wymore, 20-0

DESHLER — Deshler scored three times in the last half to whip Wymore, 20-0, here Wednesday night.

Columbia's Benham Named Top 'Back Of The Week'

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

In football even a one-man team can't gain much recognition while he's playing for a loser. But when he engineers a major upset—WOW!

That's what Columbia's Claude Benham did last Saturday and as a result he was selected Wednesday as The Associated Press Back of the Week.

Benham, a little passing wizard

Benham, a little passing wizard from Portsmouth, Va., has been recognized for three seasons as the major part of Columbia's usually-futile offense. Two days before last Saturday's Harvard game, he wasn't even expected to play because of a leg injury and Columbia's rating dipped accordingly.

But Benham not only played, he stayed in there the full 60 minutes and personally led Columbia to a 26-20 upset victory. Statistics can't measure his performance but he completed 11 of 21 passes for 171 yards, scored one touchdown, passed for two and handed off for the other, harrassed the Crimsons with his running on roll-out plays and was superb on defense.

The final score came on a 69-yard pass play to Ed Spraker which someone called Benham's worst pass and his best. It almost fell short of the receiver, but defender Matt Botsford reached for it, touched the ball with his fingers and deflected it into Spraker's hands.

Rochester To End Cardinal Hookup?

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals are expected to terminate their baseball operations here within the next few weeks, the Times-Union Wednesday said in a by-lined story by sports writer Al Weber.

The Cardinals have operated the Rochester Red Wings as a farm club in the International League since 1928.

The Times-Union said two separate local groups have put out purchase feelers to August Busch, owner of the Cardinals and his baseball administrator, Frank Lane.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

By WARREN GAER
Head Football Coach, Drake University

It has been raining heavily during the Davidson-V.M.I. game and the only scores of the unusual 2-2 game have been safeties produced by the weather.

Davidson has lost its first two centers by injury and the center who is in the game is not a reliable passer on a punt. You, the Davidson quarterback, have the ball on your own 49-yard line, 18 yards from your left sideline, fourth down and four.

Your captain has called time-out and has argued with you that with three minutes of the game to go, he does not want to risk a punt and wants you to call a running play. However as quarterback, you have the final decision.

Rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Fred Fitzsimmons Named Cub Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — Fred (Fat Freddie) Fitzsimmons, veteran major league coach and former manager of the Philadelphia Phils, Wednesday became the first coach selected by new Chicago Cub Manager Bob Scheffing.

Fitzsimmons, 55, once a star pitcher for the New York Giants, will handle Cub hurlers for Scheffing, who succeeded Stan Hack as pilot of the National League club Oct. 12.

Scheffing, building an entirely new coaching staff, will pick one or two more assistants. Fitzsimmons managed the Phils in 1943-44-45.

Scheffing said Fitzsimmons was not a close acquaintance, but "I always was impressed by him as a coach."

Tebbets Named NL 'Manager Of Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—George (Birdie) Tebbetts, who instilled a bit of his own inspirational hustle into the Cincinnati Redlegs, Wednesday was named National League Manager-of-the-Year for 1956.

The aggressive Redlegs' skipper was an overwhelming choice of the 207 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America who participated in the annual Associated Press poll. Tebbetts received 160 votes.

The former catcher kept Cincinnati in the thick of National League pennant contention until the next-to-last day of the season. As it was, the Redlegs finished third—two games behind the flag-winning Brooklyn Dodgers.

Haney Second

Fred Haney, who took over the Milwaukee helm from Charley Grimm in mid-June and also just missed winning the pennant, was second in the balloting with 34 votes. Under his patient tutelage, the Braves moved to the front only to stumble in the final days as the Dodgers passed them.

Brooklyn's Walter Alston, the National League Manager-of-the-Year in 1955, received six votes for his performance this season. Although the Dodgers eventually won out, his demise in the voting was reflected in his team being a prohibitive favorite in the pre-season evaluations.

Bobby Bragan, Pittsburgh's rookie pilot, drew five votes as his team finished seventh after a whirlwind start. Freddie Hutchinson of St. Louis and Philadelphia's Mayo Smith picked up one vote each. The Cards wound up fourth and the Phils fifth.

Tebbetts, who had steered Cincinnati to fifth-place finishes in 1954 and 1955, molded his club into a formidable contender despite a dearth of steady pitching. He got 19 victories—most of them during the first half of the season—out of workhorse Brooks Lawrence, and Hershell Freeman, an untiring reliefer, contributed 14 triumphs.

But, by using his starters in relief roles and others as spot pitchers, Tebbetts somehow managed to squeeze 91 victories out of his staff. In the homestretch he revealed that his most effective pitcher at that time was a converted outfielder, Hal Jeffcoat, who posted an 8-2 record.

Calls On Bench

The Reds produced a bevy of long-ball hitters, but Tebbetts still had to go to his bench when Wally Post slumped, Ray Jablonski disappointed and Ted Kluszewski was injured.

Tebbetts had his team in first place by 1½ games at the All-Star break. Four days later the Redlegs fell to second, but they stayed in contention right down to the wire. It was the first time since 1944 that Cincinnati finished in the first division.

Tebbetts, 44, a native of Burlington, Vt., now lives in Nashua, N.H. He spent 14 seasons in the American League with Detroit, Boston and Cleveland, compiling a .270 lifetime batting average. He came to Cincinnati after managing Indianapolis of the American Assn. in 1953.

Alberto Beuses of Maracaibo, Venezuela is a member of the Syracuse University soccer team. He's only 5 feet 5 and weighs 148 pounds.

Plans Completed For Determining 6-Man Champion

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — Members of a special committee of the Hastings Lions Club have completed plans for sponsoring the mythical state championship six - man football game.

Headed by Paul Evans, a part of the Lions' Project Youth, the committee gave the green light for the contest as the first of an annual series.

Under the terms of the committee's agreement the top six-man football teams of the state according to ratings of various sports writers and comparative performances will be in contention for a bid to the playoff.

The committee said its choices for the two representatives in this year's game will be announced next week. A game will be played at the Hastings College Field, Friday Night, Nov. 16.

The top teams under consideration this week were Ruskin, Diller, Indianola and Dannebrog. However, the final selections will depend on performances of these and other teams this week.

Only Two Games Slated Tonight

Two games, both of which should be close ones, make up the Thursday night Nebraska high school football program.

Columbus is at Norfolk in a battle to escape the cellar in the Big Ten East Division. Columbus St. Bonaventure visits Omaha Holy Name at Benson Field.

The choices are Columbus and Holy Name.

Hunters Warned To Be Wary Of Hen Pheasants By Steen

"Don't shoot the hen that lays the golden eggs."

This was the focal point of an announcement Thursday from Mel Steen, Director of the Nebraska Game, Forestation and Parks Commisssion.

"The harvest of cock pheasants that we have in Nebraska during our open season does no harm whatsoever to the breeding stock," Steen said. "In fact, it does some good."

The Game Commission director said that no rule of wildlife management was so well proven as the one that says the harvest of cock pheasants will not harm the population for the following year.

"Like the barnyard chicken, the ringnecked pheasant is highly polygamous," Steen said. "It has been conclusively proven that a wild pheasant population can be reduced to a ratio of one rooster to ten hens without harmful effects."

But Steen went on to say that irresponsible shooting of hen pheasants, while strictly illegal is also detrimental to the future success of pheasant hunting in Nebraska.

Calls On Bench

The Reds produced a bevy of long-ball hitters, but Tebbetts still had to go to his bench when Wally Post slumped, Ray Jablonski disappointed and Ted Kluszewski was injured.

Tebbetts had his team in first place by 1½ games at the All-Star break. Four days later the Redlegs fell to second, but they stayed in contention right down to the wire. It was the first time since 1944 that Cincinnati finished in the first division.

Tebbetts, 44, a native of Burlington, Vt., now lives in Nashua, N.H. He spent 14 seasons in the American League with Detroit, Boston and Cleveland, compiling a .270 lifetime batting average. He came to Cincinnati after managing Indianapolis of the American Assn. in 1953.

Alberto Beuses of Maracaibo, Venezuela is a member of the Syracuse University soccer team. He's only 5 feet 5 and weighs 148 pounds.

Fred Fitzsimmons Named Cub Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — Fred (Fat Freddie) Fitzsimmons, veteran major league coach and former manager of the Philadelphia Phils, Wednesday became the first coach selected by new Chicago Cub Manager Bob Scheffing.

Fitzsimmons, 55, once a star pitcher for the New York Giants, will handle Cub hurlers for Scheffing, who succeeded Stan Hack as pilot of the National League club Oct. 12.

Scheffing, building an entirely new coaching staff, will pick one or two more assistants. Fitzsimmons managed the Phils in 1943-44-45.

Scheffing said Fitzsimmons was not a close acquaintance, but "I always was impressed by him as a coach."

Plans Completed For Determining 6-Man Champion

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — Members of a special committee of the Hastings Lions Club have completed plans for sponsoring the mythical state championship six - man football game.

Headed by Paul Evans, a part of the Lions' Project Youth, the committee gave the green light for the contest as the first of an annual series.

Under the terms of the committee's agreement the top six-man football teams of the state according to ratings of various sports writers and comparative performances will be in contention for a bid to the playoff.

The committee said its choices for the two representatives in this year's game will be announced next week. A game will be played at the Hastings College Field, Friday Night, Nov. 16.

The top teams under consideration this week were Ruskin, Diller, Indianola and Dannebrog. However, the final selections will depend on performances of these and other teams this week.

Only Two Games Slated Tonight

Two games, both of which should be close ones, make up the Thursday night Nebraska high school football program.

Columbus is at Norfolk in a battle to escape the cellar in the Big Ten East Division. Columbus St. Bonaventure visits Omaha Holy Name at Benson Field.

The choices are Columbus and Holy Name.

Hunters Warned To Be Wary Of Hen Pheasants By Steen

"Don't shoot the hen that lays the golden eggs."

This was the focal point of an announcement Thursday from Mel Steen, Director of the Nebraska Game, Forestation and Parks Commisssion.

"The harvest of cock pheasants that we have in Nebraska during our open season does no harm whatsoever to the breeding stock," Steen said. "In fact, it does some good."

The Game Commission director said that no rule of wildlife management was so well proven as the one that says the harvest of cock pheasants will not harm the population for the following year.

"Like the barnyard chicken, the ringnecked pheasant is highly polygamous," Steen said. "It has been conclusively proven that a wild pheasant population can be reduced to a ratio of one rooster to ten hens without harmful effects."

But Steen went on to say that irresponsible shooting of hen pheasants, while strictly illegal is also detrimental to the future success of pheasant hunting in Nebraska.

Kearney Hopes High For 1st Playoff In History

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Kearney High has a very good chance to be in the Big Ten post-season football playoff for the first time in history. The Bearcats may have arrived none too soon.

There is talk that the inter-division playoff will be discontinued after this year. It has been an annual event since 1945.

Kearney must survive a last-ditch bid by McCook in order to clinch West Division honors. Kearney has already disposed of the leading contender, Scottsbluff.

They've just begun to fight in the East Division. As usual it will be Grand Island, Hastings and Fremont scrapping for the title.

Fremont looks like the best bet for the championship, and that isn't usual. Grand Island — unbeaten by an East Division team since a 25-7 loss to Fremont in 1951 — has been the East representative in eight of the 11 playoffs.

Fremont made the grade in the off years — 1946, 1949 and 1951.

This year's Fremont club, boomed as the best prep team outside of Omaha this year, has an edge over its East Division rivals in the upcoming three-way fight.

Grand Island and Hastings play Friday night at Grand Island, and the edge would appear to go to the Islanders. While these two hearties are slashing at each other Fremont gets a rest.

Fremont played Beatrice in a non-league game Wednesday and has an extra two days to prepar for the Nov. 2 game with Grand Island at Fremont.

Fremont figures to win that one at home, and then would need only to beat Hastings the following week at Hastings to put the East title on ice.

Beating Hastings at home probably won't be easy.

Should Hastings prevail in that one — leaving the "Big Three" in a triple tie — Hastings will be in the playoff.

Big Ten rules provide that in case of a three-way tie the team which last appeared in the playoff drops from consideration. That would be Grand Island.

Then the nod goes to the winner of the game between the other contenders. That would be Hastings — if Hastings beats Fremont.

Any one of the three teams appears capable of beating Kearney in a playoff. A profile of the title-contending teams:

Kearney — A small but speedy team. Bernie Snider and Keith Kearney give the team good halfback punch; Kearney is a track sprinter, Snider an elusive runner. The Bearcats should go into the playoff unbeaten but with a string of uneasy victories against a weak Class A schedule.

Grand Island — The Islanders have an edge in depth, a winning tradition and a foxy veteran in Coach Jerry Lee. Monte Moorberg and Ward Winter are consistent ground - gainers off the T and single wing; Gary Dickinson is a breakaway threat. Oscar Bredthauer (6-5) is a big man at tackle and guard Dave Duff is one of GI's all-time best.

Fremont — Coach Art Ronhovde's team is seasoned as a group — and what a group! Tackles Dave Kerwin and Jerry Shotbolt are tops up front. The backfield includes Mike Iseman, a 200-pounder who has run the 100-yard dash in :10.3; Jim Petersen, a deceptive quarterback; and elusive Billy Pinnt, a veteran scatback.

Hastings — Joe Hill combines speed and power in one package, and poses the main Hastings threat. Don Perdew runs well at quarterback. Up front, Don Fricke and Curtiss Rutt have drawn comments for their rugged defensive line play.

Shaw Named New West Grid Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw of the Air Force Academy Wednesday was named head coach of the West team for the annual East-West charity football game here Dec. 29.

Shaw, whose Falcons are undefeated this season, formerly coached the professional San Francisco 49ers and before that was at Santa Clara.

He takes the place of Henry (Red) Sanders of UCLA who was forced to drop out as head coach when UCLA Chancellor Raymond Allen ruled no member of the Bruin coaching staff could coach in any post-season game this year.

The switch to Shaw, which was announced by game officials, also means the West will operate from the T formation instead of the single-wing which was expected if Sanders handled the squad.

The West assistant coaches are Abe Martin of TCU and Dallas Ward of Colorado.

NWU Soph May Play

Gary Hofmann, sophomore from Wahoo, may see his first real action Saturday when Wesleyan meets the Midland Warriors at Fremont. The Plainsmen halfback has been injured and has never played this fall. He will probably start at right half.

DODGER BATTING POWER GAINS 8-0 VICTORY OVER JAPANESE

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers finally gave Japanese pitchers a sample of their hitting power Wednesday by smothering the Kanto All-Stars 8-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Fred Kipp and Ralph Branca. It was the biggest Dodger batting show since the second game of the World Series.

A crowd of 30,000 fans watched in a drizzle while the Brooks won their second straight shutout for a 3-2 record in their 20-game barnstorming tour.

Junior Gilliam beat out an infield single and stole second to start a four-run rally in the third inning. There were two out at the time. After Pee Wee Reese walked, Duke Snider singled to score Gilliam. Successive walks to Roy Campanella and Jim Gentile forced in another run and Don Demeter singled home Snider and Campanella.

Brooklyn picked up another run in the sixth and three more in the seventh on hits by Gil Hodges, Campanella, Demeter and Gino Cimoli.

Kipp, the knuckleball pitcher who was brought up to the Dodgers in late season from the Montreal farm club, struck out six in the first seven innings. Branca, who was sent out to the St. Paul farm after the series, worked the eighth and ninth.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

ANSWER

4. Pass. Worst call. It will probably fall incomplete, and you've lost the ball on your own 49. Then there is the interception possibility.

3. Off tackle slant. Could go for four.

2. Statue of Liberty. Big gamble but if you're ever going to use this play it's a good time to try it. If it goes, it will likely go well, but that ball's slippery.

1. Punt. Best call. It's still the best choice even though the center is uncertain. If you get the punt away, you should put the opponents back to their 20. There's still time for you to get the ball back.

Eagles Sign Ex-Husker Bob Smith

A reliable source reported Wednesday that Bob Smith, former All-Big Seven fullback for the University of Nebraska, has been signed by the Philadelphia Eagles.

Smith averaged 3.8 yards a carry as a rookie for the Cleveland Browns last year, but was released this fall.

The Eagles made veteran halfback Jim Parmer a scout to make room for Smith.

Bitter Wives Arrive In US After Forced From Japan

. . . By Marine Corps Policy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Twenty-three women and 43 children reached San Francisco after being forced out of Japan by a Marine Corps policy.

Gen. Randolph Pate, Corps commander who said he wanted a "mobile combat force" in the Far East, declared his men must not be "encumbered by dependents or garrison-type paraphernalia."

All the women except two were wives of officers with ranks from lieutenant through major. The other two were wives of sergeants.

Appeared Bitter

All appeared bitter and talkative but none would be quoted by name.

The San Francisco Chronicle reported one woman said, "If we didn't leave, it was suggested that our husbands faced punitive action which might harm their careers."

The women had paid their own fares to Japan and had regular or tourist visas.

Fear, Coercion

Another woman was quoted as saying they could have managed if "our husbands were ordered away from Japan. We have the fare home saved up and we'd get on a ship or plane and go home."

The wife of a major said the return "was accomplished by fear and coercion."

The women and children arrived on the Navy Transport Gen. E. D. Patrick.

Hastings Far From Chest Goal Of $55,000

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—The annual Community Chest collection tops the $34,000 mark, but observers are skeptical that it will reach its goal of $55,000.

A considerable amount of clean-up work remains to be done, but the $55,000 figure still looms distant.

Future Teachers To Meet Friday

The Nebraska conference of the Future Teachers of America will meet Friday at Nebraska Wesleyan University with future teachers expected from five Nebraska colleges and universities.

Representatives of FTA chapters from Wayne State, Omaha University, Doane College, Midland College and Wesleyan will attend. At least 150 students are expected for the meeting, according to Miss Barbara Ziggafoos, Grand Island senior, Wesleyan's representative on the planning committee for the meeting.

Dr. Frank McIntyre, former Nebraska educator who is now director of public relations for the California Teachers Association, will deliver the main address before the group at a noon luncheon.

Officers of the host Wesleyan FTA chapter are Gerry Wohlfeil, Norfolk senior, president; Carol McCoy, Tecumseh junior, vice-president; Mary Bohling, Edgar junior, secertary; Janet Baldwin, Stanton junior, treasurer.

Sponsor for the Wesleyan group is Miss Nettie Clark.

The Wesleyan FTA has a membership of 196, largest on any campus in the state.

Bitter Wives Arrive In US After Forced From Japan

. . . By Marine Corps Policy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Twenty-three women and 43 children reached San Francisco after being forced out of Japan by a Marine Corps policy.

Gen. Randolph Pate, Corps commander who said he wanted a "mobile combat force" in the Far East, declared his men must not be "encumbered by dependents or garrison-type paraphernalia."

All the women except two were wives of officers with ranks from lieutenant through major. The other two were wives of sergeants.

Appeared Bitter

All appeared bitter and talkative but none would be quoted by name.

The San Francisco Chronicle reported one woman said, "If we didn't leave, it was suggested that our husbands faced punitive action which might harm their careers."

The women had paid their own fares to Japan and had regular or tourist visas.

Fear, Coercion

Another woman was quoted as saying they could have managed if "our husbands were ordered away from Japan. We have the fare home saved up and we'd get on a ship or plane and go home."

The wife of a major said the return "was accomplished by fear and coercion."

The women and children arrived on the Navy Transport Gen. E. D. Patrick.

Hastings Far From Chest Goal Of $55,000

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—The annual Community Chest collection tops the $34,000 mark, but observers are skeptical that it will reach its goal of $55,000.

A considerable amount of clean-up work remains to be done, but the $55,000 figure still looms distant.

Dr. Frank McIntyre, former Nebraska educator who is now director of public relations for the California Teachers Association, will deliver the main address before the group at a noon luncheon.

Sponsor for the Wesleyan group is Miss Nettie Clark.

The Wesleyan FTA has a membership of 196, largest on any campus in the state.

Estes Kefauver Hits New Handshaking High At Ford Motor Plant Main Gate

By E. L. LIVINGSTONE

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, an old confirmed handshaker, hit a new campaign handshaking high at the main gate of the Ford Motor Co Rouge plant in Dearborn Wednesday.

Breasting a human stream of workers during the 4 o'clock change of work shifts, Kefauver pumped hands right and left for a full hour.

Only One

If the Democratic vice-presidential candidate missed any of the 40,000 Ford workers estimated to enter and depart from the huge 1,200-acre plant at shift change time, it was only because he could work only one gate at a time A plant guard said there were at least 13 gates.

An aide clocked him, and estimates of the number of hands he gripped ran as high as 3,000 Kefauver himself guessed he shook hands with 1,500 workers.

Flanked by Gov G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams, Kefauver took up a position at one side of Gate 4 at 3 p m. as officials of the United Auto Workers shouted, "Shake hands with labor's friend."

At 3:13 p m, Gov. Williams crossed over to work the other side of the street. A few minutes later, Kefauver dodged departing autos to join in

Bedlam

It was a scene of high confusion and bedlam, with workers going both ways and a sound truck entreating union members to "meet the people who have been supporting labor for years."

At 3 28 p m Kefauver, Williams and Lt Gov. Philip Hart hiked a long block to Gate 3 for a repeat performance.

Gov Williams, a veteran at this sort of thing, gave a vigorous performance Kefauver, who likes to dawdle over his handshaking, looked slightly dazed

Malaya's Rubber Industry Founder Ridley Dies At 100

LONDON (AP) — Henry Nicholas Ridley, founder of Malaya's modern rubber industry, died here Wednesday. He would have been 101 on December

Ridley went to Malaya in 1889 as director of Singapore's botanical gardens when Malaya had few rubber trees

Ridley cultivated an experimental set of trees planted with seeds smuggled from the Amazon in South America and got settlers to plant rubber They called him 'Mad Ridley.'

Then he discovered how to extract latex without injuring the rubber tree and this won his campaign.

Over the years vast fortunes were made from Malayan rubber but Ridley's only financial reward was a gift of 300 pounds—$2,240—made to him by rubber planters on his retirement He died in modest circumstances.

Army To Tell Its Air-Age Role, But Under No-Controversy Rule

Some Ideas Will Remain Wrapped

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will set out Thursday to convince the nation it should have a big role in this age of air-atomic weapons. But a no-controversy directive from the White House reportedly will keep some of the Army's ideas under wraps.

Top military and civilian officials of the Army will present their case at the second annual convention of the Assn. of the United States Army. They've been told, however, to avoid touching off any intraservice controversy that might spill over into the political field.

The Army originally intended to lead off with a five-stage presentation of the future Army, dubbed "Futurarmy" for the purposes of the convention.

Although this had been approved by the Army chief of staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, it was dropped after high-level Pentagon conferences and a call to the White House.

Also Deleted

A special presentation on the "role of Army aviation"—a field that involves competition with the Air Force—also was deleted.

The Army's difficulties over the program it wanted to present to the meeting of reserve, National Guard and retired officers and civilian industrialists started in the Pentagon. But eventually the issue reached the White House.

President Eisenhower, an old soldier himself, is authoritatively reported to have told the Army to go ahead and tell its story, but to be careful not to stir interservice controversy.

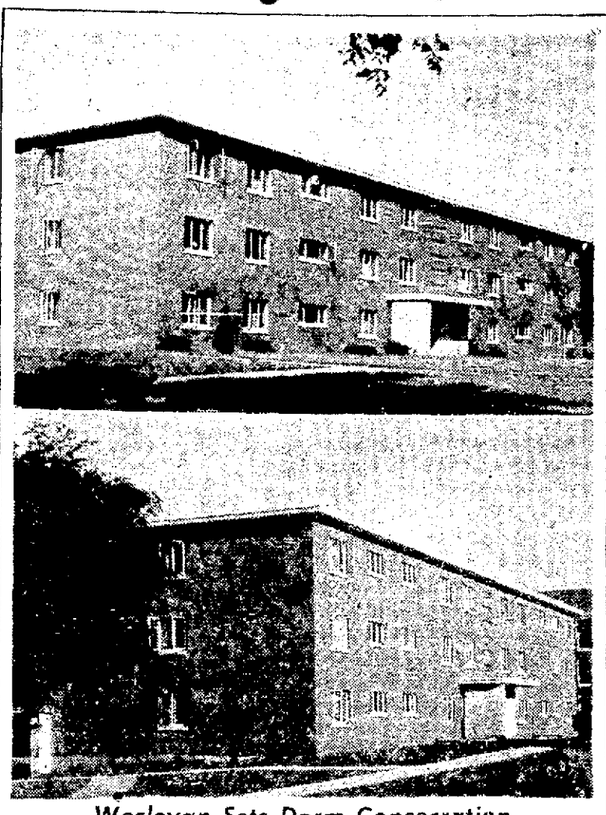
One point of conflict yet to be saisfactorily worked out involves a major address which Secretary of the Army Brucker plans to deliver to the convention Friday night.

Fourth Draft

This speech is known to be in at least its fourth draft. As a result of Pentagon blue-penciling the Army Secretary is reworking his material, still hoping to obtain approval of some pointed statements he wants to make about the Army's role in the use of medium-range guided missiles.

The Pentagon's sensitivity to possible controversial military issues was sharpened last spring and early summer by publicized reports of interservice feuding.

The Army association was sponsored and is now officered largely by generals on active duty. It brings together all individuals and groups who have a prime interest in the Army.



Wesleyan Sets Dorm Consecration

Twin $250,000 dormitories at Nebraska Wesleyan University will be consecrated Nov. 2 in services at the Methodist school. The dormitory at the top is men's Hall, completed in the fall of 1955. Pioneer Hall for women, below, was completed in September, 1956. Often confused because they are so much alike, these twin dormitories of contemporary style and design, are 130 by 36 feet, three-story structures with exteriors of native, red brick and grey, Indiana limestone. Each contains carpeted and wood-paneled lounges that are 33 by 20 feet, full basements with facilities for snacking, study and recreation, and apartments for the head residents. Pioneer Hall houses 84 coeds and Men's Hall houses 94 men.

Brass Cuts Sentence For Marine Hero

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—The court-martial sentence of Sgt. Alford Lee McLaughlin, Marine Medal of Honor winner, Wednesday was reduced somewhat by his commanding officer, a Marine Corps spokesman reported.

McLaughlin was found guilty of drunkenness and other charges by a special court-martial Oct. 17.

The spokesman said Col. George F. Gober approved the $120 fine and the reduction in rank to private imposed on McLaughlin, but stipulated that the reduction be suspended for a period of six months. This places McLaughlin on a probationary status.

'Remitted'

McLaughlin's confinement in the brig for three months was entirely "remitted," or canceled, the spokesman said.

The Leeds, Ala., career Marine was arrested after he threatened an officer with a shotgun after drinking some whisky at Rome, Ga., where he was on duty, testimony showed.

McLaughlin received the Medal of Honor from President Eisenhower on Aug. 17, 1953, for defending an outpost in Korea by firing two machine guns despite painful wounds. He is credited with killing about 150 Chinese Reds and wounding 50 others.

Army To Tell Its Air-Age Role, But Under No-Controversy Rule

Some Ideas Will Remain Wrapped

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will set out Thursday to convince the nation it should have a big role in this age of air-atomic weapons. But a no-controversy directive from the White House reportedly will keep some of the Army's ideas under wraps.

Top military and civilian officials of the Army will present their case at the second annual convention of the Assn. of the United States Army. They've been told, however, to avoid touching off any intraservice controversy that might spill over into the political field.

The Army originally intended to lead off with a five-stage presentation of the future Army, dubbed "Futurarmy" for the purposes of the convention.

Although this had been approved by the Army chief of staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, it was dropped after high-level Pentagon conferences and a call to the White House.

Also Deleted

A special presentation on the "role of Army aviation"—a field that involves competition with the Air Force—also was deleted.

The Army's difficulties over the program it wanted to present to the meeting of reserve, National Guard and retired officers and civilian industrialists started in the Pentagon. But eventually the issue reached the White House.

President Eisenhower, an old soldier himself, is authoritatively reported to have told the Army to go ahead and tell its story, but to be careful not to stir interservice controversy.

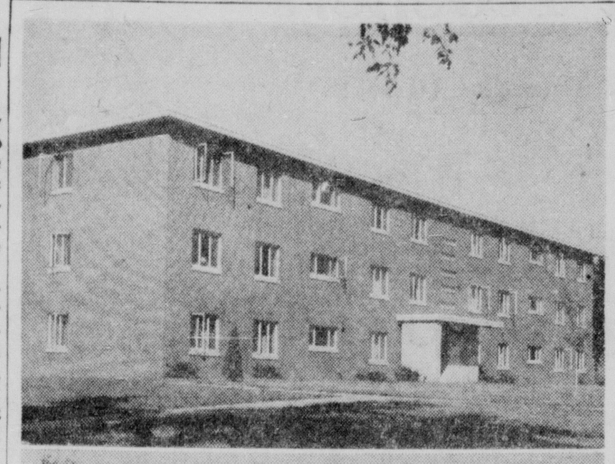
One point of conflict yet to be saisfactorily worked out involves a major address which Secretary of the Army Brucker plans to deliver to the convention Friday night.

Fourth Draft

This speech is known to be in at least its fourth draft. As a result of Pentagon blue-penciling the Army Secretary is reworking his material, still hoping to obtain approval of some pointed statements he wants to make about the Army's role in the use of medium-range guided missiles.

The Pentagon's sensitivity to possible controversial military issues was sharpened last spring and early summer by publicized reports of interservice feuding.

The Army association was sponsored and is now officered largely by generals on active duty. It brings together all individuals and groups who have a prime interest in the Army.



Wesleyan Sets Dorm Consecration

Twin $250,000 dormitories at Nebraska Wesleyan University will be consecrated Nov. 2 in services at the Methodist school. The dormitory at the top is men's Hall, completed in the fall of 1955. Pioneer Hall for women, below, was completed in September, 1956. Often confused because they are so much alike, these twin dormitories of contemporary style and design, are 130 by 36 feet, three-story structures with exteriors of native, red brick and grey, Indiana limestone. Each contains carpeted and wood-paneled lounges that are 33 by 20 feet, full basements with facilities for snacking, study and recreation, and apartments for the head residents. Pioneer Hall houses 84 coeds and Men's Hall houses 94 men.

Brass Cuts Sentence For Marine Hero

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—The court-martial sentence of Sgt. Alford Lee McLaughlin, Marine Medal of Honor winner, Wednesday was reduced somewhat by his commanding officer, a Marine Corps spokesman reported.

McLaughlin was found guilty of drunkenness and other charges by a special court-martial Oct. 17.

The spokesman said Col. George F. Gober approved the $120 fine and the reduction in rank to private imposed on McLaughlin, but stipulated that the reduction be suspended for a period of six months. This places McLaughlin on a probationary status.

'Remitted'

McLaughlin's confinement in the brig for three months was entirely "remitted," or canceled, the spokesman said.

The Leeds, Ala., career Marine was arrested after he threatened an officer with a shotgun after drinking some whisky at Rome, Ga., where he was on duty, testimony showed.

McLaughlin received the Medal of Honor from President Eisenhower on Aug. 17, 1953, for defending an outpost in Korea by firing two machine guns despite painful wounds. He is credited with killing about 150 Chinese Reds and wounding 50 others.

7 Workers Die In Cave-In

VARENNES, Quebec (INS) — Two hundred sweating, mud-caked men lost a heart-breaking race Wednesday to reach seven workers buried under 30 feet of earth.

The victims were trapped when a sudden cave-in filled a huge ditch beside the St. Lawrence River where pipe was being installed to serve a pigments plant.

'Kidnap' Case

'Queen' Is Subject To U.S. Seizure'

Action Not Really Considered Though Law Was Broken

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials said Wednesday the departure of a little girl aboard the Queen Mary Oct. 3 had created a situation in which the 81,000-ton British liner might be subject to forfeit to the American government.

But James L. Hennessy, executive assistant to Immigration Commissioner J. M. Swing, indicated the situation was a technical one and that there is no thought of attempting to seize the ship.

The question was discussed during a Senate investigation of why immigration officials allowed the Queen Mary to sail from New York, having good reason to believe that Alexei Chwastov had his 2½ - year - old, American - born daughter Tanya aboard without a passport for her and with intent to take her to Russia.

Detained

Chwastov and Tanya were detained in London, where the child has become a ward of the British High Court pending the outcome of custody proceedings brought by her mother, Mrs. George Diaczak, 25, of Detroit. Mrs. Diaczak arrived in London Wednesday to press her case.

Hennessy said "we are still investigating" to see if any action against the Cunard line—owners of the Queen Mary—is warranted.

In an exchange with Robert Morris, counsel for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, the immigration official agreed with Morris that the law provides that any vehicle, vessel or aircraft "shall be forfeited to the United States" if its owners knowingly allow its use for the illegal departure of a U.S. citizen from this country.

American Citizen

The government contends that Tanya is an American citizen, while Soviet officials have claimed she is Russian.

Testimony taken at the Senate inquiry has been to the effect that Soviet diplomatic officials helped to smuggle Tanya out of the country, foiling the efforts of U.S. immigration officials to get her off the ship before it sailed.

Evidence has also been produced that Tanya was born in Philadelphia July 12, 1954, and that her birth certificate records she is the illegitimate daughter of Chwastov and Mrs. Diaczak, whose name at that time was Elena Romanow.

Displaced Persons

Both Chwastov and Mrs. Diaczak were in this country as displaced persons at the time of the birth. The mother has since married. She said in London Wednesday her present husband is ready to adopt Tanya if she regains custody of her.

Reporting on the unsuccessful attempt to remove Tanya from the Queen Mary, Hennessy said that at one point on Oct. 3 he ordered his agents to request the U. S. Customs Service to hold the ship in port until the child had been found.

Later he withdrew his order, Hennessy said, because among other reasons it was "past my comprehension that the Cunard line would not have exerted every possible effort" to see that Tanya did not sail without a passport "in view of the possibility of forfeiture of the Queen Mary" under U. S. law.

Hennessy characterized the Oct. 3 proceedings as a "Fiasco." He sad he thought his agents had enough men and enough time to fulfill orders he said Commissioner Swing had issued personally to prevent the child from sailing "at all costs."

Nixon Says Adlai Resorting To 'Desperation Tactics' On H-Tests

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Vice President Nixon said Wednesday night that Adlai Stevenson has resorted to "tactics of pure desperation" on the H-bomb issue in recent days because he knows his campaign "is not getting off the ground."

"The only explanation for Mr. Stevenson's reckless and dangerous statements on this issue is that he is a desperate man," said Nixon in a prepared speech.

"Mr. Stevenson's injection of the H-bomb issue into this campaign has cost him whatever confidence he might have merited as a candidate for president. I predict it has cost him whatever chance he might have had for the presidency itself.

"When Mr. Stevenson ignored President Eisenhower's long-standing and thoughtful program for atomic disarmament —and even urged consideration of the uncontrolled Bulganin plan—he forfeited all claim to leadership in this time of great world crisis."

Attack Renewed

The speech marked a renewal of the sharp attack on the Democratic presidential nominee on the H-bomb issue which the vice president began last night in South Bend, Ind.

At that time, Nixon sought to equate Stevenson's proposal on halting H-bomb tests with the one made by Russian Premier Bulganin in a letter to Eisenhower last week.

The Democratic nominee has said he shares Eisenhower's resentiment at the Soviet attempt to interfere in an American political campaign on this issue. But he had declared the United States should pursue "all the way" the opening now provided by the Russians on the question.

Train Campaign

Nixon motored here from Chicago for his speech after completing three days of campaign by train in the Middle West. In Illinois he constantly painted a rosy picture of Republican prospects in rear platform talks in this home state of the Democratic presidential contender.

In his speech Wednesday night, Nixon declared every candidate for national office should "stand up and be counted" on the H-bomb issue. "I believe that every candidate for the House and Senate, Republican and Democrat, should state before Election Day whether he favors the Eisenhower proposal for disarmament, which insists on inspection, or the Stevenson proposals which provide for stopping tests based on a simple agreement without inspection," he said.

No 'Children's Hour'

VIENNA (INS)—Budapest Radio Wednesday night interrupted its continuing flow of appeals for order and reports of fighting with this message: "The children's hour cannot be broadcast tonight. Do not be angry, children, that you have to go to sleep without your bedtime stories."

Stevenson Is Missing Point On Bomb Test

Claims Knowland In G.I. Address

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif) Wednesday night said he believes the American people will stand with President Eisenhower in repudiating "the effort of Russian Premier Bulganin to cast, in effect, this absentee ballot in our presidential election."

Referring to Bulganin's letter to the President proposing an end to H-bomb testing, Sen. Knowland said the "Kremlin apparently feels it can now unwarrantedly interfere in American elections."

The policy of Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, played directly into the hands of the Soviet Union, Knowland said. Stevenson has proposed an end to the bomb testing.

"Candidate Stevenson misses the point. The issue is not whether the United States and the Soviet Union could agree to the termination of atomic and nuclear weapon testing."

'Agreement Meaningless'

Knowland said "agreement with the Soviet Union, without adequate inspection proposed by President Eisenhower, is meaningless and could jeopardize the safety of our republic."

During the past quarter of a century, said Knowland, the Soviet Union has violated every major international obligation with non-Communist nations.

"If Mr. Stevenson does not know this," said Knowland, "he is too naive to be president of the United States and commander in chief of our Armed Forces."

Sen. Knowland was in Grand Island for a Republican fund raising dinner. Some 300 persons attended the $10 a plate dinner.

Earlier Wednesday Sen. Knowland was a surprise guest as the Nebraska Republican caravan stopped in McCook.

Nixon Says Adlai Resorting To 'Desperation Tactics' On H-Tests

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Vice President Nixon said Wednesday night that Adlai Stevenson has resorted to "tactics of pure desperation" on the H-bomb issue in recent days because he knows his campaign "is not getting off the ground."

"The only explanation for Mr. Stevenson's reckless and dangerous statements on this issue is that he is a desperate man," said Nixon in a prepared speech.

"Mr. Stevenson's injection of the H-bomb issue into this campaign has cost him whatever confidence he might have merited as a candidate for president. I predict it has cost him whatever chance he might have had for the presidency itself.

"When Mr. Stevenson ignored President Eisenhower's long-standing and thoughtful program for atomic disarmament —and even urged consideration of the uncontrolled Bulganin plan—he forfeited all claim to leadership in this time of great world crisis."

Attack Renewed

The speech marked a renewal of the sharp attack on the Democratic presidential nominee on the H-bomb issue which the vice president began last night in South Bend, Ind.

At that time, Nixon sought to equate Stevenson's proposal on halting H-bomb tests with the one made by Russian Premier Bulganin in a letter to Eisenhower last week.

The Democratic nominee has said he shares Eisenhower's resentiment at the Soviet attempt to interfere in an American political campaign on this issue. But he had declared the United States should pursue "all the way" the opening now provided by the Russians on the question.

Train Campaign

Nixon motored here from Chicago for his speech after completing three days of campaign by train in the Middle West. In Illinois he constantly painted a rosy picture of Republican prospects in rear platform talks in this home state of the Democratic presidential contender.

In his speech Wednesday night, Nixon declared every candidate for national office should "stand up and be counted" on the H-bomb issue. "I believe that every candidate for the House and Senate, Republican and Democrat, should state before Election Day whether he favors the Eisenhower proposal for disarmament, which insists on inspection, or the Stevenson proposals which provide for stopping tests based on a simple agreement without inspection," he said.

No 'Children's Hour'

VIENNA (INS)—Budapest Radio Wednesday night interrupted its continuing flow of appeals for order and reports of fighting with this message: "The children's hour cannot be broadcast tonight. Do not be angry, children, that you have to go to sleep without your bedtime stories."

Stevenson Is Missing Point On Bomb Test

Claims Knowland In G.I. Address

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif) Wednesday night said he believes the American people will stand with President Eisenhower in repudiating "the effort of Russian Premier Bulganin to cast, in effect, this absentee ballot in our presidential election."

Referring to Bulganin's letter to the President proposing an end to H-bomb testing, Sen. Knowland said the "Kremlin apparently feels it can now unwarrantedly interfere in American elections."

The policy of Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, played directly into the hands of the Soviet Union, Knowland said. Stevenson has proposed an end to the bomb testing.

"Candidate Stevenson misses the point. The issue is not whether the United States and the Soviet Union could agree to the termination of atomic and nuclear weapon testing."

'Agreement Meaningless'

Knowland said "agreement with the Soviet Union, without adequate inspection proposed by President Eisenhower, is meaningless and could jeopardize the safety of our republic."

During the past quarter of a century, said Knowland, the Soviet Union has violated every major international obligation with non-Communist nations.

"If Mr. Stevenson does not know this," said Knowland, "he is too naive to be president of the United States and commander in chief of our Armed Forces."

Sen. Knowland was in Grand Island for a Republican fund raising dinner. Some 300 persons attended the $10 a plate dinner.

Earlier Wednesday Sen. Knowland was a surprise guest as the Nebraska Republican caravan stopped in McCook.

Mrs. Ringland, 67, Rites On Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha L. Ringland, 67, of 2017 So. 14th, will be held 3:30 p.m. Friday at Wadlows, with Dr. Frank A. Court officiating. Burial will be in Lincoln Memorial Park.

Mrs. Ringland died Wednesday. A native of Bennet, Neb., she came to Licoln from Bennet ten years ago. She was a member of the Farmers Union Auxiliary at Bennet and Eagles Auxiliary 147 in Lincoln.

Surviving are her husband, Earl; sons, LeRoy and Wendell, both of Bennet; sister, Mrs. Minnie Clark of Coeur d'Alene, Ida.; brother Frank Stieber of Lincoln; and five grandchildren.

'Southern Negroes Kept From Polls; Criminal Prosecutions Likely' — Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III said Wednesday there will be post-election criminal prosecutions in the South if qualified Negroes are denied the vote in the Nov 6 election.

He told newsmen that "disfranchisement of colored voters is going forward on a mass basis" through revision of registration roles in some areas of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and North Carolina. Some of the procedure involved is "fraudulent" on the face of it, he said.

Olney named the White Citizens Councils, opponents of school integration, as prime movers in this matter and said a half dozen FBI investigations are in progress.

After Elections

"But, Olney said the "weakness" of existing civil rights statutes makes it impossible for the Justice Department to move until the right to vote has been actually denied on Election Day — too late to help the voter.

"You can't make a case until a qualified voter is deprived of his rights at the polls," he said. "But in every instance where we can show a qualified person was denied the right to vote simply because of his color, we intend to prosecute."

Olney, who heads the department's Criminal Division, disclosed that he has moved in another direction in connection with the reported disfranchisement of Negroes.

14th Amendment

He said he had advised Chairman Burleson (D-Tex) of the Committee on House Administration of the results of some of the Southern investigations and called his attention to a section of the 14th Amendment which provides for reduction of House membership for any state where persons are denied the voting privilege "on any grounds except rebellion or other crime."

Olney said such reduction "in proportion to the number of citizens denied the vote," is a matter entirely within the control of Congress.

Olney said he had also renewed a previous request to the Senate Elections subcommittee that it hold hearings in the South before Election Day on evidence of "purging" of Negroes from the registration rolls.

'Purge'

He discussed this alleged "purging" in Ouachita Parish, La., in an appearance before the committee Oct. 10. He said Wednesday he had since given the committee a list of witnesses "who could show what is going on in Ouachita Parish" and also the names of public officials and White Citizens Council members involved.

Chairman Gore (D-Tenn) of the subcommittee said at the time of the original request that his group was "deeply concerned" with the disfranchisement of any citizen, but indicated that he and others felt it was too late to hold hearings in the South before Nov 6.

Olney told the subcommittee of investigations in Ouachita and Rapides parishes, La., and in Pierce County, Ga. Wednesday he said similar investigations were being made in Grant Parish, La., and Montgomery and Macon counties, Ala.

'Pattern'

Most of these investigations, he reported, showed "a pattern" in which White Citizens Council members were challenging Negro voters on the registration polls and setting in motion a complicated procedure for restoration of the names through affidavits. He said this procedure is frequently difficult to complete. 'Thousands' of Negroes have been taken off qualified voting lists as a result of this "scheme," he asserted.

He said in some cases Negroes had been taken off the rolls because they used the letter "c" on their registration instead of writing out "colored."

Olney said that the present situation is "unprecedented since it involves removal of eligibility from voters previously recognized as qualified. He said this was in distinction to the familiar plan of simply placing obstacles in the way of prospective Negro registrants.

'Conspiracy'

Olney asserted there were indications of "one large conspiracy" in connection with the various cases being investigated as well as indications of "a top echelon of leadership." However, he said he could not discuss this further because "I don't want to name names at this point."

Olney said it was his intention to proceed in proven cases of racial discrimination at the polls either under the statute covering general conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States or the civil rights statutes, which outlaw conspiracies by private individuals as well as public officials against constitutional rights. The possible penalties under these statutes range from one year to 10 years imprisonment and $5,000 to $10,000 fine.

Frontier Industries is set up to construct mobile homes, while Frontier Homes will buy and sell them.

Other articles were filed for the Atkisson Transit Mix-Concrete and Gravel Co. of Omaha incorporated by William Atkisson and C. James Child with a $200,000 authorized capitalization.

What's Difference?—In Simple Terms

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (INS) — Janice Anderson, 10, of McFarland, Calif, has a question so big that it went to the top authorities in the land for an answer — and she still is not sure she has heard the final word.

Her earth-shaking query is: "I would like to know the difference between Democrats and Republicans. Please explain it in a simple way so I can understand it."

The question, so commonplace and yet so profound, may become a classic paralleling the one years ago which was answered by a new York Sun editorial telling a little girl, "yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

Janice first asked her father and mother, then her neighbors and others No satisfaction. Then she sent the question to the Bakersfield Californian, the closest big daily newspaper.

Typical

Managing editor Jim Day consulted several authorities and reported to the girl via the newspaper columns that typical answers on the difference between Democrats and Republicans were:

"If my name is going to be used, I don't want anything to do with it."

"Now, that's a tough one to answer.

"I have my own personal idea, but that may not be what the party really is."

"I have to go out of town and can't answer in such a short time."

Day, dissatisfied even with the dictionary definition, went to the top for Janice He wrote to President Eisenhower and Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson.

Speech

The letter to the President was answered by his assistant press secretary, Murray Snyder, who sent a 1,000-word speech on the subject by Arthur Larson, undersecretary of labor

The speech said in part that there is an "underlying cleavage in philosophy between the two parties." Democrats have "a tendency, as to all sorts of human problems, to try collective and governmental remedies as against relying on individual, pluralist and private activities."

On the other hand, the Larson speech said, the Republican party "believes that the private and individual remedy should be tried first in all problems, with the government stepping in only if the job is too big for private, state or local efforts."

Stevenson himself answered Day's letter and sent along a seven-page copy of a speech he had made on the subject and he remarked "I'm proud of you — It's an excellent question!"

All The People

Stevenson said in part:

"It is the Democratic faith . . . that the government of a democracy must trust all the people it serves, that it must be made up of representatives of all the people, and that its obligation cannot be to any special interest but only to all the people."

Janice likes to read the big words and profound ideas, but still is looking for a really simple and clear answer to her question.

But her quest so far has not been a waste of time — she now has Stevenson's autograph.

Three Daughters Of Ranking Soviet Officers Sentenced

MOSCOW (AP) — The "jazz age" careers in crime and free love of three daughters of high-ranking Soviet officers were curbed Wednesday with one-year sentences for burglary.

The three girls are Elena Kuznetsova, 23, whose father is an army major general; Alla Maximova, 19, daughter of a secret police colonel and Tanya Andreyeva, 18, daughter of an air force colonel.

According to the original published account of their escapades in Komsomol Pravda, they had been running around with the sons of Soviet Cabinet ministers.

Wednesday's verdict made no mention of the boys.

At the trial the girls admitted to financing wild drinking parties and weekend trips by auto to such distant ports as Leningrad with their boy friends by looting apartments—including that of Stalin's favorite movie actress, Mariya Ladinina.

Stocks Dip In Quiet Session

NEW YORK (AP)—Motor, steel and copper shares sent the stock market lower Wednesday in a quiet session. Losses in the weaker divisions ranged from fractions to around $4 a share.

Selling in coppers was attributed to the recent price cuts by domestic custom smelters and foreign producers. After the market close, Phelps Dodge Corp., a major producer, reduced its price by 4 cents a pound.

Brokers also singled out Ford's sharply lower earnings as a factor in the decline. They were inclined to minimize the effect of the armed rebellion in Hungary.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $1 at $178.30.

Of 1,128 issues traded, 571 lost ground and 291 advanced. Volume amounted to 1,640,000 shares compared with yesterday's 1,390,000 shares.

Kennecott Copper dropped $4.37 a share to $124.37, Bethlehem Steel $1.37 to $86.62, Luckens Steel $2 to $104, Ford $1.75 to $58.37, Magma Copper $2.12 to $95 and Anaconda $1.50 to $75.75.

Three Daughters Of Ranking Soviet Officers Sentenced

MOSCOW (AP) — The "jazz age" careers in crime and free love of three daughters of high-ranking Soviet officers were curbed Wednesday with one-year sentences for burglary.

The three girls are Elena Kuznetsova, 23, whose father is an army major general; Alla Maximova, 19, daughter of a secret police colonel, and Tanya Andreyeva, 18, daughter of an air force colonel.

According to the original published account of their escapades in Komsomol Pravda, they had been running around with the sons of Soviet Cabinet ministers.

Wednesday's verdict made no mention of the boys.

At the trial the girls admitted to financing wild drinking parties and weekend trips by auto to such distant points as Leningrad with their boy friends by looting apartments—including that of Stalin's favorite movie actress, Mariyj Ladinina.

Stocks Dip In Quiet Session

NEW YORK (AP)—Motor, steel and copper shares sent the stock market lower Wednesday in a quiet session. Losses in the weaker divisions ranged from fractions to around $4 a share.

Selling in coppers was attributed to the recent price cuts by domestic custom smelters and foreign producers. After the market close, Phelps Dodge Corp., a major producer, reduced its price by 4 cents a pound.

Brokers also singled out Ford's sharply lower earnings as a factor in the decline. They were inclined to minimize the effect of the armed rebellion in Hungary.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $1 at $178.30.

Of 1,128 issues traded, 571 lost ground and 291 advanced. Volume amounted to 1,640,000 shares compared with yesterday's 1,390,000 shares.

Kennecott Copper dropped $4.37 a share to $124.37, Bethlehem Steel $1.37 to $66.62, Luckens Steel $2 to $104, Ford $1.75 to $58.37, Magma Copper $2.2 to $95 and Anaconda $1.50 to $75.75.

GREGORY PECKS HAVE A BABY SON

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Gregory Peck and his wife, the former Veronique Passani, became the parents of a 7-pound, 14-ounce boy in Santa Monica Hospital Wednesday.

Dr. William C. Bradbury said there were no complications and mother and son both were doing fine.

It was the couple's first child. Peck, 40, has three sons by his previous wife, Greta. That marriage ended in divorce last December.

The actor and Miss Passani, a former French journalist, were married last New Year's Day. She is 24.

Elgin Plant Here Shifting To Diversification—Firm Chief

Elgin National Watch Company President J. G. Shennan announced Wednesday that the Lincoln Elgin plant is slowly being converted into a highly diversified operation with emphasis on miniature precision craftmanship.

Speaking to plant supervisors at a meeting in Lincoln, Shennan told the group the "present level of employment (in Lincoln) is expected to be maintained for some time to come."

He explained, however, that the new type of production contemplated means the Lincoln plant "may never again provide as much employment as in the past."

1,000 Employed

Company officials said the present employment at the Lincoln plant is approximately 1,000 as compared with a peak of about 2,200 in 1953.

Wheras employment was boosted between 1951 and 1955 by high volume production of precision ammunition components, the new emphasis on guided missiles and other "wonder weapons" is "fast obsoleting conventional munitions," Shennan explained. To keep pace with the times, he stated, "we're getting into this 'wonder weapon' field ourselves, just as fast as possible."

Elgin's present blueprint for its Lincoln plant calls for continued production here of all its watch plates, the watch company president said. He added that Lincoln is also scheduled to assemble the majority of Elgin's watches so long as anyone can now foresee.

"Beyond this," Shennan said, "we hope to handle here the bulk of contract manufacturing projects developed by our micronics division. This will include not only straight production jobs assigned to us by other manufacturers because of the intricate workmanship required, but also production resulting from military and aircraft developmental work undertaken by the company."

As an example of the former he cited Elgin's new contract to produce prototype units for a new central air data computer designed by Bendix Aviation Corporation, which will probably lead to volume production here next year. The Lincoln plant's current work on guided missile components illustrates the latter type of work, he said.

"Miniaturization of highly complex mechanical and electro-mechanical devices is a basic trend today in both military and commercial fields," Shernnan stated.

"We have at Lincoln a large number of highly-trained men and women who can handle such work more effectively and economically than any other production facility in the country, as evidenced by your outstanding performance during ths Korean war," Shennan declared.

Looking to the future the Elgin president said, "We expect a much wider variety of jobs and a lot of them will be much more challenging than anything Lincoln has handled previously. But high volume will be the exception, mostly these will be short-run assignments to which our line assembly techniques cannot be applied."

Shennan addressed a meeting of the Omaha-Lincoln Society of Financial Analysts Wednesday evening at the Lincoln Country Club. The society members toured the Lincoln plant in the afternoon.

Elvis Gets Query By Draft Board, Tagged 'Routine'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley's draft board said Wednesday a routine questionnaire had been sent the rock 'n' roll singer to bring his draft "status up to date."

The 21-year-old idol of teenagers said he'd received the questionnaire three weeks ago. He added that he imagined his induction into the Army was getting "real close."

Earlier Wednesday, a draft board official said he knew nothing of the questionnaire.

Later, a board clerk said the papers were mailed to the singer's Memphis home and forwarded to him in Hollywood, where Presley was making a moving picture.

"We registered him a long time ago," the clerk said. "The new papers were designed to bring Presley's status up to date. Lots of boys don't report address changes, marital status and other facts, so we mail out a Selective Service dependency questionnaire."

He described the action as routine.

"Beyond this," Shennan said, "we hope to handle here the bulk of contract manufacturing projects developed by our micronics division. This will include not only straight production jobs assigned to us by other manufacturers because of the intricate workmanship required, but also production resulting from military and aircraft developmental work undertaken by the company."

As an example of the former he cited Elgin's new contract to produce prototype units for a new central air data computer designed by Bendix Aviation Corporation, which will probably lead to volume production here next year. The Lincoln plant's current work on guided missile components illustrates the latter type of work, he said.

"Miniaturization of highly complex mechanical and electro-mechanical devices is a basic trend today in both military and commercial fields," Shernnan stated.

"We have at Lincoln a large number of highly-trained men and women who can handle such work more effectively and economically than any other production facility in the country, as evidenced by your outstanding performance during ths Korean war," Shennan declared.

Looking to the future the Elgin president said, "We expect a much wider variety of jobs and a lot of them will be much more challenging than anything Lincoln has handled previously. But high volume will be the exception, mostly these will be short-run assignments to which our line assembly techniques cannot be applied."

Shennan addressed a meeting of the Omaha-Lincoln Society of Financial Analysts Wednesday evening at the Lincoln Country Club. The society members toured the Lincoln plant in the afternoon.

Elvis Gets Query By Draft Board, Tagged 'Routine'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley's draft board said Wednesday a routine questionnaire had been sent the rock 'n' roll singer to bring his draft "status up to date."

The 21-year-old idol of teenagers said he'd received the questionnaire three weeks ago. He added that he imagined his induction into the Army was getting "real close."

Earlier Wednesday, a draft board official said he knew nothing of the questionnaire.

Later, a board clerk said the papers were mailed to the singer's Memphis home and forwarded to him in Hollywood, where Presley was making a moving picture.

"We registered him a long time ago," the clerk said. "The new papers were designed to bring Presley's status up to date. Lots of boys don't report address changes, marital status and other facts, so we mail out a Selective Service dependency questionnaire."

He described the action as routine.

Teenagers Asked To Renew Driving Permits Before Expiration Date

Teenagers should check their driver's licenses, which expire one year from date of issue.

About one out of five drivers, between 16 and 20 years, have allowed their one-year permit to lapse before applying for renewal, according to Ralph Saathoff, Lancaster County license bureau chief.

These teenage driver permits must be renewed one year from issuance or the holder must take another driver's examination before a renewal can be issued.

Saathoff said there is "absolutely no grace period under law" after the expiration date.

He estimated that about 3,800 teenagers would need to obtain license renewals before next September. The license or renewal fee is $1.50.

Teenagers Asked To Renew Driving Permits Before Expiration Date

Teenagers should check their driver's licenses, which expire one year from date of issue.

About one out of five drivers, between 16 and 20 years, have allowed their one-year permit to lapse before applying for renewal, according to Ralph Saathoff, Lancaster County license bureau chief.

These teenage driver permits must be renewed one year from issuance or the holder must take another driver's examination before a renewal can be issued.

Saathoff said there is "absolutely no grace period under law" after the expiration date.

He estimated that about 3,800 teenagers would need to obtain license renewals before next September. The license or renewal fee is $1.50.

Stock Market Suffers Loss

NEW YORK (INS)—Wall Street traders shrugged off a sizable budget of favorable corporate news Wednesday to prompt new losses in the stock market.

Metal and motors issues were the principal sufferers in the decline which was the fourth straight in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Prices started narrowly mixed today, but began to ease in forenoon. Losses reached four dollars among selected industrials in the afternoon with little buying apparent.

Over-all trading, however, remained dull.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed $2.38 lower at its lowest level of the session. Rails slipped one dollar and utilities finished down 7 cents after posting gains until 2 p.m.

Volume totaled 1,640,000 shares, a gain of 270,000 over Tuesday.

Dealings broadened to 1,128 issues of which a majority of 571 declined, 291 advanced and 266 were unchanged.

Jersey Standard was the volume leader and closed unchanged on sale of 24,700 shares. U.S. Steel was next on the most active list, off ⅝, followed by American Telephone, minus 1¾.

Coppers paced the retreat on news of a price cut by Rhodesian Producers. Kennecott was the principal victim of the selling and lost 4¾. Anaconda dipped 1½.

WHEAT POSTS ONLY GAINS

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat moved higher on the Board of Trade Wednesday in the wake of a dust storm in the western Great Plains. The bread cereal was the only grain to forge ahead.

Stock Market Suffers Loss

NEW YORK (INS)—Wall Street traders shrugged off a sizable budget of favorable corporate news Wednesday to prompt new losses in the stock market.

Metal and motors issues were the principal sufferers in the decline which was the fourth straight in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Prices started narrowly mixed today, but began to ease in forenoon. Losses reached four dollars among selected industrials in the afternoon with little buying apparent.

Over-all trading, however, remained dull.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed $2.38 lower at its lowest level of the session. Rails slipped one dollar and utilities finished down 7 cents after posting gains until 2 p.m.

Volume totaled 1,640,000 shares, a gain of 270,000 over Tuesday.

Dealings broadened to 1,128 issues of which a majority of 571 declined, 291 advanced and 266 were unchanged.

Jersey Standard was the volume leader and closed unchanged on sale of 24,700 shares. U.S. Steel was next on the most active list, off ⅜, followed by American Telephone, minus 1⅜.

Coppers paced the retreat on news of a price cut by Rhodesian Producers. Kennecott was the principal victim of the selling and lost 4⅜. Anaconda dipped 1½.

WHEAT POSTS ONLY GAINS

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat moved higher on the Board of Trade Wednesday in the wake of a dust storm in the western Great Plains. The bread cereal was the only grain to forge ahead.

Soybeans and corn scored gains early in the day but lost them before the finish. Final prices in both commodities were about at the day's lows. Rye also sank quickly toward the end.

Wheat closed ¼-1¼ higher, corn ¼-1⅛ lower, oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, rye ½-1¼ lower, soybeans 1½ to 2 cents lower and lard 5 to 33 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Ike, Dulles Confer On Red Satellites

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower conferred for nearly an hour Wednesday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the developments in Hungary and Poland.

Dulles emphasized as he left the White House that there was nothing unusual about the meeting. He described it as the kind of talk he has with the President "almost every day."

But he added: "Of course, we were particularly interested today in developments in Hungary and Poland."

He said the discussion also covered recent developments in the Suez situation.

'Hands Off'

Meanwhile, it was learned that the U.S. will maintain a strict "hands off" policy toward the Soviet satellite struggle for independence.

Bela Bachkai, secretary of the American-Hungarian Federation, said the uprisings in Hungary stem from "the indomitable spirit of the Hungarian people and their just demands for personal liberty, representative government and national independence."

Bachkai said his group did not ask the U.S. to offer economic aid to Hungary if that country breaks away from Soviet domination, "because we felt Secretary Dulles knew better than we did what was needed."

U.N. DIPLOMATS ANGERED BY RUSSIANS' GUNFIRE

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS)—A storm of protest against Soviet military rule over captive lands behind the Iron Curtain is shaping up for next month's annual meeting of the U.N. Assembly as a consequence of Russian gunfire in Hungary.

The U.S. has adopted a "hands off" policy despite its moral support for the "peaceful revolution" against Moscow Communist control in Poland and is following the same course in relation to the Hungarian uprising. But various U.N. diplomats angrily said they would denounce in the Assembly the bloodshed inflicted by Soviet troops in captive lands.

The Warsaw and Budapest events have the wholehearted moral endorsement of non-Communist U.N. diplomats, who are strongly hoping that all non-Russian countries behind the Iron Curtain—especially East Germany—will blow up and establish "liberty" governments freed of Kremlin mastery.

There is scarcely a diplomat at U. N. not avidly following Polish and Hungarian developments from Dag Hammarskjold to the official representatives of the 76 governments. None ventured to predict the final outcome but all believe that the Iron Curtain is cracking. They believe on the whole that moral encouragement from the free world is essential at this time to the fighters for liberation in any part of the captive lands.

Direct U. N. intervention in any form against the shooting down of Hungarian liberty fighters by Soviet troops appeared to be out of the question, since the Budapest government would have to lodge a complaint with the world organization.

Demo Accuses U.S. Steel Corp. Of 'Shakedown'

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Griffith Rees, Lake County Democratic chairman, accused U.S. Steel Corp. Wednesday of a "shakedown" to raise $200,000 for Republican candidates and asked for a congressional investigation.

Rees said he wired Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) of the Senate Elections Committee asking for an "immediate investigation" of a "shakedown of supervisory personnel for contributions to Republican party."

Rees also released a letter he had sent to Gore, charging that foremen are being asked to contribute $20, supervisors $30 and superintendents $50.

Rees said there are about 4,000 supervisors among the 20,000 employes of U.S. Steel's Gary works, world's largest steel mill.

Top officials of the mill could not be reached for comment.

Dr. John Faces Trial

BONN (INS)—The West German government announced that Dr. Otto John, the turnabout ex-boss of the federal republic's security network, would go on trial for treason on Nov. 12 at Karlsruhe. Investigation in the John case has lasted eight months.

Still, Broken Bow; Bernetha Hinthorn, Chadron; Mrs. Elizabeth Grant, Fremont; Clara Noyes, Omaha; Mrs. Margaret Nelson, Omaha; Frieda I. Andreesen, Ogallala; Vaunia J. Burbank, North Platte; Clara M. Houtz, Hebron; Katherine Helzer, Ord; Helen Rohwer, Blair; and Harriet Adams, Lincoln.

Principal speakers at the meeting will be Mrs. Kathryn Burns, past state home extension leader in Illinois; and Mrs. Helen Turner, field agent for the Federal Extension Service.

Supervision Urged

MONTREAL (AP)—A U. S. hospital administration expert says hospitals should install bars for nervous, prospective fathers. "Of course," Dr. Raymond P. Sloan of New York City told a women's club meeting, "a hospital bar would have to be carefully controlled for such an institution can easily get out of hand."

Ike, Dulles Confer On Red Satellites

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower conferred for nearly an hour Wednesday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the developments in Hungary and Poland.

Dulles emphasized as he left the White House that there was nothing unusual about the meeting. He described it as the kind of talk he has with the President "almost every day."

But he added: "Of course, we were particularly interested today in developments in Hungary and Poland."

He said the discussion also covered recent developments in the Suez situation.

'Hands Off'

Meanwhile, it was learned that the U.S. will maintain a strict "hands off" policy toward the Soviet satellite struggle for independence.

Bela Bachkai, secretary of the American - Hungarian Federation, said the uprisings in Hungary stem from "the indomitable spirit of the Hungarian people and their just demands for personal liberty, representative government and national independence."

Bachkai said his group did not ask the U.S. to offer economic aid to Hungary if that country breaks away from Soviet domination, "because we felt Secretary Dulles knew better than we did what was needed."

U.N. DIPLOMATS ANGERED BY RUSSIANS' GUNFIRE

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS)—A storm of protest against Soviet military rule over captive lands behind the Iron Curtain is shaping up for next month's annual meeting of the U.N. Assembly as a consequence of Russian gunfire in Hungary.

The U.S. has adopted a "hands off" policy despite its moral support for the "peaceful revolution" against Moscow Communist control in Poland and is following the same course in relation to the Hungarian uprising. But various U.N. diplomats angrily said they would denounce in the Assembly the bloodshed inflicted by Soviet troops in captive lands.

The Warsaw and Budapest events have the wholehearted moral endorsement of non-Communist U.N. diplomats, who are strongly hoping that all non-Russian countries behind the Iron Curtain—especially East Germany—will blow up and establish "liberty" governments freed of Kremlin mastery.

There is scarcely a diplomat at U. N. not avidly following Polish and Hungarian developments from Dag Hammarskjold to the official representatives of the 76 governments. None ventured to predict the final outcome but all believe that the Iron Curtain is cracking. They believe on the whole that moral encouragement from the free world is essential at this time to the fighters for liberation in any part of the captive lands.

Direct U. N. intervention in any form against the shooting down of Hungarian liberty fighters by Soviet troops appeared to be out of the question, since the Budapest government would have to lodge a complaint with the world organization.

Demo Accuses U.S. Steel Corp. Of 'Shakedown'

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Griffith Rees, Lake County Democratic chairman, accused U.S. Steel Corp. Wednesday of a "shakedown" to raise $200,000 for Republican candidates and asked for a congressional investigation.

Rees said he wired Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) of the Senate Elections Committee asking for an "immediate investigation" of a "shakedown of supervisory personnel for contributions to Republican party."

Rees also released a letter he had sent to Gore, charging that foremen are being asked to contribute $20, supervisors $30 and superintendents $50.

Rees said there are about 4,000 supervisors among the 20,000 employes of U.S. Steel's Gary works, world's largest steel mill.

Top officials of the mill could not be reached for comment.

Dr. John Faces Trial

BONN (INS)—The West German government announced that Dr. Otto John, the turnabout ex-boss of the federal republic's security network, would go on trial for treason on Nov. 12 at Karlsruhe. Investigation in the John case has lasted eight months.

Nebraskans Plan To Attend Home Extension Meet

Fifteen Nebraska home extension agents will take part in the annual meeting of the National Home Demonstration Agents' Association, Oct. 28-31, in Chicago.

Miss Florence J. Atwood, state home extension leader, also will attend the meeting.

Nebraska home agents attending include: Margaret Schluckebier, Alliance; Mrs. Tracy Van Camp, Kearney; Mrs. Pearl Groesser, Weeping Water; Charlene V. Timmons, Hartington; Mrs. Lorraine E. Still, Broken Bow; Bernetha Hinthorn, Chadron; Mrs. Elizabeth Grant, Fremont; Clara Noyes, Omaha; Mrs. Margaret Nelson, Omaha; Frieda I. Andreesen, Ogallala; Vaunia J. Burbank, North Platte; Clara M. Houtz, Hebron; Katherine Helzer, Ord; Helen Rohwer, Blair; and Harriet Adams, Lincoln.

Principal speakers at the meeting will be Mrs. Kathryn Burns, past state home extension leader in Illinois; and Mrs. Helen Turner, field agent for the Federal Extension Service.

Supervision Urged

MONTREAL (AP)—A U. S. hospital administration expert says hospitals should install bars for nervous, prospective fathers. "Of course," Dr. Raymond P. Sloan of New York City told a women's club meeting, "a hospital bar would have to be carefully controlled for such an institution can easily get out of hand."

VFW to Ask Candidates For Opinions

...Of Bradley Report

Political candidates will be asked exactly where they stand in regard to the so-called Bradley report by the Nebraska Department of Veterans of Froeign Wars.

The VFW this week was circulating to candidates and public office holders a copy of a resolution which asks for a "simple yes or no" answer to the question of whether or not they endorse the concept laid down in the Bradley report stating "military service in time of war or peace should be treated as an obligation of citizenship and not of itself as a basis for future government benefits."

The VFW resolution, adopted at its McCook, Neb., meeting recently declares that this concept is "inconsistent with all previous concepts concerning veterans treatment" and that "if carried into effect such ingratitude might result in less incentive for military service and cause the youth of our country to regard the uniform as of no great importance — or at least of no more importance than staying at home and taking advantage of wartime stepped - up opportunity.

Billboard Rented For Anniversary 'Card' To Wife

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Harry Jobson's 20th wedding anniversary "card" to his wife may have set a record for size.

"To a wonderful wife who has borne with me for 20 years."

Wednesday, Jobson drove his wife out to the billboard overlooking a causeway, between Miami and Miami Beach and "presented" it to her.

"It was the surprise of my life," she laughed. "But I've never seen him kneeling in that position before."

Jobson hasn't got the bill yet, but expects the billboard will cost him about $700. He also bought his wife some antique silver earrings and took her out to "make a day of it."

FINALLY

ROME (AP)—A mounted statue of Gen. Jose de San Martin presented to the city of Rome six years ago by Italians living in Argentina was finally unveiled Wednesday. First one thing and then another had held up the ceremony honoring the South American liberator.

VFW to Ask Candidates For Opinions

...Of Bradley Report

Political candidates will be asked exactly where they stand in regard to the so-called Bradley report by the Nebraska Department of Veterans of Froeign Wars.

The VFW this week was circulating to candidates and public office holders a copy of a resolution which asks for a "simple yes or no" answer to the question of whether or not they endorse the concept laid down in the Bradley report stating "military service in time of war or peace should be treated as an obligation of citizenship and not of itself as a basis for future government benefits."

The VFW resolution, adopted at its McCook, Neb., meeting recently declares that this concept is "inconsistent with all previous concepts concerning veterans treatment" and that "if carried into effect such ingratitude might result in less incentive for military service and cause the youth of our country to regard the uniform as of no great importance — or at least of no more importance than staying at home and taking advantage of wartime stepped - up opportunity.

Billboard Rented For Anniversary 'Card' To Wife

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Harry Jobson's 20th wedding anniversary "card" to his wife may have set a record for size.

Jobson rented a billboard 27 feet long and 12 feet high. On it he put a huge photo of himself ssalaming and these words:

"To a wonderful wife who has borne with me for 20 years."

Wednesday, Jobson drove his wife out to the billboard overlooking a causeway, between Miami and Miami Beach and "presented" it to her.

"It was the surprise of my life," she laughed. "But I've never seen him kneeling in that position before."

Jobson hasn't got the bill yet, but expects the billboard will cost him about $700. He also bought his wife some antique silver earrings and took her out to "make a day of it."

FINALLY

ROME (AP)—A mounted statue of Gen. Jose de San Martin presented to the city of Rome six years ago by Italians living in Argentina was finally unveiled Wednesday. First one thing and then another had held up the ceremony honoring the South American liberator.
